U. S. AND BRITAIN UNITE TO BLOCK CURRENCY WAR

Agree to Peg Pound with Dollar.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Announcement by President Roosevelt that he will bid up the price of gold abroad to carry out his latest scheme for raising commodity prices at home upset two hemispheres today. Great Britain sued for terms to avert a currency war that might ruin her foreign trade and won a tentative agreement on stabilization of the dollar and pound. France, threatened with dislodgment from the gold standard, considered an embargo on the export of gold.

As a result of the mere announcement of policy, which has not yet gone into effect, the value of the dollar declined abroad. At the same time the President's monetary board showed the domestic value of the dollar down another notch.

Prices Show Weakness.

But prices, instead of going up as the professors had assured Mr. Roosevelt they would, displayed that sinking feeling. Stock market quotations sagged. Wheat was weak, while the prices of other grains fell off. Prime corporation bonds and also government bonds weakened.

These developments created a good deal of uneasiness in official Washington, flavored with glances at the brain trust on the part of members of the "sound money" group in the treasury who fear that the President is repeating too much faith in the recovery panacea of Prof. George F. Warren and James Harvey Rogers.

Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, Democratic house leader, surveying the picture of the day's events, expressed the opinion that the President will soon be impelled to resort to "reasonable and controlled inflation," if present policies fail to raise prices.

Scurries to Treasury.

Throughout the earlier part of the day the diplomatic maneuvering between London and Washington held the center of the stage.

After several hours of negotiation the basis of a tentative agreement was reached providing for a pegging of the exchange values of the dollar and pound sterling—in effect a truce enabling the President to pursue his gold purchasing program without upsetting British world trade.

During the forenoon Sir Frederick Leith-Rose, British treasury expert who is here discussing war debt repatriation, received instructions from London that sent him scurrying to the treasury to consult the custodians of the policy the President announced last night of bidding up gold on the world market in order to depreciate the dollar and raise commodity prices at home.

Held Protracted Conference.

The British embassy had a protracted conference beginning at noon with Dean G. Acheson, acting secretary of the treasury, and Eugene R. Black, governor of the federal reserve board, in which he broached a general exploration of the possible effects of the President's new policy upon Anglo-American relations.

Sir Frederick asserted that unless some sort of stabilization of the dollar and pound could be agreed upon there would be a currency war of untold consequences. The American operations in the foreign gold market would force up the value of the pound, which would be detrimental to Britain's principal business—foreign trade. Britain would be compelled to adopt defensive tactics to hold down the exchange value of the pound, involving among the measures a forcing up of the value of the dollar.

Sir Frederick made clear that the British would dislike us intensely if the new deal economics were to cost England the loss of profitable sales due to a rise in the value of the pound.

Details Kept Secret.

Eventually the negotiators tentatively agreed on a plan of stabilization of the two currencies in relation to each other or in relation to gold which was to be submitted to President Roosevelt and to the London government. The formula was called to London this afternoon.

Concerning the details of the tentative understanding, the greatest secrecy is being preserved. It is said that stabilization in terms of so many dollars to the pound it will raise the question which wrecked the London economic conference when the Presi-

MRS. ROOSEVELT RALLIES WOMEN FOR CHARITIES

Urges Them to Tell What Agencies Do.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

On so simple a theme as "Charity begins at home," enunciated by former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker—in person to a representative group at the Stevens hotel, and by radio to a goodly share of the nation—the women's division last night closed the first national rally of the 1933 Mobilization for Human Needs. That inclusive title refers to those important welfare agencies in each community comprising 95 per cent of social service of the nation not sharing in any tax revenues, as against 95 per cent borne by government—federal, state, and local.

Just how imperative it is that those institutions gain sufficient financial support in the campaigns impending in many of the larger cities, including Chicago, was the major emphasis of the program of a day, both directed and accelerated by the enthusiastic interest of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Presides at Two Sessions.

The wife of the President, functioning as national head of the feminine phase of the Mobilization and presiding at both morning and afternoon sessions, lent her voice, her experience and her ideas tirelessly through hours of conference and oratory, to inform and appeal to the public in this cause. Her first public utterances on arrival from New York yesterday morning for the event were quick and hearty. Her last, echoing into the microphone after the dinner in the grand ballroom at the Stevens, were measured, more than a bit weary, but even heartier than before. Nor was any more glowing eulogy of social service workers ever hummed in the public consciousness than the paragraph of praise she tossed so vehemently at her audience then.

"I do not know what a really good social service worker should be paid," she said in comment on the attitude of some, that all such work should be voluntary, "but I do know that amount of money in the world could pay them for the heartbreak they go through daily. While I would like to feel that I could help people as they help them, I know it would take years to acquire the tact and experience they apply to cases day after day."

Pleads for Free Education.

She had to pause while the applause of 900 guests rose to that sentiment and subsided. But the clamor was faint to that which greeted her pronouncement on education: "I hear rumors that organizations of big business men are being formed who believe that we should cut down on the amount of free education in this country. Personally, I believe that we should do a much better job of it than we have ever done. Many dire things are going to happen in the future if we do not give people the chance in life that only education can give them."

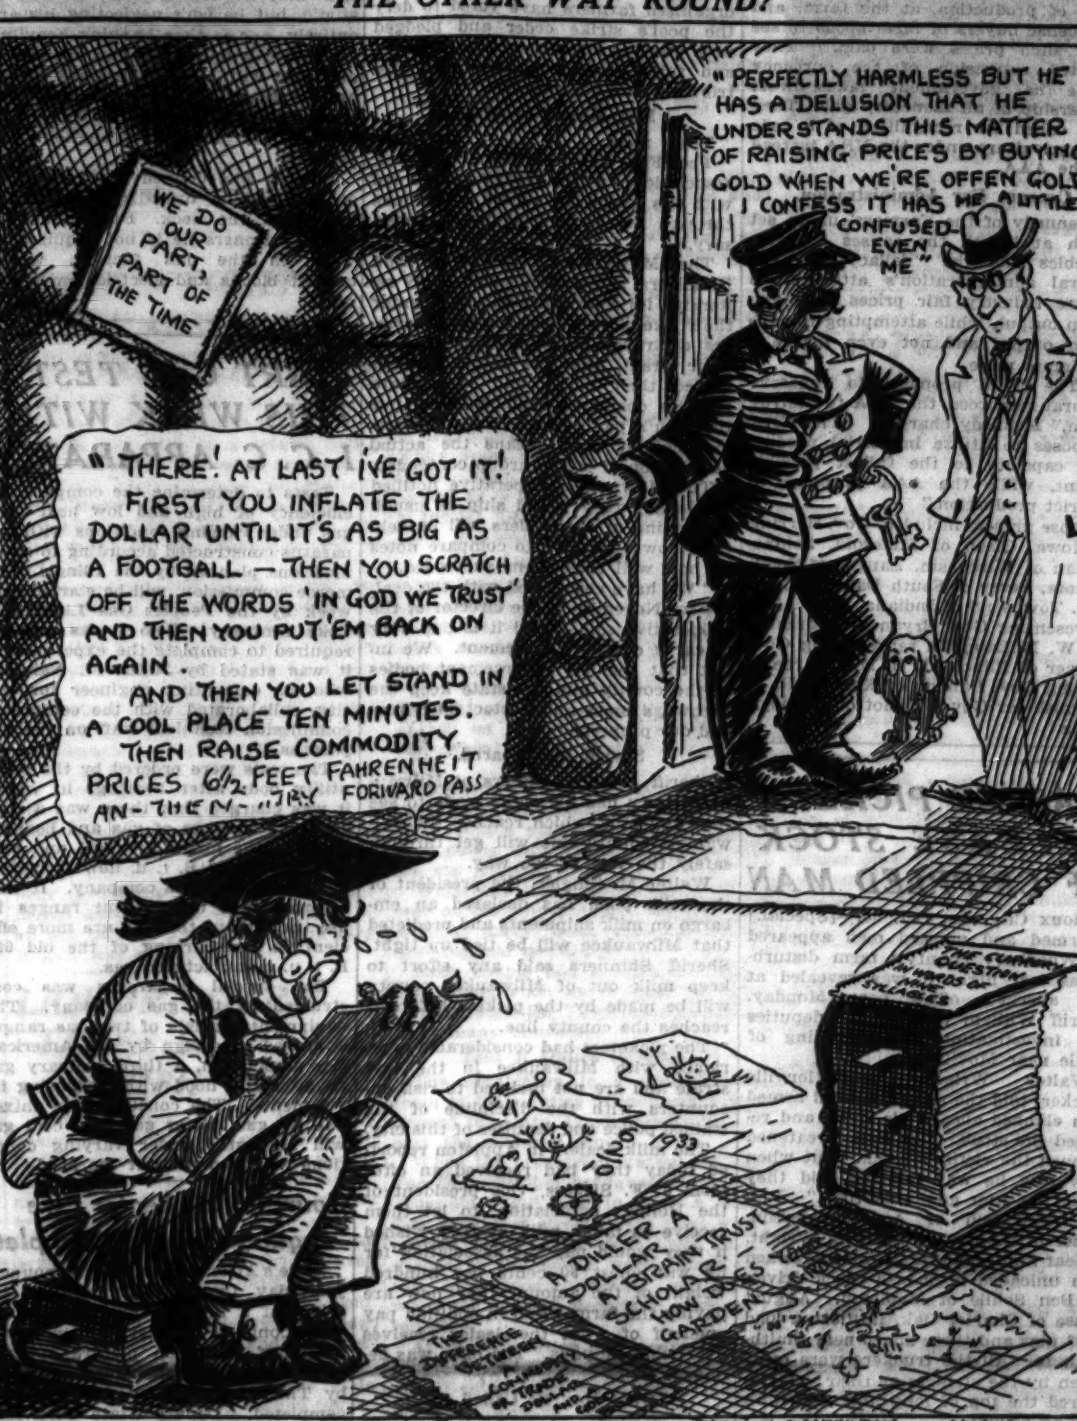

Edward L. Ryerson Jr., president of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies, presided at the dinner. Executive Secretary Baker, general chairman of the Mobilization, was present to extend his appreciation to Mrs. Roosevelt for her interest and aid. Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Emergency Relief administrator, came from Washington to reiterate the importance of the local support of private agencies. Mayor Kelly of Chicago was on hand with words of welcome and the regrets of Gov. Horner that he was detained in Springfield were read.

Shifts Spotlight from Herself.

Throughout the day, however, it was the first-hand knowledge and experience of Mrs. Roosevelt, gently shifting the spotlight back to the people in hand, every time her official importance as the White House chaperone threatened to eclipse it, that kept attention focused on the business of the conference rather than its personalities. That familiarity with problems of individual families, she informed the press in one of two general interviews, is partly from her correspondence and partly from talking incognito with men and women in many localities.

"There are some things," she told a large-lunch group of the delegates who had gathered from many states, "that men can do better than women. There are others that women do better than men—and this is one of them." The thing, I want to stress is the possibility of every woman doing her part by spreading word of

NELSON MORRIS MARRIES SECOND PARIS ACTRESS

Nelson Morris, grandson of the founder of Morris & Co. packers, and Miss Blanche Bilbo, French actress, were married last night. On May 12 of this year Mr. Morris won a divorce in Versailles from another French actress, Jeanne Aubert, because she would not leave the stage.

The marriage was performed by Municipal Judge Nuncio Bonelli in the bride's home on Voltaire road, Flossmoor, a short distance from Morris' summer home beside the Ravine Country club in Homewood. Only a few friends were present.

Mrs. Morris was a star of the Comedie Francaise in Paris. She came here two and one-half years ago and returned to France after rejecting a movie contract. After a brief visit she came here to make her home. She is 37 years old and Morris is 41.

GIRL "SAVED" BY BLACK BEAR WITH MOTHER INSTINCT

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

THESSALON, Ont., Oct. 30.—Awakened by frenzied screams from the street, Thessalon citizens rushed out early today to find Dorothy Smith, pretty young circus performer, being dragged down the street in her nightgown by a huge black bear. Before rifles could be secured the bear dropped her bundle by the roadside and the girl revived sufficiently to run into a house.

The girl had stumbled out of a gas filled circus sleeping van and into a circle of chained circus bears. This particular animal broke her chain and seized Miss Smith by the nightgown. The circus proprietor says it was only the mother instinct in the animal which caused her to drag the girl off. The bear did not use her claws and, beyond scratches from the frozen ground, Miss Smith was uninjured.

(Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 30.—AP.)

Pancho Augustin Villa, 21 year old son of the late Mexican general, was incarcerated in the psychopathic ward of the general hospital today on an order issued by a Superior court judge, who said Villa will be given a sanity hearing. His guardian, Henry Seidner, claimed that Villa, since signing a contract to appear in a film several weeks ago, has been acting strangely.

West Parks Board Freed by Court Writ

Writs of superadeas issued by the Appellate court yesterday freed President Harry Joseph, five of his fellow members of the west park board and three park executives after they had been sentenced to six months in jail for contempt of court by Judge Charles A. Williams in the Superior court.

Judge Williams imposed the sentences because the board refused to restore his job to Bernard F. Burgess, a concrete construction foreman who was laid off as part of the present board's economy program in the park system. For several hours, while Attorney Francis J. Vurpillat was obtaining the writs in the Appellate court, the park commissioners were held in custody, though not behind bars, in Sheriff Meyerling's office.

Former Board Lays Him Off.

Burgess was laid off on Aug. 18, 1932, by the former park board headed by President W. R. James. He was a civil service employee with twenty years' service in the park system. He filed a petition for a writ of mandamus, which Judge Williams granted, and he was reinstated.

The present park board laid off Burgess on March 24, along with some 400 other employees, in an economy campaign, which was to save the board about $1,000,000 a year in salaries. This action was explained yesterday by President Joseph, after Judge Williams had sentenced him.

"When the present board was appointed," Mr. Joseph said, "we found no work for Mr. Burgess to do. We therefore laid him off, not as a permanent separation, but until such time as the board found funds for concrete construction work."

Burgess, however, reopened the action on his writ of mandamus against the former board, charging that the succeeding commissioners had violated the court's order by laying him off again. The Joseph board related the action on technical grounds, asserting that the previous action had been closed when Burgess had been restored to his job, and that to get back after his second laying off, he should have filed a new mandamus suit.

Overrule This Contention.

Judge Williams overruled this contention, and in the subsequent hearing Attorney Vurpillat refused to present any witnesses or to cross-examine those presented by Burgess, on the contention that the court had no jurisdiction in the case.

Judge Williams added to his order for reinstatement, which the board re-

ROOSEVELT PLANS SOUTHERN TRIP OF 10 DAYS IN NOVEMBER

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt expects to leave on Nov. 17 for a trip to the south which will keep him away from Washington for a week or ten days. It was announced at the White House today. The major portion of the stay away from the capital will be spent at Warm Springs, Ga.

The President will go first to Savannah, Ga., where he will speak Nov. 18 in connection with the bi-centennial celebration of the founding of Georgia as a colony. The invitation to visit Savannah was extended today by Senator Walter F. George (Dem., Ga.). The President will leave Savannah on the same day and arrive in Warm Springs that evening.

The tentative schedule of the trip also calls for a visit to Muncie, Ind., and the Tennessee valley project, and it has been reported that a journey to Florida also might be made.

fused to obey, an order that Burgess be given his salary for the period of his suspension, about $4,000.

Those whom he cited and ordered to jail yesterday, besides Mr. Joseph, were Commissioners Albert J. Flynn, Thomas S. Gordon, Samuel Kostelnik, James O'Keefe, and James C. Petrillo. Edward Steins, controller of the board, Fred G. Houchling, acting superintendent of employment, and Miss Isabelle Janotova, who until recently was acting park superintendent.

The court also issued a capias for W. J. Roehrer, a holdover member of the board who was still holding office at the time Burgess started his latest action, but who has since been supplanted.

HELICOPTER UP IN
BREAKS RECORD

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Oct. 30.—A new type of helicopter has been tested with great success here by Auguste Florine, Belgian engineer, it was announced today.

The machine rose vertically, exhibiting considerable power. It remained in the air nine minutes before Florine executed a successful landing. Previous records of a similar type of craft were bettered. Florine said further perfection will make the helicopter capable of remaining in flight a much longer period.

The machine was built and the test financed by the fund for scientific research, which defrayed the costs of Prof. Auguste Piccard's stratosphere flight.

Insull Calm; Greece Rules on Fate Today

BY DAVID DARRAH.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ATHENS, Oct. 30.—Five judges of the Greek Court of Appeals will meet at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning to draft their decision as to whether Samuel Insull, former Chicago utility magnate, shall be extradited from Greece to the United States. The decision will be communicated to the fugitive at a brief session of the court set for 5 p. m.

This session will be the dramatic climax of the hearing to return Insull for trial on a federal indictment charging violation of the bankruptcy laws. The general Greek public knows little about the hearing, for the newspapers have been silent on the subject.

Insull Calm and Cheerful.

On the eve of the fateful conclusion Insull tonight appeared phlegmatic and calm. He received visitors in his comfortable hotel quarters where he has been under arrest for nine weeks and chained to his bed, giving no impression that he is worried over the impending decision.

Insull said it would be wrong to say he is confident, but his attitude seemed to imply that he was. He said that if the Greek judges allowed him to remain in Greece he would return to the Hotel Grand Bretagne, where he was living when he was arrested.

Insull's lawyers and followers here who have helped him elude American justice, some of them Greek and some American, are planning to give him a celebration dinner tomorrow night if he is freed.

U. S. Submits Final Brief.

Forrest Harness, assistant United States attorney general, today completed and turned over a brief of the case to the Greek court. This brief is in response to a brief for the defense which Insull's attorney, Pericles Rhalia, handed in unexpectedly at the last session of the court.

"If the case is decided on law and evidence and the terms of the Greek-American extradition treaty," Harness said tonight, "I have no doubt about the outcome."

Should Insull be ordered extradited by the Greek court tomorrow, several days will elapse before formalities for deporting him can be completed. The Greek court's decision will be sent to the ministry of justice, which will inform the other departments concerned. If extradition is granted, a warrant will then be signed by President Zaimis of Greece turning him over to United States authorities.

American Warrant Ready.

Attorney Harness has a warrant from President Roosevelt authorizing him to take charge of Insull and return him to the United States.

Should Insull be ordered extradited it is thought possible that the Greek liner, Byron, which sails Nov. 9 direct from Piraeus for New York, might be taken. Another possibility is the Italian liner Vulcania, sailing from Patras on Nov. 17.

American authorities desire, if possible, to sail on a Greek or American ship and not touch at foreign ports, where it is thought Insull's lawyers might possibly try to obtain a writ to have him removed from the ship to gain delays for another extradition hearing in another country.

Insull's appearance tonight seemed to exclude any possibility that he is too ill to travel in case of extradition.

more milk than is required for fluid milk and cream, they will sell it at the so-called surplus price, based on the wholesale price of butter. Formerly all the milk except that sold for bottling was classified as surplus milk.

The combination of prices to be paid to farmers for milk under the new scale gives a "blended price" of $1.93 a hundred pounds. There was no "blended price" under the old scale, but it has been estimated that it would have been about $1.60 a hundredweight.

The new price agreement also provides that the price of milk distributed by relief authorities, which is about 6 per cent of the total distribution in Chicago, shall remain unchanged at 3 1/2 cents a quart.

The plan for starting payment of the increased price to farmers tomorrow instead of waiting until Friday was agreed to by the distributors at the request of Secretary Wallace, Washington dispatches said. The concession, it was indicated, was made to appease the farmers.

City Makes Plea to AAA.

The telegram which Mayor Kelly and the aldermen sent to Washington reminded AAA authorities that they had promised to hold hearings in Chicago and to make a milk market survey here. It pleaded that any price advances be held in abeyance until such hearings and investigations take place.

"This committee feels," the telegram continued, "that the citizens are entitled to know what profit is being made by dealers and distributors. The committee also feels that the farmers should have an increase in the price of milk, but believes that some of the profit should be deducted from the large corporations in order to pay this."

In other words, it is thought that it may not be necessary to increase the cost of milk if the government will investigate the real cost of production and distribution.

Reason for Chicago Hearings.

The telegram also pointed out that with hearings on milk matters held in Washington, consumers and many small distributors are financially unable to pay their milk bills. The hearing, it was pointed out, was held in Chicago at the request of the aldermen, who were the witnesses to the hearing. It was the purpose of the hearing, it was stated, to represent the city of Chicago and the aldermen, who were the witnesses to the hearing. It was the purpose of the hearing, it was stated, to represent the city of Chicago and the aldermen, who were the witnesses to the hearing.

The charges which the aldermen had heard from the independent representatives were reflected in the telegram to Washington through the plea that the Chicago hearings consider "the questions of delivery and cash and carry." The marketing agreement as now drawn recognizes no price differential between delivered and cash and carry milk.

ALDERMANIC HEARING

Among the charges made before the aldermanic committee was one from Attorney Leo D. Schein, representing the Lake View dairy, one of the defendants in the Washington proceedings against rate dealers. He declared that if those proceedings result in shutting down the independent plants, between 3,000 and 4,000 men will be thrown out of work. The large milk companies, he asserted, will take over the independent's business and handle it without increasing the number of their employees.

Charges of sabotage were made before the subcommittee by Attorney Joseph C. Kanak, representing the Wagner Dairy company of Cicero, another of the independent dairies cited at Washington for price cutting.

"The Wagner company is a member of the Milk Bottle exchange, through which dealers get back their own bottles," Kanak said. "In 1932 the company had to buy 632,000 new bottles and its officials became suspicious."

Truck Followed to Exchange.

"They had a truck of the Bottle exchange followed to a garage in which they found four truckloads of Wagner bottles. Later they heard that the exchange was shipping a carload of broken bottles to a glass plant in Streator. They investigated and in the car found a lot of broken Wagner bottles and a lot more that were unmarked."

"There appears to be evidence of criminal conspiracy," said Ald. Joseph C. Ross (40th). "Why didn't you prosecute?"

"We feared we'd be bombed," replied Attorney Kanak. "Some men visited our plant claiming they were government agents, and wanted to take pictures of our machinery. We let them go through the plant, but watched them carefully. Nothing happened, but I've been told that if we would pay a sum of money to a detective agency we could get information that those men didn't represent the government, but were put in there by certain interests to poison our milk."

Attorney Charges Bombing.

"We've been bombed," chimed in Attorney Arthur E. Seelig, representing the Edgewater dairy, another independent. "Some one broke into our plant and sledge hammed our machinery. Stench bombs are now being thrown into our cash and carry milk stores."

"We were forced to pay more to get bottles back from the bottle exchange than the large milk companies. Stockholders in the bottle ex-

Farm Groups Demand NRA Code; Appeal to the Governors

BY PAUL POTTER

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Demands that the governors of middle west states insist on immediate federal price fixing of farm products were made by spokesmen for organized farmers here today.

The gubernatorial conferences on farm problems called by Gov. Clyde L. Herring of Iowa, with 11 state officials participating, went into closed conference tonight to weigh the farmers' pleas against advisability of going along with Secretary Wallace's AAA program in Washington as threats of further and widespread farm strikes were held in abeyance.

Want Farm Prices Boosted.

At the same time militant farm leaders pleaded for immediate price boosting while farm products are still in farmers' hands. They advanced a program which urged the support of the governors behind a code for agriculture under the NRA instead of the AAA. The code they proposed would penalize farmers for selling below prices fixed by board and would license buyers as a protection against price cutting purchases, as is done in codes adopted by the industries under the NRA.

Every speaker representing farmers made the point that agrarian sentiment had gone beyond "putting up with promises and excuses."

Says NRA Cuts Farm Values.

"Prices are being fixed for oil, lumber, steel, the railroads, and even skilled labor by the federal government," charged William Hirth, head of the Missouri farmers' organization of St. Louis. "Yet the increase of a billion dollars in farm income reported by the department of agriculture for 1933 compared with 1932 has been lapped up by increased costs under the NRA. There is no surplus of farm products, while millions are underfed and poorly clothed."

E. G. Dunn of the Iowa Grain elevator movement charged that even the Roosevelt mandates on refinancing farm property were being ignored by the "hiredlings" in the Omaha and St. Paul federal land banks. He said the government's farm refinancing program was "nullified" in the Midwest, with foreclosures and tax delinquencies still going on.

"Corn belt farmers cannot consent to reducing their corn and hog production if importations that compete with their output continue to come in," declared Hirth. His statement was echoed by Ralph Sherman, beef cattle association head. The governors were urged to threaten state embargoes on grains, cattle, hogs and oils.

Govs. Olson of Minnesota, Langer of North Dakota, and Berry of South Dakota, indicated they would favor immediate pressure upon the national administration for price fixing, but asked from the farm group leaders more details on how it could be done without serious after effects.

The farm groups urged the governors to memorialize President Roosevelt to declare a moratorium on all mortgage foreclosures and state embargoes on farm products, as was done for banks and insurance companies in March. They demanded that the government peg all farm commodity prices at the cost of production, at the farm, and to license buyers of farm goods to see that such prices were paid. They wanted expansion of the currency while the government takes direct ownership of all monetary gold. They also called for recognition of a code for agriculture under the NRA instead of the AAA.

Censure For Administration.

Kennedy of the Farmers' union set forth at length the causes of farm trouble and the "fallacy" of the federal administration's attempts to insure industry fair prices on maximum output, while attempting to curb farm output and not even insure a minimum price.

"The NRA proposes to conserve natural resources, the AAA to destroy them," Kennedy charged. "The NRA proposes to utilize industrial production capacity to the fullest possible extent, while the AAA proposes to restrict production."

KING CAROL MEETS KING BORIS; NAME OF PRINCESS MENTIONED

RUSE, Bulgaria, Oct. 30.—(AP)—King Boris of Bulgaria and King Carol of Rumania conferred here today on ways to improve the already cordial relations between their two countries.

They met at Ramadan, Rumania. Thousands of peasants cheered when the two monarchs embraced. Together they rode to King Carol's yacht and sailed to this city. Carol wore the uniform of an admiral; Boris the uniform of an infantry general.

Romance Is Whispered.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 30.—(AP)—While King Carol of Rumania met with King Boris of Bulgaria today, rumors circulated through the capital that Boris' sister, the Princess Eudokia, was being mentioned in their conversation. There was much talk two years ago over the possibility of Carol marrying Princess Eudokia. The princess full name is Eudokia Augusta Philippine Clementine Marie and she is nearly 35 years old.

change are identical with those of the milk trust.

Attorney Seelig told the aldermen that in his opinion sale of milk on a cash and carry basis at prices lower than those for home delivery would increase consumption of milk and be a benefit to "those to whom savings in pennies mean a great deal."

Ald. Sutton read a letter sent him on Jan. 12, 1932, by W. C. McQueen, then president of the Pure Milk association, stating that Dr. Clyde L. King, who acted as an arbitrator in a milk price dispute in January, 1929, was at the beginning of 1932 still retained and being paid by the Pure Milk association and the large Chicago dealers.

Dr. King is now in charge of the dairy section of the agricultural adjustment administration in Washington. Mr. McQueen is enforcement officer for the Chicago milk area under the same administration.

"I don't think that the independents can get a fair deal in the milk code while Dr. King and Mr. McQueen hold their present positions," said Attorney Schein, commenting on the letter. "The present milk marketing agreement doesn't represent true conditions in Chicago."

MASKED PICKETS RELEASE STOCK OF CRIPPLED MAN

SIoux City, Ia., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Armed and masked men appeared in Woodbury county's farm disturbances last night. It was revealed that Sheriff William R. Tice and deputies are investigating the unloading of cattle near Merville.

Walter Wright, Correctionville, told the sheriff several armed men climbed aboard his truck and released the stock. The men threatened to burn the victim's truck. But when they saw he was crippled said they would let him go "this time." Ray Anderson, son of Army Anderson, owner of the cattle, was with Wright.

Near Smithland, Ia., three unmasked men unloaded hogs in a truck driven by Ben Schile of Mapleton. August 10 of Charles Oak, Ia., lost a load of 33 pigs and three sheep near Smithland, Ia. All the trucks were over-taken by the strikers as their vehicles neared the top of long hills and were moving slowly.

There are no pickets on the highways. Those who stop trucks operate in autos.

MRS. K. L. AMES JR. ARRIVES IN RENO TO SEEK DIVORCE

Mrs. Edith Winter Ames, wife of Knowlton L. Ames Jr., 1530 North State parkway, is establishing a residence in Reno, Nev., for the purpose, according to her attorney, Jay Fred Reeve, of obtaining a divorce. She reached Reno on Sunday.

Attorney Reeve said that the probable grounds for the action will be incompatibility. A six weeks' residence is required in Nevada before a suit may be filed.

The Ames were married in 1919 and have three children, all boys, the eldest being about 13 years old. Mrs. Ames was formerly Edith Ames Winter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Minneapolis. She and her husband are distant relatives. They separated recently.

Mrs. Ames was formerly president of the Chicago Journal of Commerce and formerly owner of the now extinct Chicago Evening Post. With the sale of the Post to the Chicago Daily News in October, 1932, he became assistant to the publisher of the News.

WISCONSIN MILK POOL STRIKE IS EFFECTIVE TODAY

Two Groups Defy Order to Withhold Product.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The Wisconsin Cooperative Milk pool at midnight, officially joined the strike of the National Farm Holiday association which has been in progress about ten days.

All members was not serene between members of the pool.

At least two important groups of organized farmers have voted to defy the pool's strike order and pledged each other to move their milk as usual and fulfill their contracts with distributors and consumers.

May Resort to Arms.

The Fox River Valley Producers' association, which today continued with its plans to escort its trucks through the pickets, armed if necessary.

The Milwaukee Cooperative Milk Producers' association which today reiterated its determination not to enter the strike picture until the grain farmers destroyed an equivalent part of their grain, the live stock farmers buried their cattle and the potato farmers destroyed their crops to put them on a par with the milk farmers.

Withholding milk means the actual destruction of it, the group contended. The Milwaukee cooperative notified its dealers they would ship as usual.

A meeting of the dealers will be held tomorrow afternoon to compare notes on how well their plans succeeded.

"We have contacted with the dealers for November," said director of the cooperative said, "and it is our duty to carry out that agreement. We insist that the law enforcement bodies of the county and the state keep the highways open and protect our lives and our property."

Sheriff Is Prepared.

Sheriff Joseph Shinnars of Milwaukee county has his plans made to see that any milk which reaches the Milwaukee county line will get through safely the rest of the way.

Walter M. Singler, the president of the milk pool, has declared an embargo on milk shipments and predicted that Milwaukee will be tied up tight. Sheriff Shinnars said any effort to keep milk out of Milwaukee county will be made by the pickets before it reaches the county line.

The picketers had considerable experience with Milwaukee in the last strike and are not inclined to risk encounters with the discipline of the trained police and deputies of this city.

The milk dealers in Appleton reported today they had received an offer from J. F. Siebers, vice president of the Holiday association, to let them receive as much milk as they wished if they would pay the association for its use about 90 cents per hundred weight of the amount they now are paying the farmer and in addition pay one-half of what the dealer receives over what he pays. The offer was declined.

Strike May Be Called Off.

An unconfirmed rumor today was that Singler would call off the pool members at the last minute on the grounds that the Farm Holiday association, having called a national strike, was letting Wisconsin men bear the brunt of it. The activities and the picketing of the association have been confined in Wisconsin although it is called a national strike.

When the pool directors voted last week to strike Oct. 31, they purposely deferred the date several days to see just how earnest and well prepared the Holiday association was. Since then there has been relatively little disturbance any place but in Wisconsin.

CANBERRA, Australia, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A conference of the Australian Wheat Growers' federation, representing 40,000 growers, today decided to recommend that the members withhold their wheat from market during the current season unless substantial aid is forthcoming from the federal government.

NEGRO KILLED BY WOMAN.

BOND FOR BARCLAY $35,000; ARTIST IS STILL A PRISONER

(Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—McClelland-Barclay, the artist, met the state's demand that he furnish $35,000 bonds for his freedom with a philosophical smile today and settled down to make his life at the Fairfield county jail as comfortable as possible.

A prisoner since last Thursday, when he was arrested on a charge that he failed to pay $35,000 in alimony to his first wife, Nan, the artist has indicated he has little hope of raising the bonds.

But the prospects of an indefinite stay at the jail has not depressed him, officials said. Attaches reported today that Barclay was more genial and cheerful than at any time during his four days at the institution.

The artist turned down a suggestion that he convert his cell into a studio, but he isn't musing heavily. There are fellow inmates to sketch and chat with. Then there are letters and telegrams to read—messages from outside the red brick jail building sent to him by friends throughout the country.

Barclay has donned the regulation jail garb—blue overalls and a shirt opened at the neck. But unlike his fellow prisoners he is not required to wear the jail cap, and he has a few pocket books and electric lamps made.

START GAS TEST THIS WEEK WITH I. C. C. APPARATUS

Tests to determine the comparative efficiency of high and low heat unit gas under varying conditions with apparatus constructed according to specifications planned by the Illinois commerce commission, will be started this week by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. Two weeks will be required to complete the experiments.

It was stated by Julius M. Naiman, who, as consulting engineer for the city, collaborated with the commerce commission technical staff on the apparatus.

The tests were ordered by the state utility body after hearings in which it was charged that there was a considerable waste of gas and heating value in the mixed artificial and natural gas of 530 B. t. u. now furnished by the Peoples Gas company. It was asserted that the present ranges in use throughout the city are more efficient in the burning of the old 530 B. t. u. manufactured gas.

The special apparatus was constructed by the gas company. The equipment consists of two gas ranges approved in design by the American Gas association, a third ordinary gas range, and a hood with measuring instruments. The consuming of mixed natural gas, water gas, and coal gas will be tested under varying conditions with and without the hood.

Courtney's Theater Fire Inquiry Not Yet Complete

State's Attorney Courtney announced yesterday that investigation of the origin of a fire and explosion in the State-Congress theater, following the hiring of a motion picture operator not a member of the union controlled by Thomas E. Malloy, has not been completed. Deputy State Fire Marshal George Schivener had announced that he would ask grand jury action in the case.

The Winnetka League of Women Voters yesterday went on record as opposed to the use of the village streets for all through truck traffic. Copies of the resolution were sent to the North Shore Property Owners' association, leader in opposing through truck travel, and the Illinois commerce commission, which is hearing applications for permits filed by truck fleet operators.

The action was taken by the league after meeting the league heard a discussion of possible truck routes by William B. Moulton, president of the village board, and Howard Willett, president of a trucking concern. President Moulton said that residents of Winnetka had expressed opposition to routing through truck travel through the village, particularly over Sheridan road.

HIRE 3,500 NEW MEN TO HELP U. S. HELP FARMERS

AAA Official Explains Tardy Results.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Uncle Sam really wants to help the farmer, but right now he's so busy hiring 3,500 new employees to help him help the farmers that he's kind of slow in getting down to cases.

This was the explanation Charles Brand, former co-administrator of the agricultural adjustment act, speaking at the Women's National Democratic club today, offered for any tardiness of which the AAA may have been accused. It takes a while of a lot of time, Mr. Brand pointed out, to build up a bureau of 3,500 employees, and, come to think of it, it's rather remarkable that as much actual work has been accomplished as has been, since the creation of the AAA.

Specific As to Cotton.

In the field of cotton he was even more specific in his explanation. The cotton textile code, he reminded his audience, "wasn't signed until May 11. That's only five and a half months ago. In a few weeks we got together a staff of 400; and in six weeks we had increased that to 1,200. In just six weeks."

Then there are the auditors; 300 of them. Mr. Brand didn't say whether or not they were included in the 1,200 that grew so rapidly from the first 400. But there they are. And it takes time to get them trained to their duties. Mr. Brand recalled.

Have to Be Funched.

And the punch card. There's a job for you. Data, extensive data, sometimes as much as 32 entries, have to be punched onto a correct O about six and a half inch by four there he made a gesture showing the dimensions.

So, all in all, he told the women, with hiring a big staff, with increasing that staff daily, with buying and testing machines and equipment, with organizing groups of auditors, not to mention the intricacy of the punch card technique, the wonder is, he argued, that the AAA has done as much as it has.

STOP GAMBLING OR LICENSE IT, JURY TELLS CITY

Public officials were urged yesterday by a coroner's jury of business and professional men to take immediate steps to license and control gambling or suppress it entirely. The jury's inquest into the murder of Gus Winkler, north side gang chief, gave its members an occasion for straight forward talking. The inquest was concluded after a hearing in the courtroom of Chief Justice Sweeney of the Municipal court in the city hall.

The jurors said in their report that in the face of denials of the existence of gambling within the city it is a historical fact that gambling has been known in this community since its incorporation as a village 100 years ago. The jury's report was not critical, its aim was constructive, the jurors said.

Members of the Jury.

Bertram J. Cahn, executive of a clothing concern, was chairman of the jury. The other members were Prof. Ernest W. Puttkammer and Prof. Ernest W. Burgess, both of the University of Chicago; Henry Barrett Chamberlain, operating director of the Chicago crime commission; William Schloeman, head of a safe deposit company; and Charles W. Bergquist, an executive of the Western Electric company.

The jury made a formal finding that Winkler was murdered by persons unknown. Its report declared, however, that the practice of holding inquests in murder cases is a useless custom, made necessary by the constitution of Illinois. A medical examiner's certificate of death by natural causes is sufficient, and the police and state's attorney could conduct any other needed investigation before the grand jury, the report said.

Mayor for License Plan.

Mayor Kelly, when told of the jury's report, said he favored the licensing of handbook gambling, but declared himself opposed to large-scale gambling houses. If it is legal to bet at the racetracks under state license it should be legal to license handbooks, he said.

The mayor remarked that it would be almost impossible to suppress handbook gambling. "Handbook operators can do their business on the cuff or a small piece of paper and it is a hard thing to catch them," he said. "It would be easier to license them and see that they are run on the square, but I am against the operation of large gambling houses."

Coroner Frank J. Walsh's comment on the jury report, in so far as it pertained to his office, said he did not believe the post of coroner should be absorbed. Instead he suggested that the coroner should have power to hold perjury to the grand jury and to be able to place witnesses under bond.

Quiz Turned on Gambling.

The subject of gambling was injected into the Winkler inquest because of the knowledge that Winkler was a partner in the 225 club, a night life spot at 225 East Superior street which was mainly a gambling house. Edgar Levensberger, ostensible proprietor of the club, became involved in the handling of bonds stolen in a mail robbery. He was indicted with others and on Oct. 6, the day the indictment was made, public Levensberger was found shot to death in his Lake Shore drive home. The finding of a coroner's jury was that he committed suicide, although there was some suspicion that he was murdered.

Three days later Winkler was slain in front of 1414 Roscoe street, where County Commissioner Charles H. Weber conducts a beer distributing agency. Winkler was about to enter the office of the beer agency when he was killed by a shotgun blast that had waited an hour for his arrival.

Weber Denies Winkler Deals.

Weber and two of his partners were in Miami, Fla., at the time. There was a report that Winkler was a partner in the beer agency. This was denied by Weber and one of his partners, Henry Runkel, and by a dozen or more employees of the beer agency at a session of the inquest held a week ago. Charles Conrad, another of Weber's partners, was to have been questioned yesterday, but he did not appear at the inquest.

Weber, under oath at the previous inquest session, declared he had never seen or known Winkler. He also denied having had any gambling deals with Winkler. Several police captains testified that they had investigated every report of gambling and had found little evidence.

No witness, either at the first hearing or at yesterday's session, gave any testimony linking Winkler with gambling.

REPORT OF THE JURY

The report of the jury to Coroner Walsh, made after hearing all the witnesses, said:

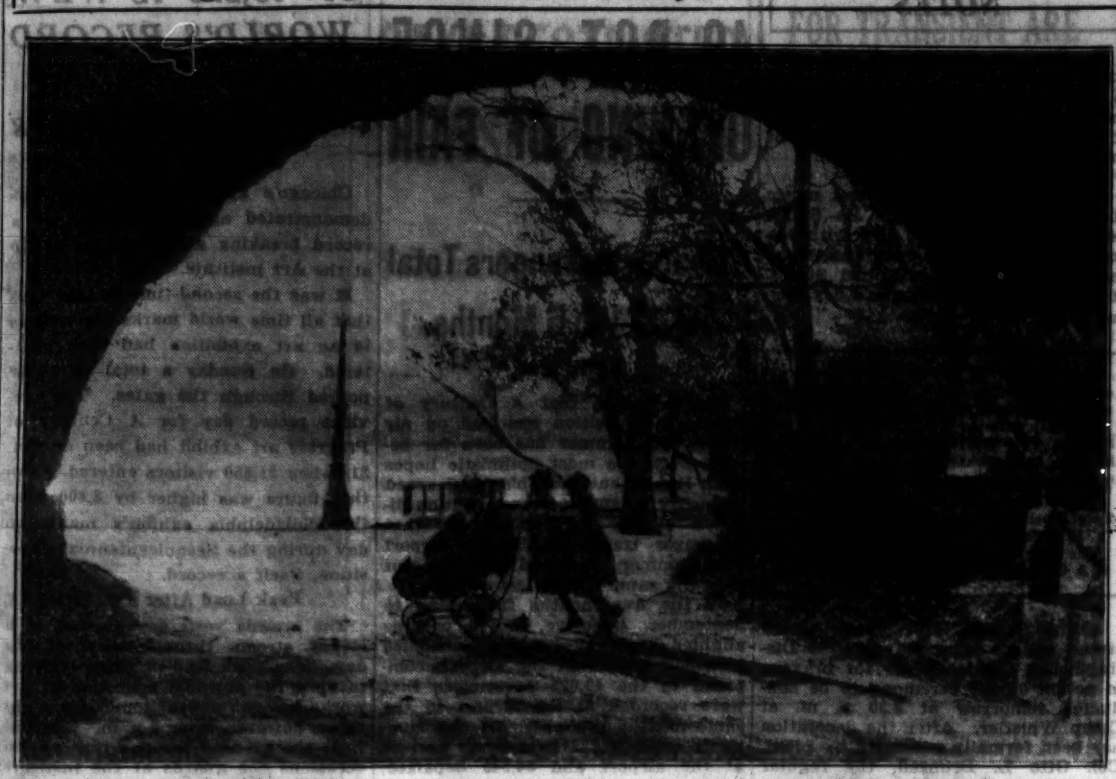

"In arriving at a verdict in the Winkler case your jury concludes its service with a realization that the result is unsatisfactory to all concerned except those who are interested in the money which might be gained from the sale of the property involved in the case. The sessions of the inquest revealed a situation profitable to a criminal class and menacing to the well-being of the law-abiding."

"During the course of this hearing testimony was injected indicating that gambling in various forms is prevalent in Chicago. Despite native denials, it is a historical fact that gambling has been known in this community since the incorporation of the city."

"It has waxed or waned according to the policies of different political administrations or according to the amount of public protest. Because of the importance of these disclosures the jury believes that a complete and exhaustive inquiry is warranted."

"This should be conducted by the officials of Chicago and Cook county with a view either to completely eliminating the condition or advanc-

Chicago Enjoys Summerlike Day as November Nears

Mercury at 78

A southwest wind that originated on the western plains of Texas yesterday sent the temperature in Chicago and suburbs to 78 degrees, one degree lower than the all time high record for Oct. 30, established in 1927. Downstate, however, all time temperature records for the date were broken. Springfield recorded a maximum of 81 degrees. The springlike weather brought summer costumes back to the streets as Chicagoans sought parks and other outdoor playgrounds. Fall and cooler was the prediction for today made yesterday.

The state of Illinois is now a partner in the gambling business. By statute the general assembly has legalized and licensed betting on horse races. The fee for a racing meet, depending on the size of the county, is from $1,500 to $2,500 a day. The state also obtains a revenue of 20 cents for each person attending such meetings and permits the conduct of a form of gambling described as pari-mutuel.

Anomaly of Race Betting. "It is rather difficult to understand how the state of Illinois can condone betting by persons in attendance at horse races meeting conducted in an enclosure and licensed and then prosecute persons unable to attend such meetings, but nevertheless desirous of betting on the same races, the state places their bets with a bookmaker."

"It is quite well known that Chicago is honeycombed with such bookmakers who accept bets or wagers on horse races from which they derive absolutely no revenue. It has been stated that certain political parties exact tribute from these bookmakers."

Political Control Charged. "It is difficult for citizens of this community to understand how gambling devices and places of gambling are permitted, assuming that the police in the various districts are alert and efficient, without dictation by or under control of political bosses."

"The time has arrived, in the opinion of your jury, when the laws against gambling should be enforced against all violators with a view to the abolition of such practices. It is desired that such places should be sources of revenue for the city and not provide the incomes of hoodlums, racketeers, and others who are bent on crime and urge those to commit murder in order to control these privileges."

"This jury does not claim the ability to evaluate human motives and emotions and is merely hopeful that out of this inquisition may come some investigation which will be given thoughtful consideration by righteous and operative public opinion."

Public Officials Thanked. "The jury thanked Police Commissioner Allan, Coroner Walsh, State's Attorney Conrad, and Deputy Detective Chief Blau for aid given during the investigation. Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, who questioned the witnesses at the sessions of the inquest, was commended for his efforts."

The jurors said they had given up four days of their time in a concealed effort to develop the truth concerning the Winkler murder. "The jury has listened to testimony whose obvious untruthfulness would be amusing if the subject were not tragic," they said.

"We feel it our duty to state publicly that a hearing known as a coroner's inquest, at least in cases of this character, is an ineffectual proceeding. It merely serves to duplicate the work of other law enforcing agencies. It tends to reveal the state's case in the event of subsequent criminal prosecution. Persons involved are forced to develop alibi and can take the work of other law enforcing agencies. It tends to reveal the state's case in the event of subsequent criminal prosecution. Persons involved are forced to develop alibi and can take the work of other law enforcing agencies."

THE DAY'S TESTIMONY

Jack Rubens, investigator for the public administrator, who took charge of the effects of the dead Levensberger, was the first witness to testify at yesterday's inquest session. Rubens said he found no gambling equipment in the 225 club when he took possession thirteen days after Levensberger's death.

Lieut. Otto Erlanson, in charge of the police homicide squad, testified that the police investigation so far has not resulted in the discovery of a motive for Winkler's murder. His own opinion, Erlanson said, is that Winkler was killed because he gave information to the government about mail robbery.

House elevator operators employed in the apartment building at 3300 Lake Shore drive, where Winkler lived, testified they had only seen one man there who was able to recognize among the visitors to the Winkler apartment. That was David (Benny) Goldblatt.

HARRIS FIGHTS EXTRADITION IN EXTORTION CASE

Edmund R. Harris Jr., Baltimore architect, will fight extradition to Chicago to face trial on a federal indictment charging him with sending an extortion letter through the mails to Mrs. Mary Cave Hall, according to Los Angeles dispatches last night. He was seized in the California city on Oct. 21.

The federal indictment is an offshoot of the $1,000,000 allegation of affectionate suit filed recently against Mrs. Hall by Mrs. Howard L. Willett, wife of the teaming company executive. Harris allegedly wrote to Mrs. Hall demanding $5,000, promising, for that consideration, that Mrs. Willett's suit would be dropped. Otherwise, the letter threatened, information would be given to Mrs. Willett which would be "both scandalous and very costly" to Mrs. Hall. Harris' name was mentioned on Oct. 23 in a preliminary hearing of the alienation suit, witnesses testifying he was a member of an art troupe to Mexico of which Mrs. Willett was also a member.

LIQUOR BOARD TAKES STEPS TO FINISH REPORT

State Senator Harold G. Ward, chairman of the special commission on liquor control legislation, said yesterday that efforts to complete the recommendations of the commission will be begun tomorrow.

"We shall meet at the state capitol in Springfield Tuesday night prepared to continue in session until we agree on our report," Senator Ward said. "We'll meet Wednesday morning, afternoon and evening, and, if necessary, on Thursday."

It is not expected that the state senate will be in actual session tomorrow or Wednesday so that the five members of that chamber will be free to attend the commission meetings. But it is expected the house of representatives will be working hard both days, and for the convenience of the five members of the commission who sit in that chamber, the commission meetings will be held in a committee room adjoining the representatives' hall.

Recently, her bill states, she read a book entitled "Life Begins at Forty," by Walter B. Pitkin, and she wishes to start a test of his theories by getting a divorce. Her bill charges cruelty.

3,440 COUPLES WED IN ITALY IN BIG FAMILY DRIVE

Il Duce Aids Newlyweds With Cash Gifts

ROME, Oct. 30.—(AP)—For obeying Premier Mussolini's wishes and marrying, 3,440 Roman couples wed simultaneously today, received $40 in bank notes and insurance policies from Il Duce.

With 2,620 provincial pairs, all members of the working class, the Romans were married this morning in observation of the new Fascist "conservation of nuptiality" instituted by the premier to encourage a bigger population.

For them the precepts of "happy is the bride the sun shines on" and "wealthy is the bride the rain falls on" had special significance.

It rained at the outset, and they got $40 bank notes from Il Duce and life insurance policies; the sun was bright later, and they received the blessings of the pope, of an archbishop, and large, happy crowds.

After private ceremonies in their own parishes the Roman couples gathered in the St. Mary of the Angels church to attend a special mass, blessed by the pope, of an archbishop, and large, happy crowds.

This evening they were received by Pope Pius. The bridegrooms and brides, many of the latter still in their white veils, marched in a procession to the huge Vatican hall, where the pontiff gave them his best wishes and a special blessing. To each bride he gave a rosary.

Blessed by Pope. It rained at the outset, and they got $40 bank notes from Il Duce and life insurance policies; the sun was bright later, and they received the blessings of the pope, of an archbishop, and large, happy crowds.

The number of local couples to be married grew by leaps and bounds when the word went around that Il Duce would give them presents of money.

The number, originally set at 500 couples, grew to an estimated total of 100 as the ceremony began, but the official figure showed 120 pairs more.

Mussolini's gifts were presented by the Fascist secretary, Achille Starace. Each couple also got a group insurance policy with the premium prepaid for six months.

When the huge bride party gathered at the church of St. Mary of the Angels, many were drenched in a semi-tropical downpour.

Each couple had a separate kneeling bench, such as is used in marriage ceremonies. These were gathered from many churches.

Told of Duties to State. The archbishop in a sermon told them of their duties to each other and toward the state. Loudspeakers broadcast the wedding music.

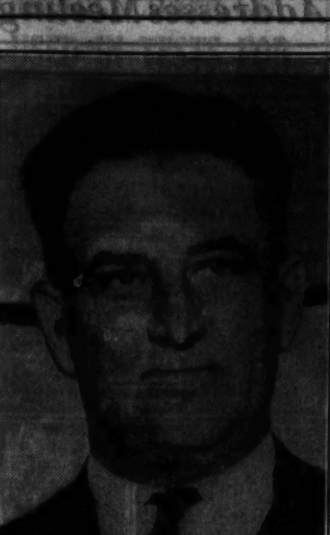

When the procession started for the Fascist recreation headquarters to get Mussolini's gift and to have a wedding breakfast, streets were lined with crowds who called out their best wishes to the newly weds. Some of the bridegrooms carried suitcases, ready for a quick departure after the reception.

At the recreation headquarters the couples marched through files of Fascist militia boys to a desk where Starace presented the gifts in envelopes bearing Premier Mussolini's photograph. Two hands played the while.

Then the Ballia youngsters presented each pair with a bag of white candies, according to an old Italian custom. As they departed the newly weds were happily cheered by a large throng outside.

CITY TO REMOVE SHOWBOAT FROM THE RIVER TODAY

Harbormaster William J. Lynch was making preparations yesterday for the removal today of the showboat, Diana, from its present anchorage in the river between Clark and Dearborn streets to Navy pier. He was acting on instructions given by Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt.

"I ordered the boat moved," said Commissioner Hewitt, "because it blocks off the place where the city trucks dump snow into the river. Besides the boat has been there some time, but no formal application has been made for a dock permit, and if the operators do apply for a permit I know of no authority vested in me to grant it."

Mayor Kelly said that to permit a boat measuring 200 by 45 feet to dock permanently in the river would nullify the expenditure some time ago of $12,000,000 to widen the river to 200 feet to obtain a good flow.

Jacob M. Weller, vice president of the Great Lakes Showboat corporation, said last night:

"The show boat, Diana, was docked in the river between Clark and Dearborn streets with the tentative approval of the harbor master. If, however, the mayor feels we should move to another location, we will do so. We sincerely hope that we can soon be in operation."

Police Commissioner Allman failed to appear yesterday in the Felony court in answer to the invitation of Judge Thomas A. Green to make plans for a vagrancy drive against syndicate gamblers. Sergt. William Balwick, secretary to Chief of Detective Schoenmaker, appeared as the police representative.

"Since when have you become chief of police?" Judge Green inquired. "Go back and tell Allman to come in himself or at least send a deputy commissioner to plan this campaign."

Commissioner Allman announced yesterday that he would send Capt. Martin Mullen, head of the gambling detail, to the Felony court today to cooperate in the proposed drive.

MRS. ROOSEVELT RALLIES WOMEN IN CHARITY DRIVE

Urges Them to Tell Work of Social Agencies.

The service your social agencies render. "You cannot do it if you do not know. So the first thing to be done is to familiarize yourself with the agencies serving people in your own community, and no matter what your job in life, I hope you will feel it your responsibility as an individual to work in this crusade."

The people of the country, Administrator Hopkins told his audience, have reached, in his opinion, a healthy point of view toward the facts of the depression. They are, he declared, facing the problems with a "good deal of common sense."

"Who are these people—the ones that are getting relief? Why, they are our neighbors," he pointed out. "They have been driven by the pressure of distress to take the necessities of life from public relief agencies. Of course I know that among those on the rolls some would like to get their living that way forever. But there are only a few of them. In giving relief, we know that we are concerned almost entirely with people who always worked when there were jobs, and who wish to get those that President Roosevelt's recovery program is opening up."

From twenty-one millions receiving relief a year ago, the present total on the lists throughout the country has dropped to fifteen millions, he added. In Chicago, 500,000, or one in seven, is now receiving relief, whereas one in five was being given aid a year ago. Mrs. Margaret Guilford, chairman of Duluth, famous novelist, had words of caution and wisdom to dispense as the result of the drive she headed in her home city.

"A lot of names on a letterhead look pretty enough," she warned, "but they don't raise much money to pay for hospitalization, orphanages, and things the government cannot possibly finance. The country today is deeply serious, and wants only to help those who must be helped to help themselves. Money must be raised to help these private agencies, without which our communities would be crippled, and it can't be secured without proper methods."

"There are no magic words—there are no golden arguments that you can use to convey this conviction. The only thing you can do is to reason—don't argue, it's futile—and to tell your story as simply as possible. Then repeat it over and over until you have reached as many as possible."

Jane Addams Adds Testimony. Miss Jane Addams made her first public appearance since a recent illness, to add her testimony to the aspersions of the necessity for success in the forthcoming local drives.

"I recognize," she told the guests in the grand ballroom at noon, "a tendency to depend on the government if the government will give us the chance. We confuse local government and self-government. When we vote to put powers into action from Washington we are still self-governing. But we should not consider that because it is being done from Washington nothing remains to be done locally."

"We can, I am sure, look forward quite confidently to the lessening of unemployment this winter. We confidently expect that in the course of human events the forces of the depression will come to an end, but in the meantime we must each do what we can in our individual communities to ease the burden of those who have felt it most."

MISJUDGED U. S. ON PROHIBITION—WICKERSHAM

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 30. — (AP) — George W. Wickersham, chairman of former President Hoover's commission of law observance and enforcement, said before the Onondaga Bar association here tonight that he "made a mistake" in reading the public mind regarding prohibition when the commission's report was submitted.

"I realize," he said, "that I made a mistake. I thought that eventually there would be drastic modification or repeal of the 18th amendment, but I never thought it would come so soon."

"Whether the action will ever come back in its old form depends on how strong the forces of temperance will be. And when I say forces of temperance I do not mean forces of prohibition."

The former attorney general also said: "In the face of widespread unemployment and want, the result of five years' orgy of speculation, of an overdevelopment of mechanical productivity, of the breakdown of our marketing system and other less obvious factors, we see our government abandoning the principles of individual freedom and substituting for American initiative, centralizing control of all American industry in Washington."

"If the new system fails the American people for the next half century will be paying the bill and suffering the consequences of this gay adventure."

Noted Social Worker Addresses Meeting

Miss Jane Addams, founder of Hull House, as she spoke yesterday before gathering of social workers at Stevens hotel. She was on the same program with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt Busy All Day, But Crowds in Visit to Fair

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

From her arrival at 3:15 o'clock in the morning until a late hour last night Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, had a day packed with work, and at least one interlude of pleasure—an uncheduled trip to A Century of Progress.

Seen at the rostrum of a meeting on welfare work, before the bright lights of motion picture cameras at a luncheon table, "resting" in her room while she gave an interview to six or eight reporters, and later, laughing at the seriousness with which house detectives and society women tried to shield her from reporters when she saw no need for it, she was through out natural and unassuming. She appeared, moreover, to perform work and play alike with a certain zest.

A little chambermaid, waiting for a glimpse of her outside her room in the Congress hotel as she dressed for a banquet last night, watched the President's wife depart, then said feelingly: "Gee, she's regular, isn't she? She don't give a hang, she can just smile at anybody."

Into Wraps in Three Minutes. Shortly after 7 o'clock she left the Stevens hotel. It had taken her less than three minutes to go to her room and put on her wraps and whatever makeup if any she used, following the afternoon welfare session. Accompanied by Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, co-chairman of the women's division, Community Fund for Allied Chicago Charities, she left the hotel in an A Century of Progress car.

They left the car within the 14th street gates of the Exposition and entered an open car, with Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Fair; Mrs. Dawes, and U. Grant Smith, chief of protocol for A Century of Progress, and drove through the grounds. The full illumination of the Exposition had been turned on 20 minutes earlier than usual so that Mrs. Roosevelt in her hurried trip might see it. It was her only opportunity to see the Exposition.

ation at night, as she will address an early dinner gathering before leaving tonight.

Smiles Graciously at Crowds. Despite her full program, however, Mrs. Roosevelt did not appear hurried. During the first part of the drive, across the Roosevelt road bridge and down Northernly island, the crowds showed no signs of recognizing her, but when the 23d street bridge was crossed many fairgoers ran after her car to get a glimpse of the President's wife. She smiled graciously and showed a lively interest in the Fair setting.

The car in which she was riding halted near the Firestone colored fountain, which responds to music, and again near the Hall of Science while she viewed the lagoon and the Electrical building play of lights and fountains on the opposite side from the car.

Back in the President's suite of the Stevens hotel she greeted briefly the banquet, where she appeared as fresh and smiling as at her arrival early in the day on the Michigan Central railway. She is returning by railway tonight "because my secretary doesn't like to travel by plane and I have a lot of correspondence to do and two articles to write on my way back," she explained.

Talks to All Comers. Despite efforts of various women close to her to persuade her to spare her energy, one of whom said that Mrs. Roosevelt "really isn't very well, and awfully tired," she talked to all the social workers who crowded up to the platform after each meeting and turned down no one.

Mrs. Roosevelt, following the dinner of leaders in the mobilization for human needs, retired to her apartment in the Congress hotel. There she was visited by a young couple, who declined to discuss their identity with inquirers. Mrs. Roosevelt had greeted them both cordially at the dinner and it was the impression of onlookers that they were close friends of hers.

WOMEN TO FETE MRS. ROOSEVELT AT FAIR TODAY

She'll Speak, Attend Two Parties, Review Troops.

Program for Today

The following program has been arranged for Mrs. Roosevelt's visit to the Fair today:

10:30 a. m.—Arrives at 14th street entrance, to be greeted by President Dawes and to review troops.

12 noon—Luncheon in the Federal building lounge, attended by 200 women.

1:45 p. m.—Choral program by Chicago Daughters chorus in Court of States.

2:30 p. m.—Women's day program begins in Court of States.

3:15 p. m.—Mrs. Roosevelt speaks in Court of States.

4 p. m.—Reception in Illinois Host building.

This is to be women's day at A Century of Progress Exposition.

With wife of the President, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, as the principal guest, the Fair will begin its program devoted to admiration of feminine achievements at 10:30 a. m.

At that hour Mrs. Roosevelt will arrive at the 14th street entrance to the grounds, where she will be greeted by the Fair's president, Rufus C. Dawes, and will review the troops from Camp Whistler.

This ceremony will be followed by a tour of the grounds, it being understood that Mrs. Roosevelt will choose the exhibits and the events she desires to see.

There will be a luncheon in the lounge of the Federal building at 12 noon, with 200 women attending. There will be no speaking. Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, as the wife of the president of the Fair and chairman of the social functions committee is in charge of the luncheon and the informal reception, but Mrs. Henry W. Hardy, president of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's Organizations, is chairman of the women's activities of Women's day at the Fair.

Women's Leaders at Table. Those who will sit at table with Mrs. Roosevelt are Mrs. Dawes, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, representing her husband, the mayor; Mrs. Carter E. Harrison, representing Gov. Horner; Mrs. Charles E. Conkey, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Charles L. Schwartz, Mrs. George V. McIntyre, Mrs. Holland Flieger, Mrs. Charles S. Clark, Mrs. Ozora S. Davis, Mrs. Sylvester Schiele, Mrs. Mark Sears and Miss Jessamine Hoagland.

At 1:45 p. m. a program by the Chicago Daughters chorus will be given in the Court of States. The formal program of events by and for women will begin at 2:30 p. m. in the court, with a solo by Margery Maxwell. Mrs. Roosevelt will make a set speech, to be broadcast nationally at 3:15 o'clock after she has been introduced by Mrs. Hardy.

During this program a pageant of famous American women in the costumes of their times will be presented under the direction of Minna Schmidt. In conclusion Miss Maxwell will sing "The Star Spangled Banner."

From 4 to 4:30 p. m. a reception will be held for a restricted group in the Illinois Host house. Only the heads of large feminine organizations will be present. The hostesses will be Mrs. Carter E. Harrison, Mrs. Herbert L. Stern, and Mrs. Paul Stetson.

Those pouring tea will be Mrs. Lawrence Houghtaling, Mrs. Henry Pope, and Mrs. Edward J. Kelly.

Following this reception, during which handshaking will be taboed, Mrs. Roosevelt will have a rest period. In the evening she will be the honored guest at a dinner of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at 8 o'clock in the Palmer house, and at 9 p. m. will leave Chicago.

Halloween to Be Celebrated. In addition to the honors paid womanhood, the Fair is preparing an elaborate Halloween celebration. Buildings and walks will be decorated with pumpkins and autumn flowers, with shocks of corn and with gleaming yellow pumpkins. Confetti will be distributed free, and merry-makers in rural costume will give the traditional ride of October air to the events.

During the evening there will be old fashioned barn dances to the music of old time fiddlers.

Today is noteworthy for another reason. Originally it had been planned to close the Exposition tonight, but through the insistence of business men generally and of concessionaires in particular it was decided to carry it on through Nov. 12.

Total attendance up to the close of the gates on Sunday had reached 21,580,000, nearly 100,000 in excess of the total at the end of the Columbian Exposition of 1893. At 11:30 o'clock last night $9,897 more had entered.

For the additional twelve days of Fair admission prices will continue to be 50 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. The management rejected proposals to reduce the admission prices for many reasons, Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager, said. He asserted that the Fair does not want to engage in price cutting practices and asserted that a reduction would be unfair to advance purchasers of tickets.

A Chocolate Cascaret will straighten-out a sluggish child overnight, and keep the system sweet and clean for a long time. Cascara is a natural laxative that comes from the bark of a tree. ## AIR TRAVEL RISES 40 PCT. SINCE OPENING OF FAIR

Chicago Passengers Total 70,171 in 5 Months.

The influence that A Century of Progress Exposition has had on air travel this summer has been far beyond even the most optimistic hopes of air line executives. This was learned yesterday when the transportation division at the Fair announced that passenger traffic at Chicago airport this summer increased 40 per cent over the same period last year.

In the five months from May to September, inclusive, 70,171 persons alighted from or boarded scheduled transport planes at the airport, compared to the 49,285 passengers that were recorded at the airport in the same months last year. Of this summer's total, 35,223 passengers arrived at the airport and 34,948 departed; last summer 24,776 passengers arrived and 24,502 departed.

Gain in First Month of Fair. Although Fair officials considered much of the increased traffic due to faster and more frequent schedules on the air lines, brought about with the addition of new type fast transport planes, the influence of the Fair was evident in the sharp increase in June, the first full month of the Exposition, over May, when the totals were close to last summer's figures.

In May this year 8,176 passengers alighted from or boarded scheduled transport planes at Chicago airport, compared with 5,137 passengers in the same month one year ago. In June of this year 14,355 passengers arrived and departed here, compared with 8,181 in the same month a year ago. This sharp increase was maintained throughout September.

One Line Gains 50 Per Cent. United Air Lines, which carries the largest number of passengers in and out of Chicago airport, reported an increase of 50 per cent in the number of passengers at Chicago airport this summer over last. In the five months mentioned, the air line had 56,400 passengers in and out of Chicago this year, compared with 24,600 passengers last year.

DOOM OF DRY LAW CONCEDED BY EVANSTON

Evanston, more dry than wet, and home of the national headquarters of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, officially conceded last night that the 18th amendment is about to be repealed.

Mayor Charles H. Bartlett, explaining that newspaper and other accounts indicate only a few more weeks of life left for the prohibition law, asked the judiciary committee and the corporation counsel at the city council meeting last night to work out some proposition showing what Evanston's position will be in regard to hard liquors.

This the judiciary committee and the corporation counsel will do in the near future. They will take into consideration the possible effect on the question of the Northwestern university charter which prescribes teetotalism within a four mile radius of the university. At present beer drinking in public places is barred in Evanston, although sale of 3.2 per cent beer is permitted. Observers guessed from this last night that Evanston's position in regard to hard liquors after repeal will be dry.

Mayor Bartlett issued a proclamation at the council meeting, designating the week of Nov. 6 to 11 as Evanston NRA week, during which a "buy and sell drive" will be carried on.

ART SHOW CROWD OF 40,279 IS NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Expect Larger Throng Tomorrow.

Chicago's appreciation of art was demonstrated again yesterday by a record breaking attendance of 40,279 at the Art Institute.

It was the second time in two days that all time world marks for visitors to an art exhibition had been shattered. On Sunday a total of 35,418 poured through the gates. The previous record day for A Century of Progress art exhibit had been on Oct. 21, when 21,650 visitors entered. Even that figure was higher by 3,400 than the Philadelphia Esquimaux maximum day during the Sesqui-centennial exposition, itself a record.

Peak Load After 6 P. M. The crowds yesterday arrived in a steady stream through most of the day. The peak load of those striving to view the splendid collection of art works before removal tomorrow night came, however, after 6 p. m. So great were the evening throngs that on six occasions the guards at the institute had to halt ingress until the pressure within was relieved by departures.

Officials of the Art Institute said they were confident even this attendance mark would be exceeded tomorrow, if not today. Mayor Kelly has urged that Chicagoans as well as out of town visitors see the exhibit tomorrow, designated Art institute day.

Exhibits Must Be Returned. It will be necessary to close the special exhibition at 10 p. m. tomorrow, officials explained, because contracts with museums and private lenders required that their possessions be returned to them at once. Otherwise the institute would have been glad to continue its special show for the duration of the Fair.

The mayor has been invited as a special guest for the closing day, and will be entertained at luncheon by Chauncey McCormick, chairman of the art committee of the World's Fair.

TRAYLOR TELLS OF STEWARDSHIP OF BUSBY ESTATE

Blames European Crisis for Security Crash.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, went on the witness stand before Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court yesterday afternoon to give account of his stewardship of the estate of Leonard A. Busby, traction executive and his good friend in life.

The Busby estate, valued at the time of death in September, 1930, was $1,595,000. There were debts against it of $340,000. The equity was wiped out by the depression in stock prices, and instead of a fortune the widow, Mrs. Esther Busby, her daughter, Janet, 26 years old, and her son, Jack, 16, inherited a deficit of around $235,000, according to figures submitted in court.

Wants Loss Made Good.
The First National bank, executor of the estate, is defendant in the proceedings before Judge O'Connell, instituted by Mrs. Busby, who seeks to have the bank make good a loss of $207,344 sustained in the market crash. This is one of the first cases of this kind to be brought in Chicago. Judge Harold J. Taylor, who was probate judge before Judge O'Connell, ruled several months ago that a prima facie case had been made against the bank and the appearance of Mr. Traylor in court was the beginning of the defense evidence.

An important legal point is involved in the case. The estate charges negligence on the part of the bank in not selling the stock before the collapse in prices wiped out the estate. The bank's defense is that the duty of an executor is to conserve an estate, as well as liquidate it. That estate was handled with the utmost care, and that all the wisdom of the bank officials was behind the actions taken. The result, according to the defense, might be taken as "an act of God," something unforeseen and unexpected.

Widow and Daughter in Court.
The widow and her pretty daughter were in court, flanked by Attorneys Edward H. Johnson, Anna Raymond, and J. Anthony Panuch of New York. The bank was represented by Attorneys John D. Black, Walter Jenkins, George Christiansen, and Robert Tiken.

After Mr. Johnson and Mr. Black had outlined their defense and much documentary evidence in the way of market sales of the Busby stock had been introduced, Mr. Traylor was called to the stand by Mr. Black. The attorney had told the judge in his statement that Mr. Traylor had taken a personal interest in the handling of this estate as soon as he found out that his bank was executor, and had directed that the same care be taken as would be given his own brother's estate.

Mr. Traylor first described the senior and junior investment committees in his bank. These form a cross section of the intelligence and experience of the bank, he said, and are the direct result of such trust investments as this. In all questions of doubt or controversy the president has the final decision.

The Period of 1930.
The examination covered the period of 1930, when the Busby estate, chiefly in common stocks, was slowly being forced under water by recurring market recessions, finally to disappear in the flood.

Mr. Traylor told of his own sources of information, in addition to the committee advice. It was brought out incidentally that he was one of the two Americans on the Young Committee which set up the Bank of International Settlements. He said he had studied the history of other depressions.

Believed Worst Was Over.
"I think that in the early part of the year the majority of opinion inclined to the belief that the worst of the depression had passed," Mr. Traylor replied. "Certainly that was the opinion of the administration at that time. My own opinion was definite that a deflation such as had taken place from October, 1929, to 1930 could not be followed by a continued recession; that 1931 would be better."

"What was your conclusion in regard to the Busby estate in 1930?"
"No to sell. The forecasts in the fall of 1930 were justified in the spring of 1931 by the sharp increase in market prices, commodity prices, volume and a general stepping up of the whole economy of the country. Then, in May, 1931, the National Bank of Austria had to be assisted by a consortium. Its condition, however, grew steadily worse and on June 19, 1931, it was forced to suspend. The President called for a world moratorium on international debts, for the situation in Austria had an immediate reflex in Germany."

Helps for Short Time.
"The moratorium was beneficial for a short period. The stress next showed in serious form in England. In the crisis of September, 1931, the Bank of England was forced to suspend gold payments. These things almost paralyzed the situation in this country. There were more bank failures during this period than in any other. It affected the securities market. Previous calculations were totally upset by the happenings from abroad, which could not have been anticipated. The taking over of the Boreman bank in 1931 and other consolidations precipitated a condition without parallel."

Asked about the depression in comparison with others, Mr. Traylor said this was the worst in severity and extent. As to its duration, he could not say.

"We are not out of it yet," he added. Mr. Traylor's testimony will be resumed at 11 o'clock this morning. The hearings are expected to take the rest of the week.

GRANTED DIVORCE

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Betty Boyd, movie actress, has been granted a divorce from Charles N. Over Jr. in Juarez, Mexico, Ruben Licker, Over's lawyer, said he was advised today.

Miss Boyd was awarded a preliminary divorce decree from Over in Los Angeles Aug. 3, 1932, and it became final a year later. A few weeks ago the actress asked the Superior court to set aside the final decree, saying she and her husband had been reconciled. She said Over entered the final decree without her knowledge.

A property settlement had been entered into here under which Over was to pay his wife $250 monthly. Licker said a similar settlement was effected in the Mexican divorce, which Over did not contest.

COOLIDGE BABY TO BE GIVEN THE NAME CYNTHIA

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Coolidge baby became Cynthia Coolidge today, thus perpetuating the initials "C. C." borne by the distinguished grandfather, the former President.

John and Florence Trumbull Coolidge decided to name their two-day-old daughter after an aunt of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge. Had the baby been a boy, they had planned to give him the name made famous by his paternal grandfather.

While the Coolidges were pondering on a name, friends represented the youthful couple as desirous that their child be allowed to develop as any normal baby.

It was because of this that Mrs. Coolidge, daughter of former Gov. John H. Trumbull, entered the New Haven hospital under an assumed name Saturday morning, twelve hours before the seven-pound twelve-ounce baby was born.

SUSPECTS FACE LIE DETECTOR IN MURDER INQUIRY

Two men held for questioning in the mysterious murder of Samuel Studner, young manager of a cleaning shop at 1453 North Clark street, will be subjected to lie detector tests at the crime laboratory of Northwestern university this afternoon.

Capt. Martin J. O'Malley of the Hudson avenue station decided upon the tests last night because, he said, he was not satisfied with the stories of the men. They are Howard Robinson, 27 years old, a Negro janitor, and Frank Nimts, also 27, of 61 Burton place. Nimts was picked up yesterday. The Negro was seized shortly after Studner's death.

Studner was stabbed a dozen times while in a gateway at 1449 North Clark street Saturday night. He was found unconscious Sunday morning and died a few hours later. For a while police believed he might have been the victim of labor racketeers. They are now satisfied, they said, that robbery was the motive.

Bomb Blast Causes $300 Damage to Battery Shop

Estimated damage of $300 was done by a bomb early today to the Victor Battery Company shop, 2738 South Ogden avenue. The front of the place was wrecked, as was part of the interior. Victor Trisger, his wife, and three children live above the shop. They were routed from their beds by the blast, but none was injured. Trisger said he believed "business rivalry" was the cause of the bombing.

COL. McCORMICK SAYS RESTRICTED NEWSPAPER DIES

Tells of Struggle to Keep Legal Curb Off Press.

New York, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—The alternative to a free press is irresponsible and often scandalous rumor, Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of The Chicago Tribune, told students of the School of Journalism in an informal address at Columbia university today.

Discussing the struggle of the press to maintain its freedom, even up to the present, Col. McCormick declared that as newspapers were restricted by law they withered away and their place was taken by pamphlets, writings on walls and word of mouth statements. As an example he cited Germany, where the press is under governmental compulsion.

Gossip in Germany.
"Nothing printed by the newspapers of this country about public officials since its earliest days begins to touch the common gossip in Germany about the present heads of the German government—gossip such as no American would repeat," said Col. McCormick.

"In times when ears were cut off, tongues slit and men were boiled in oil for circulating an appropriation, disgusting literature flourished as never before or since."

After citing the first amendment to the constitution, which jointly guarantees freedom of speech and freedom of the press against abridgment, Col. McCormick pointed out that this freedom was not a license to write maliciously or untruthfully. These are expressly prohibited under the stringent libel laws of the various states.

Public Demands News.
"Influence is always being brought to bear on newspapers to prevent them publishing news. The antidote to that, though, is that people want news and the appeal of the paper to the public is based on the paper's ability to supply that news," he added.

Col. McCormick emphasized that guarantee of freedom of the press and of free speech was intended not only to prevent infringement by methods of the past as licensing, censorship, laws creating the crime of libel on government, and destructive taxation, but to prevent infringement by any methods to be developed in the future.

Col. McCormick did not mention the proposed NRA code for newspaper publishers which he criticized in an address last Saturday as lacking proper safeguards for the freedom of the press. Dr. Lindsay Rogers, deputy recovery administrator who has the newspaper code in charge, was in Col. McCormick's audience today.

Opposes Licensing Press.
"The freedom of the press is not a special privilege conferred on newspaper proprietors," Col. McCormick continued. "The provision preventing government licensing of the press applies not only to newspapers, but to any press, those printing pamphlets and books as well. Under this protection there has grown up an enormous literature, a development of infinite benefit. An infringement of any kind on the right to speak and write may bring untold consequences, especially when we consider the many ideas accepted today which were heresies in days gone by."

"At all costs we must preserve freedom of utterance, because when mistakes arise it is only by means of free utterance that they can be detected. Before he addressed the journalism students, Col. McCormick was guest of honor at a luncheon at the Faculty club given by Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the School of Journalism."

EVANSTON MAN FOUND DEAD IN CAR; START QUIZ

John Zanner, 34 years old, 1011 Dodge avenue, Evanston, a florist shop employee, was found dead last night in his automobile in the rear of his home.

Mrs. Sophia Zanner, 34, told detectives that she and her husband had left a Niles Center tavern quarreling because he wanted her to spend more money for drinks. On the way home, she said, he struck her and then hit her again on entering the house. Then he fled and got into his car.

A few minutes later Victor Yurov and Walter Kacian, who also live at 1011 Dodge avenue, heard a call for help in the alley and found Zanner dead. There was blood on the door, running board, and right fender of the car. The right front window of the car was broken. However, no cuts or other wounds were found on Zanner's body. Whether he broke the window is being investigated. It was said he kicked in the window. Mrs. Zanner said the blood on the car resulted from a nose bleed she suffered on being struck by her husband. Her face was bruised, police said, and one eye discolored.

EIGHT WORK CAMPS FOR TRANSIENT ARE PLANNED BY INDIANA

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Eight federal camps for transients will be established in Indiana cities within the next ten days at Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Lafayette, Terre Haute, Jeffersonville, Evansville, South Bend and Muncie. Others will be built in Lake county. The camps will be built from an $809,500 discretionary fund.

William H. Book, Indiana relief commissioner, will be in charge. He, with Gov. Paul V. McNutt, will work with the federal agency in administering the camps.

Occupation is to be provided for transients either in the form of farm work or of "made" work in suburban areas.

MARY E. LEASE, WHO LED KANSAS POPULISTS, DIES

Callicoon, N. Y., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Mary Elizabeth Lease, who achieved a national reputation as a labor and temperance agitator in Kansas late in the last century, died here yesterday. She was in her eighty-fourth year.

Born near Allegheny, Pa., the daughter of an Irishman who was forced to leave his country when he got into political difficulties and later died a prisoner of war in the Confederate prison at Andersonville, Mrs. Lease managed to earn her own living and train herself in an age when women were supposed neither to receive an education nor go to work.

Battles Both Parties.
She entered politics back in the days of Populism and the Farmers' alliance and stumped through Kansas, calling upon honest agriculturists to "raise less corn and more hell." Battering against both the Democratic and Republican parties, without asking or receiving quarter from either, she was credited largely with the defeat of Senator Ingalls in his contest for reelection in 1890.

The Populists were fighting for direct election of senators, postal savings banks, government control of railroads, federal supervision of corporations, the initiative and referendum, the income tax, woman suffrage, prohibition and free silver. She lived to see every one of those planks, except the last, put into effect.

Stumped for Weaver.
In 1892 she accompanied James B. Weaver, the People's party candidate for President, on his campaign tour, calling upon honest agriculturists to "raise less corn and more hell." In 1893 she declared herself a candidate for United States senator, but when voting time came around the support promised her faded.

For Mrs. Lease's campaign activities of 1892, Gov. Leavelle appointed her president of the state board of charities, the first woman in the country to hold such an office. At the turn of the century she went to New York, giving lectures and making other appearances. As late as 1905 she was vigorous in political activities.

Assurances Not Necessary.
"Such assurances are entirely unnecessary," one of the commissioners explained. In the referendum of 1932 the bond issue of $20,000,000 the voters learned unforgettably that if the

FEDERAL RELIEF HEAD TO DEMAND LEGISLATURE ACT

Will Address Deadlocked Assembly Today.

BY PARKE BROWN
Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, will tell the special session of the Illinois general assembly today, that he believes it should act immediately to provide $20,000,000 for winter charity work in the state.

"It should act in twenty-four hours," Mr. Hopkins said during an interview which he was informed that the legislature may not pass its final deal before the house of representatives is called to order tomorrow night, clearing up some questions that have been raised at Springfield during the deadlock, which first tied up the senate and now the house.

"If there anything in the tone of an ultimatum concerning further federal relief funds?" he was asked. "I haven't prepared any text," he said, "and may not do so, but I shall reserve anything of that sort for the legislature."

He was asked about his own personal relief funds? he was asked. "I haven't prepared any text," he said, "and may not do so, but I shall reserve anything of that sort for the legislature."

With the Illinois delegation headed by Gov. Hornor and including leaders of both houses who want to see him in Washington last September and particularly about the pledge he insisted upon and was given at that time.

A Pledge for $30,000,000.
"Did you construe that as a pledge that the $30,000,000 bond issue plan would be adopted?"

"It was a pledge of $30,000,000," he said. "I'm not concerned about the method by which it is provided. Has any other plan of raising that amount been proposed?"

His question was construed as meaning that he had been told by the relief commission that no plan to provide that sum had been presented, that the counter-proposals of the minority opposition in the assembly were inadequate.

Members of the commission also pointed out a flaw in the arguments last week by legislators opposed to the bond issue plan. Two representatives said they could not vote for it because there had been no assurances from political organizations, local governments, or the press that the bond issue would be supported in the referendum campaign.

Assurances Not Necessary.

PARDONS CONVICTS USED IN TESTS FOR SLEEPING SICKNESS

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Ten Mississippi short term convicts, who a month ago volunteered to undergo tests to determine whether mosquitoes are carriers of encephalitis, dread sleeping sickness disease, today were pardoned by Gov. Bennett Connors.

Two of the men, Mark West of Harrison county and Kenneth Trussell, Choctaw county, were granted full pardons, while the remainder were given 6 month suspensions of sentence to permit them to comply with pardon publication requirements.

The executive action came as no surprise since he had unofficially said he would pardon the ten at the expiration of the experiment, which began Sept. 28.

The tests ended yesterday with negative results. The men were not infected with encephalitis. Mosquitoes, imported from St. Louis, were permitted to bite each convict a score of times. The subjects were then segregated in a special ward and kept under close observation for possible development of symptoms.

Proposals were not approved. General property taxes would be increased. The same principle applies this time and there is not a particle of doubt that the bonds would be approved overwhelmingly.

Administrator Hopkins spent part of the afternoon with executives of the relief commission, familiarizing himself with all the facts about the Illinois situation. He left for Springfield on a midnight train.

His speech probably will come soon after Speaker Roe calls the house to order today. The first business on schedule is the speaker's ruling on the Illinois situation. He left for Springfield on a midnight train.

Over the week-end, it has been reported, county relief organizations, county boards and similar forces involved in the winter charity problem have been urging members who last week did not vote for the bond issue plan to line up for it this week.

There were 26 members absent or not voting when the roll was called last Wednesday. It is believed some of them will vote this week.

BOARD TO VOTE 2 WEEKS' PAY TO TEACHERS TODAY

Expect Checks Will Be Mailed Tomorrow.

A special meeting of the board of education has been called for today by James B. McCarhey, president, to declare a two weeks' cash pay day for 14,000 teachers and 4,000 other school employees. The funds for the $1,971,000 pay roll for the last half of February, have been obtained and it is expected that the pay checks will be sent out tomorrow night.

Another gleam of hope in the pay situation of local governments appeared yesterday at a meeting of the Lincoln park board. Arrangements have been completed, it was announced, to pay the 700 park employees for five months in 1932, clearing up salary obligation for last year, according to the report of Commissioner Martin H. Kennedy, chairman of the finance committee.

Sell $500,000 in Tax Warrants.
Lincoln park employees will obtain their pay day through the sale of $500,000 in 1932 park tax anticipation warrants to the Continental Illinois National bank. The park pay roll has been not each month this year and the salaries for October will be paid during the first week in November, according to the commissioners.

The school pay day was the result of negotiations during the last two weeks by Mr. McCarhey. It became a certainty last week, with the sale of $688,000 worth of 1932 tax anticipation warrants to the Illinois Bell Telephone company. Yesterday an additional $100,000 was received from the common school fund.

"Just because this two weeks' cash has been obtained," said Mr. McCarhey, "doesn't mean that we are going to let up in our efforts to pay our teachers. There are several sources of revenue that the members of the board are endeavoring to tap and we hope that the situation will be brighter in another month."

Need Transfer of Funds.
The board meeting is necessary to transfer funds from the working fund of the schools to the education fund, out of which most of the salaries of school employees are paid.

The school pay day is the first in two months. Early in September as a result of the economy program tax warrants were sold and the employees received a two weeks' cash pay day.

C.A.C. COMMITTEE DISCUSSES AIDING FAIR NEXT YEAR

Ways and means of aiding success of A Century of Progress in the event it is held again next year were discussed yesterday by members of the post-fair activities committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce in a meeting held at the Palmer house.

The committee is composed of 13 representatives of the city's hotels, banks, transportation companies, entertainment establishments and other business interests. A program of activity to be inaugurated immediately following the closing of the Fair includes cooperation with the live stock exhibition, Dec. 2 to 5, and participation in the official opening of the Christmas season in the trade mart on Nov. 18.

The opening of the Christmas season will be celebrated Nov. 18, with the observance of "day day" in business establishments throughout the city. Parade and other special exhibits are being planned.

SCHOOL SYSTEM ASKED TO PAY TAX ON LUNCHROOMS

The law department of the board of education began a study yesterday to determine whether the school system is a government or a private business. The question was raised by the request of Joseph Rice, state director of finance, that the board pay the 2 per cent tax on gross monthly sales in high school lunchrooms.

The school board sells lunches and candy in the thirty-four high schools of the city. If the state's request is legal the board stands to lose $40,000 a year at the present scale of prices. The lunchrooms ended the school year of 1932-33 with a deficit of $7,000. This deficit and the best way to meet it will be discussed at a board meeting next week, following the suggestion of Trustee Paul Drymalski.

STEEL INDUSTRY AND U. S. AGREE ON RAIL PRICES

Mine Dispute Also Is Settled.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt today stepped into two more squabbles between his recovery administrators and the steel industry, winning a victory in one encounter and getting a compromise in the other.

Intervening in behalf of his NRA administrator, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, the President achieved "a substantial agreement" between the United Mine Workers and the so-called captive mines of Pennsylvania, operated by the steel companies. The President won a victory by getting acceptance by the companies of the checkoff system.

The second dispute, that between the Administrator of Transportation Joseph B. Eastman and the steel companies over the price of steel rails which are to be bought by railroads with funds loaned by the government, was settled by the President when he set a price for rails half way between that asked by the companies and that demanded by Eastman.

Eastman had charged the steel companies with collusion in setting their price, but, according to a White House statement today, the price agreement was merely the steel code at work.

Tells How Code Worked.

"The U. S. Steel company states," said the White House announcement, "that without consultation with the other manufacturers and in conformity with the code, it notified the Iron and Steel Institute that it proposed to reduce its price for steel rails from $40 a ton to $37.75 a ton. This notice having been given to the institute, became public property and thereupon the other three manufacturers of steel rails reduced their prices to meet the price established by the steel corporation."

At their meeting the steel company officials maintained that the price of $37.75 represented only cost of production plus a fair profit. Coordinator Eastman reiterated his insistence that $35 would be a fair price.

"In the interest of getting people back to work in the heavy industry of producing steel rails," the White House explained, "the President proposed a price half way between, or $38.375 a ton."

The price was agreed upon and the President's plan to use public works funds to finance the purchase of the rails by the railroads is to be put into effect.

Captive Mine Agreement.

In the case of the captive mines, it was announced that a "substantial agreement" had been reached between the steel companies operating the mines and the United Mine Workers, with the President and Gen. Johnson acting as the intermediaries.

"This agreement," it was said, "provides a basis for the immediate reemployment of thousands of miners who are now idle if the following measures are put into effect:

PHILADELPHIA MINT DOING LITTLE IN NEWLY MINED GOLD

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Although the Philadelphia mint coins the greater part of Uncle Sam's money, it is doing little business in newly mined gold under the President's order of Aug. 29 or the authorization for the Reconstruction Finance corporation to buy such metal.

Under the order of Aug. 29, which permits the sale abroad of new mined gold, only $7 ounces of the yellow metal has been received at the mint here. It came in about equal quantities from Georgia and North Carolina.

There is nothing on the local mint books yet regarding the receipt of gold on account of the RFC.

The mint still is permitted to purchase old gold; that is, gold made into jewelry and other articles, at $20.67 an ounce, but no sellers are coming in. It was said at the mint the sellers are getting a better price "elsewhere."

who are now idle if the following measures are put into effect:

"Every mine which has an outlet for its product should be reopened and employees working when the mine last operated put back to work without any discrimination as to membership in any labor organization."

Checkoff Conceded.

"The checkoff is conceded. A man may assign a deduction from his pay to whomever he desires."

Hours, wages, and working conditions will be at least as favorable to the workers as those contained in the existing agreement between commercial operators in the Appalachian field and the United Mine Workers.

Provision was made for employees to choose their own representatives under supervision of the NRA's national board. The operators agreed to deal with such representatives regardless of their membership or nonmembership in a labor organization.

FLOOD CONTROL DAM IN KANSAS HITS OPPOSITION

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Spurred opposition was voiced today before the Mississippi valley committee against one huge project proposed to the public works administration—the $65,000,000 flood control dam at Kiro, Kas.

The proposal to saddle the Kaw river and inundate forty-five miles of its fertile valley was described as uneconomic and in violation of the public works administration's intent.

The opponents included a Kansas congressional delegation and several residents of the region.

D. C. Hill, Pottawatomie county, Kas., attorney, said a dam 90 feet high and two miles across the valley, inundating 116,000 acres, would cause the abandonment of two railroads, destroy a transcontinental highway, and nine towns, including Wamego and St. Marys.

He said a Union Pacific counsel had asserted the line would not be rebuilt. This would deprive numerous towns of mainline rail facilities.

Agree to Peg Pound and Dollar.

dent declined to enter into a stabilization agreement. Hitherto agreement has been impossible because the President and the British government were too far apart in their ideas of the exchange value of dollars and pounds.

One further possibility cropped out of the treasury conference: That an arrangement has been arrived at on war debt revision—Sir Frederick's mission here—where the British, in return for the scaling down of their $4 billion dollar obligation to this country, would enter into a monetary treaty and by buying dollars with which to pay off the reduced debt would mitigate the effect of dollar selling by the United States in the London gold market.

U. S. Must Buy Pounds.

In order to buy gold in the London market America must sell dollars and buy pounds with which to operate in the British gold market. This action will increase the demand for pounds and increase the supply of dollars, raising the former and cheapening the latter.

A more costly pound would discourage foreign purchases in Britain and upset the internal price structure. To prevent this result Britain would have to sell pounds and buy dollars, thus throwing her whole weight directly against the program announced by President Roosevelt.

Britain, also, will have to break off the close relationship which has been maintained between the pound and the franc. France, no longer protected against operations of the British stabilization fund, will have increasing difficulty in staying on the gold standard.

While high officials were laboring over the diplomatic consequences of the President's plan, their subordinates were busy setting up machinery for the first purchase of gold in the world markets by the RFC.

Only domestic buying of newly mined metal was aimed at today. In boosting the price for such gold to $31.95, 14 cents over Saturday's price, Acheson, Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC, and Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the farm credit administration, making up the President's monetary triumvirate, offered to purchase only gold recovered in this country.

Although no official announcement on methods for world purchases was forthcoming, financial circles believed the RFC will ask the federal reserve banks to do the foreign buying of gold for them.

The RFC, it is believed, will turn over to the reserve banks a block of its debentures, obtaining thereby a credit on the books of the banks. Using money which it has in its own reserves or which it obtains by reselling the debentures either to the treas-

JOEL BOONE LOSES AUTO ACCIDENT CASE AT CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Officials using government automobiles for private purposes were held today by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals to be liable for their accidents.

The decision was rendered in a damage suit against Capt. Joel T. Boone, White House physician during the Hoover administration.

The physician and Mrs. Boone drove to Baltimore on April 19, 1931, to attend the opera. While returning to Washington their automobile collided with another.

Dr. Boone contended he was subject to call whenever he might be needed at the White House and the car was assigned to him to meet any summons. Hence, he said, he was using the automobile in an official capacity.

The Court of Appeals did not agree with this view and sent the case back for a new trial in Municipal court.

ury or the markets, the reserve banks will then buy up certain foreign balances which American exports have built up abroad.

With the foreign exchange obtained by the purchase of these foreign accounts the reserve banks will then buy gold abroad at the direction of the RFC. At the outset it is expected only a comparatively small amount of foreign exchange will be purchased and gold operations will not be large.

ASK FRENCH EMBARGO

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Oct. 30.—While extremist elements nervously clamored for a gold embargo to protect the franc, sober financial circles in Paris today gave reassurance that President Roosevelt's decision to purchase gold in foreign markets would not shake France's hold on the gold standard.

The immediate effect of America's gold policy is to send the franc up as was proved today in the Paris and London markets.

The franc is likely to rise because American demands for gold here must be expressed in francs and necessitate the purchase of francs since the Bank of France does not convert gold against the dollar directly.

Purchases in France Likely.

If the United States purchases gold abroad in any appreciable quantity it will most likely be purchased in Paris at least as much as in London, partly for the reason that the gold market in London is open only 15 minutes daily while the Bank of France sells gold daily for five hours.

Obviously if American gold purchases over a period of time caused an appreciable drain on France's gold supply the franc would be endangered. But information, authoritative financial journal, published figures today to show how strong the franc's position is and how a great drain would have to be made in order to be really dangerous.

The Bank of France, according to the latest statement, has nearly $2 billion francs in gold (about 4 billion 920 million dollars at current rates) in its vaults. In 1931 when the franc was universally considered impracticable, it had only $5 billion francs.

Other Nations Fight Plan.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The London Herald expressed the opinion today that other nations deliberately have attempted to prevent President Roosevelt's gold plan from succeeding.

"There are good grounds for believing," said the newspaper in commenting on America's decision to buy gold abroad, "that the Bank of England, in cooperation with the Bank of France, actually bought dollars on each occasion when President Roosevelt raised the internal gold price and thus prevented gold purchases from having any effect."

The London Daily Mail saw a probability "that the dollar will depreciate both against sterling and gold currencies" and a likelihood that the pound will "depreciate against the franc and the sterling price of gold will rise."

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $790,000, making a total of $22,614 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 23. The day's collection of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

County Treasurer McDonough yesterday began mailing out 18,350 bills for the second installment of 1931 real estate taxes, against properties on which the board of appeals made revisions other than the blanket 15 per cent reduction. This 15 per cent reduction, ordered by the appeals board for 430,000 homes and small flat buildings in Cook county, was voided by the State Supreme court in a recent decision.

The Supreme court mandate ordering the board to expunge its order was received yesterday by Sheriff Meyer, but was not served because George F. Nixon, one of the board members, is ill, and Fred W. Brummel, the other member, was not at his office.

County Judge Jarecki yesterday began his 27th week of enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act. He appointed Treasurer McDonough as receiver for 35 income bearing properties to enable him to collect taxes totaling $106,000.

"OLE SWIMMIN' HOLE" DREAMS COME TRUE AFTER FORTY YEARS

Forty years ago, in an "ole swimmin' hole" in Wheeling creek at Wind Ridge, Pa., eleven boys splashed together and talked of their dreams. They vowed that if one of their number ever gained wealth he would get them all together again and they would see the world.

Yesterday that dream came true and the eleven, now all men in their late fifties, came together at the World's Fair. Ten of them came from the hills of Pennsylvania near Wind Ridge at the invitation of the eleventh, Frank Ross, retired treasurer and co-founder of the Jewel Tea company, who resides at 631 North East avenue, Oak Park.

None of the ten had ever been in Chicago and few of them had ever been on a sleeping car before the trip. They arrived late Sunday and made a brief tour of the Fair grounds. Returning yesterday, they spent the day at the Fair, lunching in the Agricultural building, which drew their interest since most of them are farmers. Last evening they attended a loop theater. Today there is to be another trip to the Fair and dinner at Mr. Ross' home in the evening, after which they will board a train for the journey home.

SUE N. Y. EDISON SYSTEM; CHARGE PLOT TO BEAT NRA

Employees Fear Coercion; Case in U. S. Court.

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The New York Edison system was served with a temporary injunction today restraining it from any violation of the National Labor Relations Act.

The injunction was obtained from Federal Judge Robert P. Patterson by Jerome Count, general counsel for the Brotherhood of Edison Employees of America, which claims to represent 33,000 workers.

The case was described as the first of its kind by Gordon Mitchell, secretary-treasurer of the brotherhood.

Charges a Conspiracy.
In its complaint the brotherhood accuses the Edison company of engaging in a "conspiracy" with John H. McNulty, president of the association of employees of the Edison company, to violate the terms of the President's reemployment agreement.

The brotherhood alleges the company and its officials were about to "intimidate, influence, and coerce" their employees into accepting a company union plan contrary to the NRA. In a statement denying the charges Frank W. Smith, president of the New York Edison company, declared "any suggestion of conspiracy on the part of the company or its officers is sheer nonsense, as will appear when the facts are placed before the court."

Right to Organize Involved.
The order issued by Judge Patterson, calling upon the company to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent, is returnable on Thursday.

After reciting that the President's reemployment agreement, which the company signed on Aug. 14, gives employees the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, without interference, the brotherhood's complaint declares:

"That the company is engaged in a conspiracy with the officials of the alleged association of employees to deprive the employees of the Edison company of the right to organize and bargain collectively, and fraudulently interfere with, restrain, coerce, and influence the employees of the Edison company in designating their own representatives for the purpose of collective bargaining."

Meeting Is Postponed.
A meeting of employees scheduled for tonight was postponed, the company announcing that the hall in which the session was to have been held was not large enough.

The complaint charges that since the association of employees was formed in 1904 it "has for many years been opposed to labor organization among its employees and has failed to protect or attempt to protect the said employees in either their wage scales, working conditions or security of employment."

McNulty, named as a co-defendant in the proceedings, issued a statement saying the officers of the association have "at all times made it clear that they did not contemplate that our association would itself be the means through which collective bargaining would be conducted for such employees as wished to deal with the company collectively rather than individually."

Company Denies Any Coercion.
The association was described in the brotherhood's complaint as being under the control of the company.

Smith, in his statement, said: "The question of what form or method of collective bargaining, if any, will be deemed desirable and adopted by any of the employees of the New York Edison company is a matter for the employees themselves to determine freely. The company has not attempted and will not attempt to influence any such action. During the operation of the NRA no employee will be coerced or influenced to go into collective bargaining or stay out of it. The position of the company on this subject was made clear in a letter which I sent to the association of Edison employees last week."

The brotherhood charged that the company "has for many years been openly opposed to labor organization among its employees and that any claim or pretension by the Edison company and its officials at the present time that the employees are free to reject the company union plan without risk or danger of loss of employment is not and cannot be accepted by the employees in good faith."

Pledges Full Cooperation.
A supporting affidavit alleged that the meeting scheduled for tonight was "part of the plan of the Edison company to instigate the adoption of the company union plan so as to set up a fictitious and fraudulent scheme to frustrate collective bargaining by its employees."

Said Smith: "No employee will be favored or discriminated against because of his membership or nonmembership in any manner of employee representation. Personally, I pledge to the limit of my ability the fullest cooperation with the employees in carrying out the intent and spirit of the NRA."

Robert C. Berry, chief organizer for the brotherhood, said:

Court Enjoins U. S. Contract When Bid Is Limited to NRA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The federal government's right to deny contracts to persons who have not given affirmative compliance to NRA regulations was challenged today on two fronts.

A temporary injunction restraining the secretary of the treasury from awarding a contract on a proposed postoffice annex in New York City was granted by Justice F. D. Letts in the District of Columbia Supreme court and hearing was set for Friday.

The injunction was sought by a contractor whose bid was rejected on the ground that he had not complied with NRA requirements.

At the same time the Ford dealer whose bid for trucks for the civilian conservation corps was thrown out filed formal protest with the controller general and asked for a ruling forbidding the award of the contract to the next lowest bidder.

May Follow in Ohio.
O. W. Merrell, state highway director for Ohio, said no Ford automobiles would be purchased by his state if the federal government officially ruled the company was not complying with NRA provisions.

The first court challenge to the NRA activities was made by the George F. Driscoll Construction company of Brooklyn. The company said it was asked to bid on the postoffice annex on Feb. 28 and that on Sept. 18 the treasury department asked for additional the brotherhood, declared in a statement that "NRA violations, intimidation and company union activity are being found in the utilities all over the United States. When the New York Edison system moved to impose a company union plan upon 33,000 employees we were compelled to bring the whole issue to a head. The question is whether 300,000 utility employees in this country have or have not the privilege of organizing themselves into real unions for collective bargaining under the NRA."

HOLDS PRESIDENT WILL FORCE FORD TO GET A LICENSE

NRA Expert Cites Power to Curb Defiance.

Henry Ford very likely will be placed by President Roosevelt directly under a government license, which will control his activities the same as if he had signed a code, it was asserted yesterday by Dr. John A. Lapp, representative of the national labor board and an authority on the NRA.

He said it is his opinion that the President would take advantage of the power granted him under section 4 of the National Recovery act to issue such licenses rather than permit the Detroit automobile manufacturer to continue to disregard the law.

"All the President has to do is to declare that conditions exist in the automobile industry which make necessary the licensing of a plant in order to maintain a policy of fair competition and other measures for the good of the trade," explained Dr. Lapp.

"Section 4 states that whenever the President shall find it essential to license enterprises in order to make effective a code of fair competition and shall publicly so announce, no person shall, after the date fixed, carry on a business in or affecting interstate or foreign commerce unless he shall first obtain a license."

"If the President decides to make such a declaration in Mr. Ford's case, the manufacturer would not be permitted to manufacture automobiles until he had taken out a license or he would be subject to a fine or imprisonment. When the license is issued Mr. Ford would be placed under the same provisions he's attempting to escape by refusing to sign the NRA code."

Horner Receives $3,741,590 from U. S. for Relief Fund
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Gov. Henry Horner today received three checks, totaling $3,741,590, representing federal grants to Illinois for unemployment relief financing. The checks were drawn on the Reconstruction Finance corporation through the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago.

"This is the last federal help Illinois will get unless the bond issue bill, pass the legislature," the governor said.

WOMAN DIES OF BURNS.

Detroit Mob in Automobiles Attacks Tool and Die Plants

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Police guards tonight stood alert against Detroit's tool and die plants, some of which were closed and barricaded. Employers counted thousands of dollars in damage from a day of rioting by a motorized mob—the first serious outbreak in a month since tool and die makers' strike. The mob tried to extend the strike.

Five men were injured slightly and six were arrested. One of the injured is a police lieutenant, William Black, who was struck by a brick.

The rioters, said by police to have numbered 2,500 men in more than 300 automobiles at the outset of the disorder, struck swiftly at seven factories scattered throughout the manufacturing section, always ahead of the city's massed police, mobbed but unable to forecast the movements of the demonstrators.

Shouting and boisterous, the men swept up to the factories armed with bricks and timbers, hurled them through windows, overturned automobiles in company parking lots, one auto burning after it was upset. They burned blueprints taken in raids on factory offices, and terrorized employees. At the Koestlin plant a manager fired a revolver over the heads of the rioters.

Deny Fostering Violence.
Leaders of the tool and die makers' strike, which has been in progress a month, disclaimed any connection with the demonstration. Employees themselves said they did not believe respectable tool and die makers were connected with the disorder. Police said they believed "hoodlums posing as strikers" made up most of the mob.

Harassing police who called out all available reserves, the demonstrators moved in rapid succession to the plants of the Koestlin Tool and Die company, Frederick A. Colman & Sons, the Fagle Tool and Die company, the F. Joseph Lamb company, the East Side Gear and Tool company, the Midwest Steel Products company, and a division of the Murray Corporation of America, builders of automobile bodies for several local companies.

Police overtook them at the Murray plant, and after six men had been arrested the rioters retreated across the city limits into suburban Hamtramck, where they looted at Detroit police unable to arrest them.

Both Sides' Statements.
Strikers and employers were called to Washington a week ago to confer in a settlement effort, with the result that the strikers were advised to return here, and negotiate separately with employers. The strikers said that efforts at negotiation with the General Motors corporation had been unsatisfactory.

Jay J. Griffin, chairman of the joint strike committee, said no bona fide strikers were represented in today's riots.

C. C. Richard, president of the Automotive Tool and Die Manufacturers' association, declared he was convinced respectable workers were not connected with the disorders.

"This is the last federal help Illinois will get unless the bond issue bill, pass the legislature," the governor said.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 30.—(AP)—More than 60 charges that the Ford Motor company is violating the NRA automobile code provisions tonight were dismissed as "not legitimate" by the local compliance board meeting for the first time since its organization a month ago.

Arthur A. Ternes, chairman of the board, said that many of the charges were brought by "former disgruntled employees," and added that none of the complaints were about wages and hours, with which his committee chiefly is concerned.

WE DEMAND U.S. INSPECTED MEATS!

—THEN REJECT ALL BUT TOP GRADES!

A NEW order of things prevails in serving a food today. It is a guide to men and women who seek more delicious meats.

A high pure food standard has been maintained here for 42 years. We continue to maintain it under today's changing conditions.

We buy our meats direct. We demand them Government Inspected. And delivered fresh daily. We accept only best grades—top quality. And we buy choice cuts.

For example, our Beef Stew meat is of fresh cut sirloin beef. It is first grade sirloin beef, the finest of 4 grades leading packers offer.

Our Chickens are milk-fatted. They are the same grade served in restaurants that offer $2.00 chicken dinners. They are dry-picked—not scalded. To retain the fresh young flavor.

Our Ham is hickory-smoked. A top quality ham—selected to the right proportion of lean and fat. We boil them by a unique slow boiling process in a flavor-sealing jacket. These hams, boiled in their own juices, excel in tenderness and flavor. They differ from ham quickly cooked by steam.

Our Hamburger is of selected choice fresh juicy beef. We make it without cereal or bread filling. Without coloring matter.

Vegetables, breads, dairy products, are selected and prepared the same exacting way. See why this pure food standard

FRANCE TO SPURN ITS OBLIGATION TO U. S. ONCE MORE

New Cabinet to Default for Third Time.

Defaults on France

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 31 (Tuesday).—(P)—France, considering further default in her debts to the United States, was forced on the other side of the fence by Brazil today.

Brazil withheld payment of an installment on her debt to French bankers, and it was understood future payment dates also would be ignored.

At least, it was added, Brazil will not pay anything further until "the French decree regarding the disposition of proceeds from Brazilian exportation" is revoked.

Thus Brazil took a second step in reprisal for French compulsory exchange equalization. Brazil already had doubled tariffs on imports from France.

Today's scheduled payment was $419,000 francs.

The sum was due on a pre-war loan.

PARIS, Oct. 30.—(P)—The French government was represented in official quarters today as intending to default on the $22,208,928 war debt payment due the United States on Dec. 15.

The new cabinet of Premier Albert Sarraut, it was said semi-officially, will not raise the troublesome debt question when it goes before the chamber of deputies early next month with a fiscal program.

This policy will cause former Premier Herriot, an advocate of payment, to stay away from parliament because his participation would surely give the problem, according to semi-official spokesmen. Herriot has been ill.

Capital Flees France.

It was learned at the treasury that much foreign capital had been withdrawn from its refuge in France, with the result that the dollar quotation has gone up. It was estimated that foreign capital remaining did not exceed 10,000,000,000 francs (about $600,000,000 at current rate of exchange).

In recent weeks it has been said that parliament would be asked to consider either the repudiation of a possible lump sum proposal in an effort to end 15 years of discussion on the debts problem.

The debt, about $3,863,650,000, is about one-third of the total Europe owes Uncle Sam from the world war. Failure to pay installments due last Dec. 15 and June 15 left the French about $60,000,000 in arrears.

The government has watched the Anglo-American discussions now going on in Washington, believing that they might hold some clue for later French action.

Wants to Pay 10 Per Cent.

Official papers have indicated that France would like to settle up by paying ten cents on every dollar she owes. It was on this basis that the Lausanne conference decided Germany should finish paying reparations to France and its former allies.

From the war to the present there have been three cornerstones in the French debt policy.

That France could not pay its debt to its former allies unless it received reparations from Germany; that France had a right to reparations from Germany, and that consequently, France's debts to the United States and England were entwined with German reparations.

Map Recovery Scheme.

A vast scheme for a French economic revival through the utilization of resources of the colonial empire is planned by Premier Sarraut. He will announce the idea in a ministerial declaration on Friday, when he also will outline a new national works program and fiscal reform measures.

Under the new scheme officials will look to the empire, the second largest in the world, for increased business to erase a huge trade deficit of the homeland. Putting Africa to work has been a slogan of the French colonial policy for months, and many projects have been set afoot to realize this objective.

One is to seek colonial production of fruits and vegetables by paying producers a premium for like products bought by France in foreign countries. Part of the necessary fund would be raised by increasing importation taxes.

Another proposal has been to float loans here for construction of communication facilities connecting southern and northern Africa in order to give a better outlet to the French market.

Supporters of a third scheme suggest the government map out large scale subsidizing of production of goods not made or grown in France proper.

BYRD REACHES PANAMA CANAL ON POLAR SHIP

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

COLON, C. Z., Oct. 30.—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his Antarctic expedition arrived at Cristobal this afternoon aboard the S. S. Jacob Ruppert.

The ship will pass through the canal tomorrow and stop at Balboa to await the arrival of the S. S. Bear, the second ship in the expedition, which is expected within two weeks.

The Bear will refuel at Balboa, using coal which is being unloaded from the Jacob Ruppert. The Jacob Ruppert will pick up a 30-ton boom tomorrow which will enable it to load three airplanes. The boom was prepared by the Panama Canal mechanical staff on a special order from Admiral Byrd.

The Jacob Ruppert's supply of water ran out on the voyage here. The crew used beer as a substitute. Admiral Byrd kept fit by using a rowing machine on the top deck.

Jugo-Slavia to Send Trade Group to Italy; Seeks Pact

ROME, Oct. 30.—(P)—A Jugo-Slavian delegation is expected here next week to discuss commercial questions with Italy and probably prepare a commercial treaty between the two countries, which hitherto have been unfriendly. It was learned tonight.

The debt, about $3,863,650,000, is about one-third of the total Europe owes Uncle Sam from the world war. Failure to pay installments due last Dec. 15 and June 15 left the French about $60,000,000 in arrears.

ARAB AGITATION STIRS HOLY LAND AS RIOTS SUBSIDE

General Strike Continued in Jerusalem.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 30.—(P)—A tense situation arising from anti-Jewish rioting, in which at least 30 have been killed and 200 wounded, prevailed throughout the Holy Land tonight, but no new disorders were reported.

Even in the main towns, Jerusalem, Jaffa and Haifa, there were no recurrences today of Arab demonstrations against an increase in Jewish immigration. Shops, however, remained closed because of a general strike.

Early this afternoon it was announced a curfew order would be effective at 6 o'clock tonight, but before evening authorities decided an improvement in the situation made the curfew unnecessary.

Strict Press Censorship.

A strict press censorship was established in Jerusalem in an effort to curtail incitements.

A deputation of veiled Moslem women petitioned the British high commissioner, Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchop, for the release of imprisoned Arab notables, taken into custody last week at members of the Arab executive, and responsible for the widespread outbreaks.

Arab crowds gathered in Haifa with the intention of staging a demonstration, but were dispersed without trouble. Moslem women, who also met with a similar purpose, were persuaded to return to their homes.

900 Jews Barred.

Demonstrations in Damascus passed without bloodshed and Transjordan also was quiet, although the movement was said to be spreading. Authorities took careful precautions.

In Port Said, Egypt, the government refused 900 Jews, mostly Poles, permission to land. They were bound for Jaffa, from Constantinople, Rumania, abroad a Danish steamer.

The British high commissioner curtailed a ceremony opening the harbor works in Haifa because of the disturbances.

CUBAN STUDENTS RIOT; SPLIT OVER BACKING REGIME

Fate of Government Seen at Stake.

HAVANA, Oct. 30.—(P)—A turbulent meeting of 1,000 Havana university students tonight was regarded with anxiety by political leaders, who believed it might mean the breaking of the making of the Ramon Grau San Martin government.

The students met at the university in a closed session. Sounds coming from the meeting place indicated a fight was in progress presumably over the question of withdrawing support from the Grau regime.

So important was the conference considered that interest in a general strike scheduled for midnight was sidetracked.

Students Riot in Hall.

Newspaper men admitted to the conference hall after an hour beheld a scene of howling, hooting confusion. At least six fist fights were in progress.

Eddie Chibas, one of the staunchest supporters of President Grau and a member of the student directory, told the gathering the directory had submitted an ultimatum to the government insisting that it "rectify its present course." He said the ultimatum, details of which were not revealed, expires Nov. 4.

At the conclusion of his speech Chibas attempted to break up the meeting by asking all who supported him to leave the hall. The majority, however, remained, and speeches by persons opposed to the government began.

Students Split on Action.

The students later elected a board to fix a date for another assembly and adjourned without further action. A large section of the students is known to favor dissolution of the student directory and withdrawal from all politics. On the contrary, many students are known to favor the continuance of active support for Grau.

A poll of commercial associations, meanwhile, indicated they did not expect the general strike to materialize as set by the workers' confederation. The confederation, however, continued to predict a complete shutdown of commercial activity.

CHARGES A "ZEP" SPIED ON FRENCH ARTILLERY PARK

PARIS, Oct. 30.—(P)—Lieut. Col. Magne, retired, writing in the Petit Journal on German armaments, declared today he had evidence that "a foreign dirigible of the Zeppelin type" flew over the artillery park at Salbris between Orleans and Bourges on the night of Sept. 30.

"It arrived over Salbris toward 1 a. m. in the moonlight," said the writer, "coming from the northeast with its lights out and flying very low."

His article stated that he was informed the dirigible circled the military field for half an hour and threw a beam from its searchlight on the ground once.

ADRIENNE AMES, JUST DIVORCED, WILL WED TODAY

She and Bruce Cabot Will Be Married.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 30.—(P)—Adrienne Ames, motion picture actress, divorced today at Minden, Nev., from Stephen Ames, New York broker, will be married tomorrow at Carlsbad, N. M., to Bruce Cabot, screen actor.

Officials at the studio where Miss Ames is employed said she would fly to Albuquerque, N. M., to meet Cabot. The couple planned to motor from there to Carlsbad for the ceremony and then motor back to Hollywood, arriving here next Friday.

Plans Are Complete.

Witnesses at the ceremony will be Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kerr and Miss Ames' sister, Linda Marc. The wedding will be in the Presbyterian church of Carlsbad. Miss Ames' parents were members of that faith.

On their return to Hollywood the couple will make their home in Miss Ames' Beverly Hills residence.

The actress went to Minden, Nev., unannounced this morning and obtained a divorce from Ames on grounds of cruelty. Only court officials and attorneys were present. Her testimony was not disclosed. It was not learned whether a property settlement agreement had been submitted to the court. Miss Ames had established divorce residence at Reno and it had been indicated the suit would be brought there.

Employ Trial Separation.

Ames and the actress announced last summer that they had decided on a "trial separation" method of adjusting their marital differences and explained they had a dissimilarity of interests. Miss Ames preferring to remain in Hollywood where her work kept her, and her husband spending his time in New York for business reasons.

Both said Cabot, who was a constant companion of Miss Ames at special functions and sporting events, had nothing to do with their decision to go their separate ways. Miss Ames described Cabot as a "friend of the family."

Relatives of Cabot, whose real name is Etienne Bujac Jr., live in Carlsbad. He left there today for Albuquerque to meet Miss Ames.

Youth Gets Life for Killing Soviet Official in Poland

LWOW, Poland, Oct. 30.—(P)—The Emergency court sentenced Nicholas Lemyk, an 18-year-old Ukrainian youth, to life imprisonment today for the killing of a Soviet legation employee Oct. 21. In view of Lemyk's age, the court said it would not impose the customary death penalty. The Russian was shot and killed at his office.

LITVINOV IN PARIS; MAY SAIL FOR U. S. TOMORROW

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Oct. 30.—Maxim Litvinov, Soviet Russian foreign commissar, arrived in Paris this morning on his way to Washington, where he will confer with President Roosevelt on Soviet-American differences that stand in the way of recognition of Moscow by the United States.

Maintaining dark secrecy about his exact plans, Litvinov refused to make any statements, least of all on what boat he intended to sail for New York. He was met at the station by Ambassador Valerian Evgenievsky and taken by automobile to the Soviet embassy, where he refused even to speak to newspapermen.

It is most likely that Litvinov will sail Wednesday, but all efforts to learn whether he will take the Berengaria, Bremen or Champlain were fruitless. The French line says Litvinov's reservations on the Champlain have been canceled; the Germans don't think he will take the Bremen; therefore, it is considered most probable that he will choose the Berengaria.

JENNY DOLLY TO AUCTION JEWELS, RETURN TO STAGE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Oct. 30.—Jenny Dolly is selling her famous jewels and luxurious chateau and is going back to the stage. The depression and her recent automobile accident, which nearly proved fatal, are responsible, she said today.

Among the gems going on the auction block will be a pearl necklace of nearly 3,000 grains, a diamond collar with a black pearl of nearly 135 grains, a cut emerald of 41 carats, and a diamond solitaire of 51 carats. It is a long time since such luxurious gems have been placed on the Paris market.

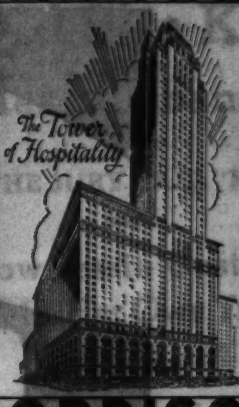

"I am keeping absolutely nothing," Jenny explained. "I am preparing for my return to the stage. A noted impresario has been to see me and as soon as I am restored to health I will play in London and later Paris."

In a month the skill of a Paris doctor will have eliminated every trace of the effects of her auto accident from her face and she will appear as youthful as ever.

BEGIN HEARINGS HERE TODAY ON U. S. EQUITY QUIZ

to Hear 50 Witnesses.

The report of the Chicago Bar association on the receivership appointments of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward, together with the court records of all federal equity cases during the depression era beginning in 1930, was studied by the judiciary subcommittee headed by Congressman T. D. McKeown (Dem., Okla.) in executive session yesterday.

The subcommittee on receivership and bankruptcy practices of the federal judiciary will begin public hearings today in the United States courthouse. Some fifty witnesses are expected to be heard during the course of the inquiry, which will last at least a week.

Seek to Correct Abuses.

Congressman McKeown said that impeachment proceedings might follow the subcommittee's report in the house of representatives if the findings justify such action, but that the primary purpose of the investigation was to recommend legislation to correct receivership abuses.

Congressman McKeown said, however, that the committee would call witnesses familiar with the disposition of Judge Woodward's receiverships. "We expect to go into those matters thoroughly," he said.

Charles M. Bates, clerk of the United States District court, took 25 large volumes, containing the records of the equity cases since 1930, before the committee. In addition to these records, members said, the committee studied the reports of their investigators, George F. Cummertow, and the report of the bar association.

The bar association's report stated that between October, 1930, and September, 1932, Judge Woodward, who pointed the law firm of Loucks, Eckert and Peterson as counsel for receivers in ten equity and four bankruptcy cases. Harold C. Woodward, son of the judge, was employed by this firm and is still employed by the firm of Eckert & Peterson, its successor.

Fees Total $256,400.

Fees allowed the law firm in the ten equity and four bankruptcy cases totaled $256,400, of which $178,150 was allowed by Judge Woodward, $60,750 by Judge James H. Wilkinson, and $17,500 by Judge Walter C. Lindsay.

Among the witnesses to be called by the committee are Garfield Charles and Edmund D. Adeock, referees in bankruptcy, and it was reported that judges, receivers, and receivers' counsel would be called.

Congressman McKeown said the committee came to Chicago with no advance information and with no desire to "single out individuals." The course of the inquiry, he said, will largely be determined by the reports of Investigator Cummertow, a former department of justice man who has been at work here for four months.

SENATE QUIZ OPENS

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 30. (AP)—A tale of vanished millions of dollars, and of receiverships that cost more than $1,000,000 at least in one instance, was placed today before a committee of five United States senators.

They opened a hearing into the costs of administering receiverships and bankruptcies for investment enterprises which failed. The committee was told that half a billion dollars of assets had been involved in receiverships in Los Angeles in the last five years.

It was made clear the senatorial committee, of which Senator Henry F. Ashurst of Arizona is chairman, was not interested in criminal matters, but only in ascertaining how well and to what extent receivers and trustees performed their duties.

THE NEW DOLLAR.

The country has known many kinds of dollars in its experience with money. Continental scrip was the worst. The gold eagle was esteemed the best, but it has been scarce. Five double eagles are all any citizen may legally possess. The new dollar, the one with which the country has had no experience, will be the managed dollar. The former idea of stability was a fixed gold price. Other commodities could run wild, but gold stood still. One time it would buy a bushel of wheat, another time a half bushel, and another two bushels. The managed dollar, presumably, is to buy as much wheat one time as another. Therefore, when a dealer signs a note he will get money which will remain the same. His creditor will not be repaid in a better dollar or a worse one. Each will be the same amount of wheat, wool, coffee, gasoline, etc.

Just now it is the crop producer who is saying that he cannot make any headway against the old gold dollar. It buys too much of what he produces and it is too hard for him to get. He has seen a bushel of his wheat get less than half a dollar and he has seen it get six times that much. With high priced wheat he went into debt to raise more wheat, with low priced he went broke, between the two he went crazy. He is now barricading the roads, ditching trucks, dumping milk, refusing to pay his mortgage, chasing the sheriff, and damning Gen. Johnson.

He is one of the fellows to be rescued by the managed dollar. There are others. The control of the dollar encounters two theories, one academic, which assumes that the human element will be impervious to all considerations which ought not to enter the equation; the other, which cannot avoid the fact that control ultimately is in the hands of the man who stands up in a national convention and shouts "Alabama casts twenty-four votes for Oscar Underwood," in his hands and the hands of men like him in two parties and from forty-eight states.

If the academic theory prevails one method of operation is in sight. Something different must be expected from the other. It is not necessary to try to run an exact parallel with the tariff to perceive some similarities. The tariff was more academic than political in its beginning and there seemed to be a clear case for it. If the United States was to free itself from industrial dependence it needed protection. There is an academic theory back of the tariff even now. It is supposed to be properly adjusted and flexible. A world-wide organization of government experts is behind the schedules and they are supposed to do precise justice, but the gentleman from Alabama has always been in them.

Mr. Grundy of Pennsylvania still has the reputation of causing the world economic disaster by what he did in the first Hoover tariff. For a long time he was the popular head devil of the whole business. It should be remembered that although the political processes of the country have been apparently suspended they have not been removed from the scene. They will reappear next year when congressmen are to be elected.

Dr. Warren of Cornell and Dr. Rogers of Yale were in conference with President Roosevelt nearly all day the Sunday of his speech. Their currency ideas are incorporated in the new dollar plan. The plan is in its academic stage, which is the one nearest to pure theory. It is unlikely that either Dr. Rogers or Dr. Warren will be in the next Democratic national convention nor is it likely that the expert politicians will have gone out of business. There are expert politicians as there are expert economists, and the politicians can adjust themselves to a system of economics much more easily than the economists can adjust themselves to a system of politics.

In the long run no plan of government will get away from the men who control national conventions or away from the other men who may control the politicians. In all the new deal there has been no provision which changes the source of government or finds a new one. Every departure in governmental idea has been studied by the men who ultimately will direct the political forces, and it should occasion no surprise if some of the extensions of government have been studied with more interest by the politicians than by any one else.

There is much more to be done now than ever before and no one could be more interested in the new opportunities than the men who will decide the distribution of offices and the filling of places. It probably would be wise to estimate every extension of authority with an eye upon the next national conventions. If the political ways of the country be regarded as negligible some unrealistic expectations will be entertained.

The managed dollar cannot be given its right setting in any one's thoughts of it unless the managing authority be regarded in relation to the political parties. Politics is the science of distributing rewards and getting votes. Nothing in government can get entirely away from its rules. An omission of this consideration from any plan may send expectations up one road and in finding the results at the bottom of another.

Several forms of inflation could be adopted as an emergency cure, as a jolt good or bad, but the managed dollar, as the President said, is not an expedient. It is offered as a permanent improvement in currency. Among the least of the variables, then, may be whether political action puts in management a Bryan or a Mellon.

NO LIQUOR BOARD FOR ILLINOIS

It is suggested to the members of the Illinois liquor commission, which is to report a plan of regulation, that the New York liquor board scheme be adopted for the present. The commission is considering the suggestion. In favor of it argument touches the immediacy of the control problem and the danger of a runaway trade without suitable regulation. Repeal is almost in the open door.

Even as an interim measure, as a stop-gap, the New York idea is too faulty to be taken over in Illinois. It is inherently wrong in that it gives personal control in a regulation naturally open to abuses. Very little in the record of state commissions would encourage any one to transfer liquor control from specific law to personal decision. Even as a temporary device its probabilities would be all in the direction of scandal. Eventually the worst tendencies of both politics and the trade itself would unite in common purpose.

The administration of liquor regulations should be the administration of laws and not the application of personal decisions. Such authority cannot safely be delegated. Under a liquor board Illinois would be off to a bad start.

RAILROADS' YEAR OF PROGRESS.

Whether the depression, accusations of decadence, final awakening to highway and airplane competition or sheer necessity be the spur, the railways of the country have certainly contributed more to modern transportation during the year 1933 than in the last five decades.

Prior to the present year the advertisements of our rail carriers featured nothing but the orthodox giant locomotive with its complementing string of vestibule cars, inspiring to be sure, but not greatly different except in the matter of size, weight and refinements from the train of a half century ago. The public, it has been discovered, is now more interested in economy, speed and more frequent service, and the efforts of 1933 have been directed toward these goals rather than further efforts to dull the tedium of travel with the luxuries of a private club.

Both the Union Pacific and the Burlington have ordered trains of new type. Trials of rail buses are of almost daily occurrence, and now the Cotton Belt announces regular service in rail buses equipped with pneumatic tires, or rubber cushioned wheels, capable of a sustained speed of seventy miles per hour, geared so that they can start and stop with a minimum loss of time and able to run in either direction to effect terminal economies.

This last named advantage alone would mean much to the public. The railways have the only private rights of way into the hearts of metropolitan centers; yet this advantage has been neutralized by slow speeds necessary through coach yards where incoming trains are being switched and outgoing trains are made up.

Since it has been discovered that we have 40 per cent too much rail mileage there has been a frequent suggestion that duplicate rights of way should be acquired by states and converted into high speed highways for motorized traffic. Perhaps these rail bus lines will dispose of the question by the transfer of a substantial volume of both passenger and freight traffic back to the rails. That solution is certainly to be desired, as preserving a private industry and tax payer instead of creating a tax eater.

Editorial of the Day

THE THREAT TO A FREE PRESS.

[New York Herald Tribune.]

We wish we could share the cheerful optimism with which Prof. Lindsay Rogers views the prospect of licensing the press in the general cause of NRA. It is enough for him that the constitutional guaranty would still stand, no matter what might be said or done under any act, and that, anyway, "no responsible, intelligent person has ever thought of the possibility of newspapers being brought under the licensing provisions of the act."

We think he is right as to the constitution. Even if the left wingers of the President's advisers do talk glibly of enlarging and packing the Supreme court in order to weaken its restraints upon congress and the executive, we still have faith in the vigor of that ancient instrument.

But he misses the whole point of the alarm which newspapers are expressing throughout the country. The constitutional protection of a free press might stand, but the NRA system of codes enforced from Washington provides an ingenious and highly effective device by which this protection could be evaded and rendered of small practical effect. At the present time the threat of withdrawing the Blue Eagle offers an obvious means by which a newspaper might be intimidated into supporting the administration regardless of its editorial convictions. The device of the Blue Eagle is in itself an ingenious kind of control by permit. Beyond that lies the authority formally to license the press. But it is not Rogers who is against licensing the press. It is not he who is against the NRA. He is for it, and he is not alone. The law gives the President the right to license whom and when he chooses.

How completely Prof. Rogers misses the whole point of the objection is shown by his attempt to compare NRA control to the workmen's compensation laws. Would any newspaper object to conforming to such laws? he asks. The answer is, of course, no, for the reason that these laws are enforceable in the traditional American fashion by an orderly resort to the processes of justice. There is no dictator sitting in a state capital with authority to "crack down" on an alleged offender and condemn him publicly as a sinner without any court trial.

Most of the early hysteria with respect to the Blue Eagle has passed. But the possibilities of centralized control which the device offers have been made abundantly plain. Whether NRA threatens only to withdraw its emblem, as today, or, in a later and grimmer phase, threatens to withdraw a license, its power to intimidate a newspaper, to discourage honest criticism and procure insincere support is so plain that not even Prof. Rogers' optimistic pleasantness can make it a laughing matter to any editor or publisher who believes in the integrity of his profession and views it, as does the constitution, as a fundamental condition of democracy.

If Prof. Rogers still thinks that such fears are chimerical he might try his theories as to the inconspicuousness of a licensing system on the broadcasting companies of the country and study the utterances of the federal radio commission. The radio act gives no right of censorship to that commission. Yet criticism of the NRA has been stifled on the air. How? Because that commission has the power to license—or not license.

We repeat what we said in an earlier editorial: Freedom cannot be licensed. Ask the broadcasting companies. They know.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

FLEXIBILITY, declares the Illinois liquor commission, is the thing most desired in the code to control strong drink after the cataclysm of Dec. 3 when enough states will have voted against the Sacred Eighteenth to give it the long wished for kick in the pants. The liquor commission says the need of flexibility is best illustrated by Chicago and Evanston. What would be regarded as pleasant social drinking in Chicago would be looked upon as a wave of crime in Evanston. And while the liquor commission didn't go deeper into the matter the difference in the liquor capacity of the two communities must be considered. Now a Chicago man can drink three hooters of bourbon with a stinger and a horse's neck for chasers and still say quite clearly, "It's a brave bright moon light tonight," while an Evanston man will climb the nearest telephone pole, howl dementally and proclaim he is the big bad wolf if he is allowed to smell the cork from a whisky bottle.

OLD FACES.

Old faces tell old tales. In vain the mind contrives a careful mask, conspires with words. To fashion some disguise, erect some blind around emotion that the heart still holds. Raw hatred hugged too close, too intimate. To leave the mouth unmarked, stares mocking out; Sweet love that seems the face to animate; Perhaps complacency smirks or coward doubt. Hangs wavering, or greed that grooves hard lines. Sly selfishness that squints the eye, and just That leers at naked love. Each passion signs. Its name before the ledger falls to dust. Old faces tell old tales—when I am old. For all to read, what story will be told?

ALICE ROOSEVELT LONGWORTH sets a good example for biographers and historians in her new book, "Crowded Hours," by calling a spade a spade and ex-President Harding a slob. But I wonder if the Princess Alice has a firm grasp on the American language and understands all its vagaries? Is the American language word "slob" the best one descriptive of Mr. Harding? Hardly. Mr. Harding was the "front" of the Ohio gang who used his statuesque resemblance to Washington and his bland sonorous utterances as the cover behind which they could carry out their raids on the U. S. treasury. "Slopes" might describe Mr. Harding better than "slob."

"HOGS SHOW NO UPWARD TENDENCY."—Live stock item. But shucks! Why be surprised? They never did and they never will. People who worry about hogs and expect them to show a desire to improve their intellectual, artistic or ethical opportunities or develop any social aspirations are bound to be disappointed.

SPARROW PURD'S ASSISTANT.

OKLAHOMANS are just popping with rage and are going to protest to the President because when Secretary Harold Le Claire Ickes was asked to hand out some of the easy money to the drought stricken part of the state he said there was no hope of administration approval of any of the dam projects in the area. Oklahoma should not get so hot up over the remark, but it would probably have been better if Harold Le Claire had said "damned" instead of the other word. They're mighty sensitive down in Oklahoma.

"MILLIONS of Easy Money Allocated by Government: Chicago Gets $2,305."—Headline. Well, you just see; the next time Chicago asks for easy money it's going to get an old suit of clothes, a second hand pair of shoes and an order on a grocery store for a sack of flour and five pounds of chuck steak.

I smiled. What gold can buy indeed! There is no word in gypsy lore About those things that can be bought In other ways and valued more.

"GONE TO SEED."

AMONG the pictures in the art exhibit at the Chicago Art Institute is one in which the artist undertakes to show the bodily changes of a man, which result from several generations of life under conditions of poverty and privation, such as are often encountered among poor people living here and there in the mountains.

The portrait is that of the head of a man. The outstanding impression he gives is that of being bony and weather-beaten. His head is rather small and angular, with the bony ridges rather prominent. The face is definitely bony, the cheek bones being high, as are the bridge of the nose and the ridges over his eyes. The lower jaw is of an angular type that, for some reason or other, is called lantern jaw. The chin is rather receding. The lower jaw is not quite long enough to make his front upper teeth meet his lower ones well.

But the chief cause of the peculiarity of the expression of the lower part of the face is the fact that the angle of the jaw is less acute than we are accustomed to seeing. The neck is long, small, and thin, and the curves are different somewhat from the average. The Adam's apple is exceedingly large and there is no visible evidence of a thyroid. The general air of the neck is one of skin-drawn.

The ears are large and stand out from the head, though not enough to make the man bat-eared. The cheeks, especially right over the cheek bones, are red, and spangling small blood vessels are indicated in both directions.

Because the lips are thin, the mouth is open, the chin is receding, and the lower jaw is poorly developed, the face is of the type commonly called weak.

The artist tried to tell the man consumed considerable whisky, ate poor food, and was often exposed to the weather. Therefore his nose and cheeks were red. He had almost no fat under his skin, and especially around his face, because he was poorly nourished. Some of the man's teeth were missing, and his upper chest was due to poorly developed muscles. People of this type commonly go by the name poor white trash and hill billy, though the latter name has come to have a somewhat different meaning.

The medical man would say of the mountainster that he had a peculiar constitution. The principal peculiarities are in his bony framework, his lack of subcutaneous fat, his somewhat weaker muscles, and his somewhat weaker constitution. Behind this modification of nature there is a something the nature of which we do not know. Originally it may have been wholly environmental—poor food, privation, whisky, weather, but it is now something else besides. What it is no one knows.

INFORMATION CORRECT.

M. A. B. writes: I have worn a plaid for more than fifteen years and until recently I had no trouble. Now for several months I have a metallic or brassy taste in my mouth with increased salivation, and also nasty odor from the mouth almost unbearable at times. I use the best tooth powders and creams, but that helps for only a few minutes. I have read that the cause is a lack of different metals are brought into association through the medium of saliva, and that a measurable electric current is set up, causing symptoms such as I have. My lips and tongue sting at times as though I had pepper on them.

REPLY.

Your information is correct. Your dental work is probably the cause of your trouble.

APRAXIA.

W. R. writes: I read your article entitled Apraxia. I will write. What is it? The word is not in my dictionary.

REPLY.

I used five hundred words trying to explain. Probably too many. I will try it with twenty. It is poor handwriting not due to clumsiness or poor teaching, but due to a certain type of mind.

IT IS HARMFUL.

W. R. writes: I take a 1/2 grain luminal tablet every night to get a good night's rest. Is this harmful?

REPLY.

It is.

TROUBLE NOT GREAT.

C. R. F. writes: When I go swimming I indulge in quite a bit of underwater swimming, keeping my eyes open. Will this affect the eyes in any way, and is underwater swimming harmful to the general health?

REPLY.

It may cause some conjunctivitis but, beyond that, it does not harm the eyes. Holding the breath while diving throws considerable strain on the heart and may cause some emphysema or distention of the air sacs of the lungs, but the danger is not great.

FRIEND OF THE FARMER

Inquiries on farm management, financing or governmental regulations addressed to this department must be accompanied by stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

C. W. asks: I have signed a wheat receipt contract on a farm usually occupied by a renter. I cannot locate the 1932-33 renter who is supposed to sign the contract. I have a new tenant for next year. What process must I take to make sure that my new tenant shares in the wheat production bonus?

Answer: If the tenant for 1933 [who will not be the tenant for the next year or two] cannot be located or refuses to sign, the landlord should file a statement to this effect with the county wheat allotment committee of the county in which the farm is located. The share for the 1933 tenant will be held subject to his claim until July 1, 1934, when it will revert to the United States treasury. Tenants operating farms in 1934 and 1935 are eligible and entitled to share in the adjusted payments in those years according to provisions of the contract.

L. A. asks: If I should obtain a loan from the Federal Land bank commissioner what kind of payments would have to be made on interest and principal?

Answer: The interest each six months during the first three years on a $1,000 loan would amount to $25, and thereafter installments would be due each six months consisting of $50 principal plus interest at 5 per cent on the unpaid part of the loan.

A WAY THEY HAD IN FLORENCE.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—In claiming all the credit for the novel economic theories which they have introduced, the trustees have been manifestly unfair to the real originators of the system of economic philosophy on which they are based. In Baldasar Castiglione's "Book of the Courtier," written about 1528-29, we find this note about the Florentine brain trust during the war between Florence and Pisa, in 1495:

"When the Florentine signory was waging war against the Pisians they sometimes found their money exhausted by their great expenses, and the method of finding money for daily needs being discussed in council one day, after many ways had been proposed, one of the oldest citizens said: 'I have thought of two methods whereby we could get a goodly sum of money without much trouble. And one of these is that since we have no revenue greater than from the customs levied at the gates of Florence, and since we have eleven gates, let us at once have eleven more made, and thus we shall double our revenue. The other method is to give orders that the mints be forthwith opened in Pistoia and Prato just the same as in Florence, and that nothing be done there day and night but mint money, and that all the money be made of gold, and in my judgment this course is the quicker and less costly.'"

Even a Mordecai Ezekiel couldn't improve on the simplicity of that! The inflationists down in Washington (and elsewhere) might be interested in another extract from Castiglione about the building of the castle of the Duke of Urbino. He says:

"A certain abbot being present one day when Duke Federico was discussing what to do with the great mass of earth that had been excavated to lay the foundations of his palace, which was then building, said: 'My lord, I have thought of an excellent place to put it. Give orders to have an immense pit made, and it can be put in without further difficulty.' Duke Federico replied, without laughter: 'And where shall we put the earth to be dug out of this pit of yours?' The abbot continued: 'Have it made large enough to hold both.' And so for all the duke repeated several times that the larger the pit was made the more earth would be dug out of it, the man could never get it into his brain that it could not be made large enough to hold both, and kept replying: 'Make it so much the larger.'"

But when all the pigs are killed and all the cotton plowed up, and the wheat land turned into pasture, I have a scheme of my own that will put us all on our feet, place billions in circulation, and bring back universal prosperity. All we need to do is burn down that most of the conditions bringing about a big convention and parade will not occur again.

BECAUSE THE ENGLISH TAKE THE BEST PHOTOGRAPHS.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—I like your new Tribune. You deserve everybody's praise for your improved Sunday paper. It is a great step forward in American journalism.

I have only one criticism to make, or perhaps a suggestion. In your "roto" section why do you insist on feeding us with pictures of Great Britain?

In today's edition of the said section you have, outside of the front page, ten photos depicting Great Britain out of forty in that section. I am sure that 35 per cent of your readers are not of British descent. Poles, Germans, Italians, and Russians outnumber the British foreign element in this area; so if you must show European photos then why not give to those people a "break"? You are influential enough to obtain interesting pictures of those lands and the countries would be willing to furnish them.

Personally I am speaking for the Poles. Won't you give us pictures of the land of our fathers?

CHARLES F. KILMAS.

THE ROAD OF REMEMBRANCE.

Wheaton, Ill., Oct. 25.—The Voice of the People for Oct. 21 contained a letter from "L. R. A." lamenting the "loss" of the Wheaton Road of Remembrance. When the highway was widened the trees were moved to the north side park of Wheaton, with the aid of the state. All the bronze plates and similar items have been stored for proper use when the plans are finally completed for the making of this north side park a memorial park. At the time of the tree moving the matter was given publicity in the Wheaton papers and in The Tribune. It was about two years ago.

The writer has found a number of Legionnaires who believe that the story by James O'Donnell Bennett concerning the Legion parade on Oct. 3 was worth doing into a small booklet, with all possible cuts, and putting on sale. The writer believes it would be well worth at least 50 cents. It seems probable that most of the conditions bringing about a big convention and parade will not occur again.

A WAY THEY HAD IN FLORENCE.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—In claiming all the credit for the novel economic theories which they have introduced, the trustees have been manifestly unfair to the real originators of the system of economic philosophy on which they are based. In Baldasar Castiglione's "Book of the Courtier," written about 1528-29, we find this note about the Florentine brain trust during the war between Florence and Pisa, in 1495:

"When the Florentine signory was waging war against the Pisians they sometimes found their money exhausted by their great expenses, and the method of finding money for daily needs being discussed in council one day, after many ways had been proposed, one of the oldest citizens said: 'I have thought of two methods whereby we could get a goodly sum of money without much trouble. And one of these is that since we have no revenue greater than from the customs levied at the gates of Florence, and since we have eleven gates, let us at once have eleven more made, and thus we shall double our revenue. The other method is to give orders that the mints be forthwith opened in Pistoia and Prato just the same as in Florence, and that nothing be done there day and night but mint money, and that all the money be made of gold, and in my judgment this course is the quicker and less costly.'"

Even a Mordecai Ezekiel couldn't improve on the simplicity of that! The inflationists down in Washington (and elsewhere) might be interested in another extract from Castiglione about the building of the castle of the Duke of Urbino. He says:

"A certain abbot being present one day when Duke Federico was discussing what to do with the great mass of earth that had been excavated to lay the foundations of his palace, which was then building, said: 'My lord, I have thought of an excellent place to put it. Give orders to have an immense pit made, and it can be put in without further difficulty.' Duke Federico replied, without laughter: 'And where shall we put the earth to be dug out of this pit of yours?' The abbot continued: 'Have it made large enough to hold both.' And so for all the duke repeated several times that the larger the pit was made the more earth would be dug out of it, the man could never get it into his brain that it could not be made large enough to hold both, and kept replying: 'Make it so much the larger.'"

But when all the pigs are killed and all the cotton plowed up, and the wheat land turned into pasture, I have a scheme of my own that will put us all on our feet, place billions in circulation, and bring back universal prosperity. All we need to do is burn down that most of the conditions bringing about a big convention and parade will not occur again.

JURY IS CHOSEN TO TRY TWO AS BOMB CARRIERS

Police Witness Describes Arrest of Hoodlums.

A jury was selected yesterday in the criminal court of Judge Charles F. Mohr to try James J. Catana and William Palermo, alleged leaders of the James (King of the Bombs) Belcastro, on charges of transporting a dynamite bomb. The case had been continued 25 times.

Yesterday the defendants were arraigned, the jury was selected, and one state witness was called before court adjourned for the day.

The witness, Police Sergeant William Thompson, told of the arrest of Catana and Palermo as they rode in an automobile at Lake and Sangamon streets last April 18 with a seven stick dynamite bomb. The attention of the arresting squad was attracted by the fact that the automobile had no tail light, Thompson testified.

Sergeant Describes Arrest.

"It was about 10 o'clock when we saw the car going west in Lake street," the sergeant said. "We followed and saw them make a U turn in Sangamon street. Then we forced their car to the curb. Palermo got out first and tossed a package on the grass at the side of the street. I picked it up and found it was a bomb with a two or three foot waterproof fuse."

Confronted with the bomb, Catana told the squad that "we ain't got nothin'." Thompson said. Later, according to the sergeant, Catana begged to be allowed to speak to his attorney. When this was refused, Catana asked to be allowed to have "a little talk" with the squad leader, Sgt. Richard Johnson.

This request also was refused, according to the witness, and the prisoners were taken to a police station.

Defense Charges "Plant."

Defense Attorney Benedict J. Short intimated by his questioning of Sgt. Thompson that the defense would be that the bomb was "planted" on Catana and Palermo by policemen.

"Did you laugh when they threw the dynamite bomb out of a car at the feet of three husky policemen?" Attorney Short asked Thompson. The witness responded that he did not see the action. The trial will be continued today.

Madden Sentenced to Prison.

William Madden, 28 years old, alleged member of the "42" gang, withdrew his motion for a new trial yesterday and was sentenced by Judge Benjamin F. Epstein to life imprisonment. Madden was convicted last week by a jury of the murder of Emil Onesta, 40 years old, 940 Polk street.

The state charged that Madden and Michael De Stefano, now a fugitive, shot and killed Onesta in front of 1130 Taylor street while they were trying to murder Frank Laine, chauffeur for "Dago" Lawrence, "Manganaro" west side gang leader.

Five Others Sentenced.

The sentencing of Madden and five others yesterday raised to 500 the number of criminals ordered to prison since the opening of the war on crime. The others sentenced are:

THEODORE MIKA, 19 years old, and WILLIAM STEFANIN, 18 years old, sentenced to one year to life by Judge Philip J. Sullivan for the $21 robbery on Sept. 13 of George Prinz, 825 North Leavitt street.

TOM JACKSON, 25 years old, colored, sentenced to one year to life by Judge James F. Fardy for the robbery of Charles Todor, 1028 Roosevelt road, on Aug. 28.

LAWRENCE DAWSON, 25 years old, colored, sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Thomas J. Lynch for the murder of Richard Porter, colored, in Porter's beer tavern at 4310 Indiana avenue.

BEN WAITCHES, 41 years old, sentenced to one to ten years by Judge Mohr for the embezzlement of $2,500 from the American Express agency.

MUSIC STUDENT KILLED.

New York, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Morris M. Lutz, 25, a homeless and penniless music student who had been seen before dawn sitting at the head of a flight of stairs in a Times Square rooming house, was found dead a few minutes later at the bottom of the stairs, his head almost cut off by a crash into a plate glass door.

4 Important U. S. Criminal Prosecutions Set for Trial

Four important criminal cases, two of them involving alleged income tax evasions and the other two mail fraud cases, were set for trial by Federal Judge James H. Wilkinson yesterday. Among the cases is the oldest income tax case pending in the district court—that of Walter W. McKoon, who operated a roofing contracting business during the sanitary district "whoopie era."

McKoon is charged with failure to pay $10,000 income tax during the years of 1927 and 1928. The indictment was based on income derived from work done for the sanitary district during the regime of the late Timothy J. Crowe. William M. McKoon, who was indicted with his brother in 1930, has died since the indictment was returned. Trial of the case was set for Jan. 3 by Judge Wilkinson.

W. E. Nichols' Trial Set.

The income tax case is that in which William E. Nichols, alleged tax fixer, is charged with failure to pay $8,000 in taxes in 1927 and 1928. Nichols, then a salesman for the Wisconsin Lime and Cement company, was indicted four months after McKoon. His name had been mentioned during investigation of charges of bribery in the office of Christian P. Pachon, then city building commissioner, and he was termed the "right hand man" of Gene Oliver, former county assessor.

YOUTH BLINDED BY BOMB 18 YEARS OLD TODAY; PLANS PARTY

Wilbur Leo Koepfen, 4905 Oakwood avenue, who was permanently blinded on the night of Sept. 29 last year by a bomb explosion in front of the home of Judge John F. McGorty, 925 East 45th street, will observe his 18th birthday today at his home. Wilbur will receive any of his friends who care to call at a Halloween open house party tonight.

When school opened this fall Wilbur enrolled as a freshman in John Marshall High school, where he is studying the Braille system of writing and typing. "I hope to be a musician some day," Wilbur said yesterday, as he told of his efforts to learn to play the piano. The state has provided a fund for his education and care. A guide escorts him to school each day and nurse cares for him while he is at home.

JUDGE WILL RULE ON PLEA TO QUASH RACKET CHARGES

Arguments were concluded yesterday on a defense motion to quash the indictment in the so-called racket conspiracy case. Judge Philip J. Finnegan took the matter under advisement and announced that he would rule tomorrow morning. Principal defendants in the case, in which 24 persons are charged with conspiracy to terrorize Chicago business men, are Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, once czar of the cleaning and dyeing industry in Chicago; Ald. Oscar Nelson (48th); and Aaron Shapiro, New York attorney.

ILLINOIS PRISONS JAMMED; 11,500 FELONS A RECORD

Crowding Laid to Crime War and New Law.

The number of prisoners in the various branches of Illinois' penitentiary system yesterday was approximately 11,500, a record figure. At Stateville, near Joliet, are 3,483 men and another 1,729 are in the "old prison" within the city limits of Joliet.

These conditions are largely the result of Cook county's crime war, it was revealed. Five hundred persons have been sentenced in Chicago courts and most of them already have been dispatched to penitentiaries since the campaign against criminals was begun approximately three months ago. Watching the situation calmly, but with his guards instructed to be ready at any moment for possible trouble, Warden Frank D. Whipp at Stateville yesterday estimated that the two institutions under his care accommodate another 200 prisoners.

Always Room for One More.

After that—? The warden shrugged his shoulders and remarked: "We're crowded. But you can always shove another passenger into a crowded street car."

The men at present are quiet and in apparent good humor, he said. But he was quick to add, with the caution which usually characterizes the experienced head of a large prison, that outbreaks in a penitentiary may occur at a moment's notice.

If Cook county continues to send 40 to 50 prisoners a week to Joliet and Stateville the saturation point may be reached by the first of the year, it was estimated. Releases and paroles vary from month to month, but the population of the prison has been rising steadily. On Sept. 1 there were 5,076 prisoners at Joliet and Stateville. In

EDWARD B. McLEAN, FORMER PUBLISHER, HELD TO BE INSANE

Towson, Md., Oct. 30.—(AP)—A verdict affirming the insanity of Edward B. McLean, former Washington publisher, was returned here today by a sheriff's jury.

After several psychiatrists testified, the jury signed an inquisition paper which stated, in part, that McLean is "of unsound mind and a lunatic without fixed intervals," so that he is not capable of the government of himself or the management of his estate."

Former Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, who represented McLean's estranged wife, Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, said the principal of McLean's trust estate is valued at about $5,000,000 and his personal property is worth $50,000.

The inquisition paper signed by the jury said the income from the estate at present is $666 a week.

The lunacy petition was filed Oct. 4 by Mrs. McLean, who asked that a committee be appointed to manage her former husband's affairs.

Prison for Varcha Type.

In addition to the institution for the insane at Menard, the former Chester State hospital, now to be known as the Illinois State Security hospital, will hold those transferred from institutions for the feeble minded, hospitals for the insane, and those committed directly from the Criminal courts to such a type of prison, it was explained.

This law has been changed in order to take care of the dangerous feeble minded men of the class that has formerly been committed to the Dixon State hospital and the Lincoln State school," Warden Whipp said.

"The 'Igey' Varcha case, showed the danger of attempting to confine mental defectives in such places from which they can easily escape. Varcha escaped from Dixon and raped a woman and murdered a man. At the Security hospital men of such type will be confined in a place from which escapes are less likely to occur."

The new law does not affect the classification of the inmates of the St. Charles School for Boys, the Geneva

Purpose of New Plan

The main purpose of the new system is to keep first offenders from being incarcerated with hardened criminals who teach them the criminal trade, Warden Whipp pointed out. Under present "crowded" conditions, only new prisoners can be examined by the psychiatrists and their records studied, but it is hoped to extend the system to all convicts.

Warden Whipp displayed a table showing that the great majority of the prisoners at Joliet and Stateville are first timers. The figures show a comparison between 1932 and 1933. The table follows:

|                     | Prisoners | Prisoners |
|---------------------|-----------|-----------|
|                     | 1932      | 1933      |
| First term          | 5,578     | 5,865     |
| Second term         | 808       | 808       |
| Third term          | 230       | 230       |
| Fourth term         | 61        | 61        |
| Fifth term and more | 44        | 47        |
| Totals              | 6,881     | 7,011     |

"The aims of the new system are certainly worthy ones," Warden Whipp declared. "Gov. Hornum is anxious that the prisoners of Illinois be placed on the highest plane possible, and the new plan, if worked out, should aid in that direction."

QUARTER BILLION CUT FROM VETS' RELIEF FOR YEAR

Falls Short of Original 400 Million Goal.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Measured by the expenditures for last year, a quarter of a billion dollars is being contributed to the government economy program under the present plan of appropriations by cuts in veterans' benefits. It was disclosed by unofficial sources.

This, however, could not take into consideration any deficiency appropriations that might be made to care for an excess of expenses above appropriations if such an excess should develop. A tabulation of veterans' expenses for last year, which in the usual course would not become public until the convening of congress, placed at $78,016,000 the amount expended for them, as compared with $81,985,000 appropriated for 1933-'34, not including adjusted service certificate payments.

Total Near 300 Million. If the 50 million dollar cut in funds for loans on the certificates is taken into account the reduction in this year's appropriations under 1932-'33 expenditures totals nearer 300 million dollars.

This compares with slashes in veterans' costs of around 400 million dollars, which President Roosevelt first proposed, and which resulted in a congressional deadlock until a compromise was agreed to. Although some estimated at the time that the compromise would bring the veterans' costs below the 400 million mark, today's figures revealed for the first time just how much they apparently would fall short of the original objective.

Disbursements for Year. Here are the disbursements as shown for the 1933 fiscal year which ended in June (in round numbers):

This year's appropriations grouped the world war compensations and the pensions together, totaling $319,230,000, compared with $550,584,000 that went for these last year.

Other Appropriations. For military and naval insurance 123 million dollars was appropriated, one million dollars for hospital and domiciliary facilities and services, $70,000 for printing and binding, something over $5 million dollars for

Baroness, 70, on Trial in Plot to Swindle Son of Irish Peer

BY JOHN STEELE.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Big talk of a cool $5,000,000 in profits from a modest start of $30,000 formed part of the sales argument by which Lady Strabolgi and Robert Muller sought to induce investments in a Honduran timber promotion scheme according to evidence presented in their police court hearing today on charges of attempted fraud.

J. E. Eastwood, member of parliament, opening the case for the crown indicated that the charges would be extended to include conspiracy. The plaintiff in the action is Francis de Moleyns, younger son of the Irish peer, Lord Ventry. Accusations against the 70-year-old baroness and the 63-year-old co-defendant were delivered by De Moleyns after the prosecution's preliminary statement was completed.

Both Described as Bankrupts. Lady Strabolgi is the mother of Commander J. M. Kenworthy, labor politician. She is a native of California. Both defendants were described as undischarged bankrupts.

Muller was pictured as a "fourflusher" pretending he had great wealth, whereas he is actually living in a house in the swank part of London owned by Lady Strabolgi. The prosecution declared there is neither electricity nor telephone service in the residence and that he slept on an army cot in a single room "in considerable squalor."

As Eastwood outlined the prosecution's case, Muller, through introductions at the Ladies' Army and Navy club, made himself known to De Moleyns as a professor of topography in Honduras and a man with connections in the Honduran ministry of war. He claimed to have had a concession to cut and sell timber, including 200,000 pine trees on which a profit of $10 a tree could be made and mahogany trees. Muller said some of the mahogany trees were worth $1,500 apiece.

"Muller gave the impression that he had great wealth and his reason for allowing 'De Moleyns' to enter the 'deal' was that he was a young man and would be able to help him," said Eastwood, adding that Muller had declared he intended to use his profits to found and endow a Honduran university.

Muller, Eastwood continued, asked De Moleyns to write to him at his address in Lady Strabolgi's house.

Lands Honduran Climate. In order to promote the scheme, the prosecution alleged, Muller produced a map for De Moleyns' inspection indicating that the timber concession ran inland from the coast between the Patuco and Cincio rivers.

"While Muller and De Moleyns were discussing the project, Lady Strabolgi intervened occasionally, lauding the Honduran climate," Eastwood said. "Lady Strabolgi asserted it reminded her of her native California. She always referred to Muller as 'señor' and as the only man with any influence over the government of Honduras."

By arrangement De Moleyns wrote to Muller declaring he was interested in the project. He said he could raise the money and asked Muller to call on him and discuss the plans. He invited him to bring Lady Strabolgi. De Moleyns communicated with the police and at the interview two detectives with notebooks were concealed behind curtains.

Police Make Arrests. At the meeting, the prosecutor continued, Muller said he was sinking $75,000 into the scheme and that another $1,250,000 would be needed. The final agreement, Muller is reported to have said, should be signed in Paris in order to avoid the British income tax, which was estimated at $2,500,000. After Lady Strabolgi had demanded cash down and a check for $30,000 was written, the police emerged and made the arrests.

BRITAIN MAY SUE DUKE FOR RUNNING PRIVATE LOTTERY

2d Nobleman in Court for Not Paying Debt.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) LONDON, Oct. 30.—Legal action, actual or impending, involved two British dukes today. One appeared in court to answer suits instituted to collect debts. The second faces a possible summons on an alleged violation of the lottery law.

In the second case it is assumed that a writ will be issued against the duke of Atholl in connection with his recent campaign for charity conducted in rivalry with the Irish sweepstakes. The duke collected a huge sum of money, some of which he redistributed among his contributors.

Two Scotland Yard officers have since gone to Scotland to interview the duke and it is understood that legal advisers of the home office consider there is a case against him on the matter in which the prizes were distributed. If the slightest element of chance was involved he is open to a summons.

The case which came up in court today was against the duke of Leinster. Altogether there were five summonses for debt, four of which were struck off on the announcement that the sums had been paid. The fifth summons was adjourned on a promise that payment will be made in the near future. Counsel on both sides explained that money is being found by a third party. The duke's lawyer said he had "very little means."

The judge wanted to know whether the creditors were aware that a bankruptcy petition is on file against the duke. The creditors replied through their counsel that they did not.

If you've longed for a new fur coat—

THIS IS THE WEEK TO BUY IT!

● A new fur or fur coat—what else can give you such a thrill, so much genuine happiness and enduring satisfaction as a new fur or fur coat, up-to-the-minute in style and smartness!

If you've longed for a new fur coat, if you've been telling yourself you ought to do something about it, this is the time for action. And here is the reason why:

This is National Fur Week. Chicago furriers, department stores and specialty shops that deal in furs, this week are joining in a nation-wide celebration. For months every one connected with the fur industry has been planning to make this week one of the biggest events in the history of the industry.

As a result, during this week you are invited to inspect the most comprehensive display of furs, fur and fur trimmed coats ever offered. Even if you haven't been considering the purchase of a new fur coat, don't miss the opportunity of seeing the newest, smartest fashions to fit every occasion and every pocketbook.

This year special attention has been given to the styling of moderately priced furs and fur coats. And with all furs selling at such unusually low prices, the opportunity to get rare values probably never was so great.

For the most attractive values, be sure to check the advertisements in the Chicago Tribune. This newspaper, printing more women's clothing advertising than any other Chicago newspaper, offers you by far the largest and choicest selection.

Society Helps Scouts Open Benefit Series

Brilliant Throng Attends
First Concert.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

It was hard to tell last night whether the fashionable throng that packed Chicago's old Auditorium came to hear Lawrence Tibbett, the star of opera and concert stage, to manifest its interest in Girl Scouts, or, by chance, to catch a glimpse of Mrs. Roosevelt. In combination the three attractions produced one of the most important musical interludes the city can hope to experience this season.

The Scouts . . . that sincerely worthwhile group of young women with such a strong and moving influence in our modern life . . . were sponsoring the concert and at the same time celebrating the founding of their movement twenty-one years ago. It was not until a message arrived at 10:45 stating that Mrs. Roosevelt was unable to reach the concert hall that they gave up hope of having the distinguished visitor among their guests.

The golden horseshoe was radiant with ermines, jewels, and orchids. Directly in the center of the lower tier sat Mrs. Arthur L. Farwell, stunning in black velvet ermine trimmed and a jeweled headpiece. With her were Girl Scout executives who had traveled considerable distances to hear the concert. Mrs. Farwell has recently been appointed Chicago's Scout commissioner.

There was Mrs. Frederick Edey of New York who this year presides over the national Scout council. With an array of roses, the gift of Chicago's Scouts, she took her place in Mrs. Farwell's box. Over a crimson velvet gown she wore a trailing wrap of black velvet.

Mrs. Walter Cavanaugh of Kenosha, a member of the national Scout council, was another member of this party. Others were Mrs. Charles W. Nash, Mrs. Chester H. Bliss, Mrs. Chester C. Allen, Mrs. James T. Allen, and Mrs. Walter H. Alford, all of Kenosha, and Mrs. Milton E. Wood of Washington, D. C. Ermines and orchids characterized their concert dress.

In the box adjoining that of Mrs. Farwell sat the charming Mrs. William S. Monroe, who as head of the finance committee of Chicago's Scout council is the chairman of the concert committee. It was she who in large part made made such a notable success of last year's Monday night concert series that the program has been taken to a definite place in the city's social and musical life. Mrs. Monroe, lovely in a black gown covered by a white wrap, was escorted by her son, Henry Monroe, who is just leaving town on a vacation in the Orient, and William Graves of Boston, a guest of the Monroes at their White Gates Farm in Wayne.

One box in the lower tier was filled with Scouts clad in their gray-green uniforms and there were at least a half dozen more boxes reserved for them in the upper tier. Near them sat another of their most enthusiastic Chicago sponsors, Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay Jr.

The generalissimo of the Scout concert series, Miss Grace Denton, was attractive in a sweeping burgundy velvet gown with a matching ostrich cape. She remained in the foyer well after the concert opening greeting late arrivals and attending to last minute details. An interesting trio included Mrs. Kelsey Coates Reed, vivid in green satin and a milk cape; her sister, Mrs. Charles H. Schweppé, and their mother, Mrs. John G. Sheed.

Another feather box, this one of black ostrich tips, was worn by Mrs. William H. Mitchell.

Two smartly dressed young women were Miss Roslyn Paine, a debutante of this season, and Miss Barbara Graf, a post-bet by one year. Each wore the ever smart black velvet and ermine. The fashion note in Miss Paine's costume was a handsome ermine cape that she wore over her dress. Miss Paine was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Walter Gerrit Smith, while Miss Graf was escorted by Charles Connell.

Mrs. Carroll H. Sudder, swathed in velvet and gray fur arrived with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Louisa C. Sudder, and the Press Hodgkins. They took places on the main floor near Mrs. James Miller, Brazil's representative to a Century of Progress, who is leaving Chicago today by plane for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Rubens with their younger daughter, Jean, occupied a box with the Samuel Holmesees, and still another box party included Mrs. Cyrus Bentley, the Richard K. Bentley, and Mr. and Mrs. William Wardfield III.

Just before Mr. Tibbett took the stage the John Dorns, the Scott Dorns, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sims climbed three flights up to hear the concert from one of the lofty locations in the Auditorium.

Tibbett Again Proves Place as Song Star

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Lawrence Tibbett's inauguration of the series of five Monday night concerts at the Auditorium last night made two points evident. The first is that the series will be popular, and therefore the Girl Scouts of Chicago will be the gainers. The second is that if the subsequent events keep up the pace that Mr. Tibbett set, there will be five evenings of first class musical entertainment.

Apart from the disappointment of not seeing an expected and famous guest, the expectation having been emphasized by Mr. Tibbett's final song, "Eleanore," by Coleridge-Taylor, the recital took high place in reports of musical events. Mr. Tibbett's distinction in the three fields of recital, opera, and the screen is easy to explain. He possesses one of the fine baritone voices of the present generation, he is a musician and an artist, and on top of it all, he is a personality. And, as it happens, he is an American, too, which makes it all the better.

He struck a high spot when he sang an excerpt from "Emperor Jones," the opera in which he had appeared on the same stage a few months before. This was the bit where Jones, almost at the end of his futile flight from his avenging subjects, sinks to his knees and prays, ending with a phrase or so from the spiritual "Standin' in de Need of Prayer." Even as a concert excerpt there was just about as much thrill in it as there had been in the opera with scenery and orchestra to give it added point. But I believe now, as I believe then, that a good part of the thrill is due to the Tibbett manner. It is not a place for ordinary concert use. It will not carry itself without the electric tension that he puts into it.

He made use of other innovations as well. It has been years since one has heard Brahms and Schubert sung in English, and though there are those who may find it difficult to believe, they sounded uncommonly well. For Mr. Tibbett knows how to sing English as it should be sung, not obtrusively, so that you listen to the words and forget the music, but so that you hear both and find that one has the same importance as the other. He is also an investigator of songs that other singers do not often use. There were many familiar numbers, of course, on the program and in the list of extras, but there was one new to these ears, Peter Warlock's "Good Ale," which is about as stirring, potent, and altogether agreeable a song as has come up in the last ten years. He was accompanied by Stewart Willie, a pianist who created almost orchestral effects in accompaniments and exhibited more than customary artistic avoidance in solos by Bach, Griffes, and Lecuna.

Miss Barbara Graf and Charles Connell.

Good Morning!
Again Mr. Van Dine's Mr. Philo Vance advances blithely to the aid of a police department and brings the Kleig light of his analytical genius to bear upon a dark and devious crime. He demonstrates just how, where, why and by whom Mr. Albert Coe was murdered.

A good, thorough murder it is! Though, at first, all signs point to suicide, the audacity of Mr. Vance proves that the victim had not only been stabbed and shot, but had also been stabbed in the back. Seven persons are under suspicion—but leave it to Philo to discover the hand with blood upon it.

"The Kennel Murder" has been interestingly developed on the screen. The action is fast and purposeful and Mr. Powell makes the dilettante Vance a more likable and believable fellow than does his creator. Subsidary roles are nicely handled and there's plenty of suspense.

Admirers of the Van Dine mystery stories are sure to approve of the way in which the author's latest scare gem has been adapted, and those who haven't read the book will find the hour spent witnessing the film an exhilaratingly exciting one.

See you tomorrow.

HOME late in the afternoon in time to change to more fitting attire in which to drink tea and meet Hellets. A half dozen friends gathered in the drawing room of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Howard when he arrived with his manager, Mr. Paul. Hellets very elegant in gray, with pale gray tie and wearing a new moustache, grown because he is "tired of his face," he said. I could not help but remember his startled look on an occasion several years ago when he arrived at a small dinner party. A wag commented, after shaking hands that he had such sensitive fingers and had he taken up the violin he might have been a great musician.

FROM the tea to the birthday supper for Walter Fraizer, where a handsome birthday cake was brought in and the supper guests all sang "Happy Birthday to You" with great abandon. Home late, and weary, but pleased with the activities of the day.

ARRIVED at the South Shore Country club for luncheon, the groom sounded the long horn, we turned into the driveway, pulled up in front of the club, and went down the narrow road ladder hooked on for the purpose. While our party went in for luncheon the beautiful grays were unharnessed and led away to the stables for their dinner. On the way back

Front Views and Profiles By June Provines

DIARY of a Gadabout. Oct. 29.
This Lord's day one is to be remembered, for never before have I driven through the parks and boulevards in a coach-and-four, and mayhap will never again. Sitting in the sunshine on the box with Mr. Harry Sifton, who was wearing a gray topped and a checked coaching apron over his formal day clothes, the footman in a red coat and topper sounding the horn as we turned the corners, the Dalmatians, Suet, and Raisin running alongside, it all very gay and exciting. The four beautifully matched grays, named Holly, Laurel, Ivy, and Hemlock, unused to such heavy traffic as surged about them, but handled so expertly and so sensitive to the slightest touch of the reins. Riding with a sifton, however, is like air-planing with Lindbergh, as a member of the coaching party pointed out, the Siftions having been horse folk for generations. Indeed, it has been said that the late Sir Clifford Sifton of Ottawa so arranged his will that should things come to such a pass that the family goes hungry the horses still will be fed. That situation hardly imminent, it would seem, as Mr. and Mrs. Sifton and their son brought nineteen jumpers from their stables down from Canada to the show, besides the coach-and-four.

AS the tallyho awung through Washington and Jackson parks and down South Shore drive between the double rows of Lombardy poplars, I did learn many things of interest about coaching from Mr. Sifton. He spoke, too, of the expressions in every day use derived from stage coach days. Piker, for instance. The company operating a stage coach had to pay the man at the toll gate on the turnpike for every passenger aboard. Those passengers who dismounted before reaching the toll gate hastened through the woods and picked up the coach farther on were "pikers," and received a stipend of part of the sum thus saved the company.

There were fears in the eyes of more than one when Mrs. Alexander stood up to receive the award—it was so exactly the right romantic thing to have happened in a day when good fortune doesn't always go to those whom one wishes it for.

A first novel, judged the best of 2,000 submitted, national, probably international acclaim, a moderate fortune, an assured future in fiction—and there wasn't a writer in that room who didn't buzz and a little touched that all of that glamour should crown a head already whitened by age.

The serialization of "Candy" will begin in the February issue of the Pictorial Review and the book will be published next September.

Diana Thorne Dog Etchings Shown in City

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Diana Thorne, the noted etcher of dogs, is in town for a few days to lend color to her exhibit of recent etchings which may be seen this week in the Marshall Field galleries. If one were asked to name the two most important and most popular dog etchers in the United States, undoubtedly the immediate answer would have to be Diana Thorne and Marguerite Kirme.

The current exhibit of Miss Thorne's work does not belie in any way her reputation. The recent prints are as intriguing as the earlier ones.

The cocker spaniel with its silky ears and intelligent eyes is a favorite just now and several fine portraits of the breed are discovered among the etchings.

Others of the dogs are "just dogs," but invariably amusing rascals keyed up to investigation of frog, toad, or bee. Miss Thorne has included a number of hunting dogs in her group and a few hunting scenes with horses, and an occasional polo incident.

The exhibition is worth while and easily up to the high standard which her previous work has set for her.

Sharing the gallery are water color portraits of dogs, and a few wild and scenes of bucking horses with "Tide, Cowboy, Tide" clearly in the air, by Mrs. Billy Dohman Chestnut, a new name to Chicago.

Mrs. Chestnut has had a colorful career and even, now, less a doggy life, most of the time, in riding costume. She has done several prominent dogs about town including two groups of "Orphans of the Storm."

Her sketches of dogs are possibly preferable to her wild west pictures, as they lack the illustrative, commercial quality felt rather strongly in the latter.

The exhibition will continue through Nov. 6.

Maywood Party.

Styles Point to Glistening Season Ahead

Tinsel Threads Appear on Wool Street Frocks.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The unexpected glitter of tinsel threads (maybe it's gold or silver) discovered in the fuzzy wools of swanky new street dresses is as exciting as the newest sequined ascot tie for dress parade evening gowns.

Until you have seen these spectacular glitters you haven't realized how electrifying the fashionable clothes hound will appear this coming winter. What, with sequined capes, ascots, tiny three cornered bibs (spanned every inch of the surface), glittering cuffs on evening gloves, and all the brocades that have been revived, it looks like a very gay and glistening season ahead.

Mere scraps of brocade and lame somehow manage to illumine great expanse of dark fabrics. Deep cowl necklines fashioned of silver or gold brocade accen, smart, slim, black afternoon and dinner dresses . . . shimmering lengths of silver or gold lame face back the slit sections of skirt or bodice top. Deep cowl collars that swing down to the waistline in back likewise are lined with the same lovely stuff.

Indescribably beautiful brocades fashion picture-book evening gowns in the grand manner, yards and yards of the brocade being used for the billowing, swirling skirt and the deftly draped bodice.

Some of the newest arrivals in dinner dresses have short, Chinese looking jackets made of gold or silver tissue . . . fetching little accents that can easily rejuvenate a dated but still good black dress frock. Tucked and tied under these short jackets are vivid swathes of emerald green or vermilion and king's blue. . . They are as dashing as anything you can find to interest your dancing partners.

Many Parties Will Celebrate Gay Halloween

Various School Classes
Enjoy Affairs.

BY JUDITH CASS.

If you meet a spook or a spookess darting in and out of doorways this evening on Lakeview avenue, don't be worried for there will be a nursemaid not far behind. With Halloween to be celebrated, little Miss Joan Reid, the Bryan S. Reid's daughter, has invited a half dozen of her playmates to come to her house, bob for apples, and then take to the street in the weirdest costumes they can find. Mrs. Reid and the rest of the mothers have ordered, however, that each one of the little ghosts and goblins must be accompanied by a nursemaid.

This is only one of the many Halloween events today and tonight for the calendar is fairly bristling with all sorts of spooky affairs. Joan's brother, Bryan S. Reid Jr., isn't going to wait until sundown to have his fun. With the rest of the members of his class at the Boys' Latin school he's "dressing up" this morning for a party that will begin at 11 o'clock in the school art room. There will be Peter Connor Jr., William Cooley, Tom Healy, Edwin Kretschmer, Edson Spencer, Dudley Stark Jr., Henry Wadestead Jr., Bernard Williams, "Jinx" Wood Jr., and Gregory Stark, each trying to outdo the other as the best and biggest ghost.

Other Classes
Enjoy Parties.
The second grade at the Boys' Latin school chose a more dignified variety of Halloween celebration. Yesterday the pupils in this grade had a trip through the Transportation exhibits at the World's Fair. On Friday afternoon Mrs. Harry Connor, Mrs. Peter Bachman, Mrs. Morris Yehon, Mrs. Alvin Kramer, and Mrs. Theodore E. Joiner entertained classes four and five at a Halloween party.

There will be a large campfire on the grounds of Mrs. Merrill Hubbard's Woodland road home in Lake Forest this evening, for she is having a celebration for her two little daughters, Marie Merrill and Elizabeth, with a dozen of their young friends as the guests. They're going to have supper in the house and then gather round the fire to roast marshmallows and apples.

The reason the students at Miss Harris' school anticipate Halloween so eagerly is that it is the only holiday in the whole year when they don't receive homework assignments. As soon as the last class is over this afternoon the only thing the upper school pupils have to do is to have a party beginning at 8 o'clock this evening in the ballroom of the Webster hotel. There are going to be games . . . tables of contract for the very grownup young women and their beaux . . . chess, cribbage, and then dancing.

The committee that has been working out the details of the party is composed of Robert Clift, Grant Gardner, Gardner Thomason, Miss Janet Holler, Miss Karen Gardner and Miss Barbara Wright.

Many Parties Will Celebrate Gay Halloween

Jacqueline Rivers, and Miss Betty Swan will be the hostesses this evening when the upper school students at the University School for Girls hold an old-fashioned Halloween dinner in the school dining rooms. There are to be plenty of jack-o'-lanterns, goblins, and ghost stories after dinner. It's an old custom in Winnetka to have all of the children, big and little, gather at the Community house on Halloween night. This year will be no exception. Several hundred are to take part in a party beginning at 7 o'clock this evening with a costume party on the village green. From there they will march about the town and then return to the community house for games and refreshments.

Luncheon for Two Debutantes.

The debutantes of the season will receive in their mail this morning invitations to a luncheon that Mrs. Frederick K. Lawrence of East Chestnut street and Mrs. Ralph Hubbard of Evanston will give on Thursday, Nov. 16, for their debutante daughters, Barbara Lawrence and Charlotte Hubbard. The party, to which only the season's buds are being invited, will be at the Woman's Athletic club. A few of Miss Jeanette Schreiner's close friends have been invited to a luncheon that Mrs. John J. Schreiner is giving for her debutante niece Friday at the Woman's Athletic club. These two clever, talented sisters, Mrs. James W. Rogers and Mrs. John Allen, have been seeing more of each other the last 10 days than they have in weeks. The reason is that they are hard at work on a dialogue they are to give at a party of the Friday club, at 11:30 Friday morning at the Fortnightly. The subject is kept a secret but knowing that Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Allen have written the piece insures its bright humor and repartee.

Berkshire Colony Returns to City.

Miss Gwethalyn Jones, who arrived at home last Saturday from an eastern trip, is moving to her Astor street residence from Lake Forest on Thursday, Miss Jones visited Mrs. Frances L. Conoley at Polly Farm in Great Barrington, Mass., while she was away.

Mrs. Conoley's sister, Mrs. Edward L. Hasler of Lake Forest, who also has been enjoying the autumn in the Berkshires at the Conoleys' beautiful farm, is arriving at home today. Most of the Chicagoans who summer in the Berkshires have closed their houses there and are back in Chicago for the winter months. The Louis Sherman Taylors, who have a place in Lenox, are back in their apartment at 1540 Lake Shore drive; Mrs. Frederick T. West has closed Court Hill, her home in Pittsfield; the Harry C. Holloways are back in Glenview after summering at Tyringham; and the James Ransom Walkers are again at the Ambassador hotel after having spent the summer at their place, Fair Acres, in Stockbridge. They visited their son, Dr. Arthur M. Walker, who is assistant professor of pharmacology at the University of Pennsylvania medical school, on their way home.

Fargos to Move to Winnetka.

The Edward A. Fargos Jr. spent a busy week-end in town, for they were dismantling their apartment on Belle-plaine preparatory to moving to Winnetka permanently, and also trying to say good-bye to their friends, many of whom had cocktails with them Saturday afternoon in the midst of packing boxes and barrels. The Fargos occupied the "Goddard Club" house in Winnetka all summer, but they are returning to town this fall, but they and their very young son like suburban life so much they changed their plans and gave up their apartment and arranged to occupy the Cheney house all winter. Mrs. Philip Lorend Reed will arrive home next Tuesday from the Reeds' summer home at Marion, Mass. According to the letter that Mrs. Bryan S. Reid has received from her daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Reid, who sailed ten days ago for a winter in Munich at Miss Weaver's school, the crossing was perfect. Miss Reid's younger sister, Margot, is away at school also. She is attending the Concord academy at Concord, Mass.

Lieut. John Hinton Surprises Relatives.

Lieut. John Hinton surprised his family and the Charles Freeman Flittes last week-end by making a hurried trip down from Mackinac, Lieut. Hinton, who married Betty Flittes, in one of the army officers assigned to the Civilian Conservation corps and his post at present is Mackinac. He expects that he will be moved very shortly to Bay City, Mich. The only hardship of the work, Mrs. Hinton explains, is that wives are not allowed. Mrs. Hinton is at Fort Sheridan. Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Mulford, who have spent the summer abroad, are arriving at home this morning. As soon as they are settled in their apartment on East Delaware place, Mrs. Mulford expects her niece, Miss Evelyn Mott, to come and visit her for a month or so. Miss Mott's parents, the Russell Motts, and her brothers, John and Joseph W. Mott, moved from Highland Park to Charlottesville, Va., a few years ago. Cutler, however, is working in Chicago at present.

Mrs. Augustus Healy Guest of Peabodys.

Mrs. Augustus Healy of Southern Pines, N. C., is visiting her husband's sister and brother-in-law, the Stuyvesant Peabodys. She has been here for a week or so and will remain with the Peabodys a day or so longer. Then she is going to Lake Forest to visit the John Andrews Kings and the Laurence Armours for ten days. Mrs. Healy is being entertained frequently but very informally.

At present the Peabodys are planning to remain in Chicago for the winter. Both of their sons, Stuyvesant Jr. and Patrick H. Peabody, are studying here this year.

Star Brightens Many Southern Bed Coverlets

FRENCH STAR.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"French Star," our quilt pattern for today, was brought to New Orleans by French settlers in the earliest days of Louisiana's history. Its popularity throughout the south has never diminished, a fact easily understood since the design is so striking and so easy to execute.

For a quilt pattern in this design send 5 cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, who have been cruising in foreign waters on board their yacht the Alva, will return soon and will be at Eagle's Beak, their Centerville place, before going south. Mrs. Vanderbilt's brother Robert Lancaster, who was in France, is returning with them.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark are making a late autumn stay at their estate in Westbury and have not yet made plans to open Staveley lodge, their place, near the English home in the Melton Mowbray hunting district, in England. They may go abroad later in the winter.

Seward Webb Pulitzer Jr., grandson of the late Joseph Pulitzer, has joined the ranks of amateur aviation enthusiasts. He has purchased a Stinson Reliant airplane, which he keeps at Roosevelt field, where he has been learning to fly. Mr. and Mrs. Pulitzer have been occupying the James Cunningham estate in Church lane, Locust valley, this season.

Phoenix, Ariz., is in store for Mrs. Howard S. Smith and her two young daughters, Margaret and Josephine. They will leave next Wednesday. Meantime the Smiths' large home on Prospect avenue in Highland Park will not be deserted, for Mr. Smith and the Van Gorchs' home (Emily Smith) will be there for the winter, and the popular "Nan" Smith, more formally known as Marion, will be in Highland Park for a while, although her plans are very flexible.

Mrs. John T. H. Mitchell, a former Chicagoan, and her daughter, Miss Anne Mitchell, have motored here from their home in Greenwich, Conn., and are at the Drake hotel while they are seeing friends and the Fair.

James Allen Turners to Live in Winnetka.

Mr. and Mrs. James Allen Turner have returned to Chicago to live. Since their marriage four or five years ago they have been living near Memphis, but now they have taken a house in Winnetka on Roxdale avenue, into which they are moving tomorrow. They have been staying with Mrs. Turner's parents, the Charles F. Mather-Smiths, in Highland Park. Mrs. Turner's two little girls are with her, Jennifer de Bujac and little Jane Ann Turner.

As soon as the Turners are settled the Mather-Smiths are going down to their Florida home in the winter. Miss Ann Mather-Smith, who is in present visiting in Troy, N. Y., will go south with her parents. The Mather-Smiths' son, Charles F. Mather-Smith III, and his wife, the former Winifred Cagney, and their baby, Charles III, are living in Oakland, Fla.

Mrs. Clara Keck Hefebower of Cincinnati, president of the National League of American Penwomen, is the house guest of Mrs. Frank G. Logan of 1150 Lake Shore drive. Two of the Logans' sons—Waldo, whose home is in Los Angeles, and Howard, who lives in New York—are visiting their parents now, and Spencer, another son who lives in the east, was here last week for brief stay.

"Life Begins at Forty" or when? will be discussed by Dr. Horace J. Bridges at the first of five lectures at the Fortnightly this morning at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, Mrs. Edward F. Carry, Mrs. William S. Jenks, Mrs. Louis B. Latta, Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine, Mrs. Edward S. Butler, Mrs. C. Frederick Childs, Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. H. Newton Hudson, and Mrs. Louis B. Taylor are a few of those who will hear this morning's lecture.

Party of Maternity Center Auxiliary.

Members of the North Shore auxiliary of the Chicago Maternity center are to have a tea and musical at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert I. Appleton, 2735 Sheridan road, Evanston. Miss Frances Anderson of Winnetka is to give the program, assisted by a trio of north shore musicians. Assisting Mrs. Appleton as hostess will be Mrs. Jason Whitney and Mrs. Oliver Blackburn.

Maude Phelps Hutchins' exhibition at the Chester Johnson galleries in the Fine Arts building has been so popular that it is to be continued another week. Those who have made purchases from the exhibition are leaving them in the show until it is over.

With summer weather marking the end of October, it scarcely seems timely to talk about winter festivities, yet the program received yesterday from the Skokie Country club makes us wish for cool weather. Starting off on Armistice day, the club is to have its winter festival with dancing, starting at 9 and continuing on into the evening. On Nov. 25, homecoming night will be celebrated, and Dec. 9 has been set as the date of a bowery dance. There's to be a skating carnival on Jan. 20 and then, in striking contrast, a Palm Beach party the evening of Jan. 27. On March 10 the members will spend their evening in Moscow and in Russia.

German Star Admires Simple Type of Beauty

Says She Likes Naturalness in Color Symphony.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

HOLLYWOOD.—[Special.]—Dorthea Wieck, beautiful screen star, who is causing a sensation in "Cradle Song" after being introduced to America in "Mädchen in Uniform" is a devout believer in the value of simplicity in beauty.

Miss Wieck is fortunate enough to possess typical Viennese features, finely chiseled and daintily colored, large blue-gray eyes with heavy lashes, and dark curling brown hair, with a beautifully shaped hairline. She uses no make-up, and lacks the colored lacquered nails so commonly seen. Her beauty is of the pastel type that would be utterly ruined by the use of vivid colorings in make-up.

"I have always refused to change the color of my hair," says Miss Wieck. "I think it is so wrong to disturb the natural color symphony nature has created for each person. I feel the same about changing the shape of my eyebrows; the symmetry of lines in the face is disturbed. Women achieve weird and different effects by shaving their brows, and changing the shape of them, but I do not think they make themselves more beautiful this way."

That European mothers have trouble, as well as American mothers, in the matter of growing girls and make-up, is an interesting bit of news contributed by Miss Wieck. She says: "When I was a growing girl in Germany, many of the girls at the age of 16 were beginning to dab their lips with rouge, and wear highly colored fingernail polish."

"My mother was most severe about this, and would not allow me or my sister to imitate the other girls. She said to us, 'You are old enough to begin to learn the value of holding your own opinion in the face of the opinion of other people. You must learn to dare to be different, to hold to what you know is better fast. Your own individuality is valuable, more valuable than anything you could possibly borrow. When you are 18, and old enough for these extreme modes, you will not want them. She was right; neither my sister nor I employ vivid make-up. If mothers would show their girls these things, girls would live to thank them for it as I have.'"

Miss Wieck, a German baroness in private life, has that gentility which is being more and more valued in screen work. The culture of a good upbringing, and educational advantages, show in the softly modulated voice, the poise, and the controlled grace of her movements. Nothing is out of focus in the complete picture. About simplicity in clothes, she says:

"Mother considered it wise to accustom us to dressing plainly. In our school days, we were almost severely dressed. Many children with less means than we had were more elaborately dressed. This discipline has borne fruit. I think the commonest fault of women who strive for effect in clothes is to be over elaborate. There is an effect to be gained from simplicity, far more striking than that of any elaborate costume. Simplicity is far more dramatic."

Phoenix, Ariz., is in store for Mrs. Howard S. Smith and her two young daughters, Margaret and Josephine. They will leave next Wednesday. Meantime the Smiths' large home on Prospect avenue in Highland Park will not be deserted, for Mr. Smith and the Van Gorchs' home (Emily Smith) will be there for the winter, and the popular "Nan" Smith, more formally known as Marion, will be in Highland Park for a while, although her plans are very flexible.

THE STAGE

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

A change of band leader and master of ceremonies marks this week's vaudeville activities at the State-Lake theater. Al Kvale, well known to the jazz band-conscious millions of this region, succeeds Vernon Buck—and the show goes on as before. To one who has come to the point where all of these popular heroes look alike and sound alike, Mr. Kvale seems to be a pleasant fellow who knows his trade and is therefore undistinguishable from the other members of his guild.

Joan Abbott, who was Ethel Merman's successor in "Take a Chance," is the featured singer of the program. Sybil Bowan, formerly a dancer in musical comedies, such as "Rose Marie," contributes vividly to the entertainment by burlesquing the Dietrich, Greer Garbo, Gloria Swanson, Ethel Barrymore, and Mae West. She has an effective knack for caricature, but she misses the easily satirized Miss Barrymore completely. Al Herman, veteran blackface comedian, is also active on the bill.

Phil Baker, now in his second week at the Palace theater, offers a new revue, and introduces a fresh group of vaudeville acts which includes Irene Beauty, a singer of the radio programs. Sally Rand is pretending to conceal her figure behind a pair of oriental feather fans for a farewell week at the Chicago theater. After this engagement comes Hollywood—and a farewell to fans.

Constance Collier, who spent the summer in "Dinner at Eight" at the Grand Opera house, has sailed for Europe to appear in revival of Noel Coward's "Hay Fever," which will be directed by the author. . . . Cornelia Otis Skinner has started a tour that will probably bring her into Chicago. Her vaudeville character sketches are called "The Loves of Charles II."

Busy Mother Should Choose Maid Carefully

Offspring Become Unruly Under Poor Tutelage.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Having received many helpful suggestions from your column in the past for which I'd like to thank you, I am coming to you now for some personal help. I shall try to be brief.

"In your column today you touched on all the things my four year old does—says 'no,' doesn't obey, strikes at anyone who doesn't please him, and no amount of reasoning or even an occasional spanking does any good, for he will say he is sorry and in a few minutes the same performance is gone through."

"Now I am particularly anxious and worried, as I go to business every day. Would you be kind enough to send me any booklets you have that I might read with the maid so we could have an intelligent plan for making him comfortable and ungrudging. It seems to me he is being continually told to stop doing something which he should have learned—because it is the same petty thing day after day. He is a four year old boy—the tall thin type that is never still for a minute. He burns up so much energy that he welcomes his midday nap. If he were unruffled and stolid I wouldn't worry, but I do not want to think that I haven't tried to make his life simple and sweet."

A number of letters similar to this one have come in recently—letters from mothers who are away from home all day on business, telling how unruly their children are becoming or how, if they are little, they misbehave when mother gets home at night.

There may be various causes for this. First the children may be in charge of some one during the day who does not understand them or is unable to manage them. They may be at an age where they are old enough to resent their mother's absence. Or they may be younger and try, unconsciously, to gain as much of her attention as possible when she is home by misbehaving. "Acting-up" is always a good "attention-getter." There are other reasons and out to this very difficult situation which would all much more space than this column.

About all I can suggest is first—get the right person to care for your child. Second, try to learn how to manage him yourself and help your housekeeper or maid to do so. Third, try some reading matter. We have booklets on young children and the inbetween (the sevens to twelves) which might prove helpful. A stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring any one of these to you.

Pop Eye packs a wallop for ringside advertisers

It ran in The Comic Weekly on Christmas Day, last year, and it's still pulling! It was a page on Woodbury's Soap, a product primarily for women, and a 25-cent soap at that! Its appeal was sophisticated. Its accent was on smartness. It told a complete reason-why story, with plenty of straight reading matter.

It made two offers for the reader to choose between. One was a straight free coupon offer, a cake of Woodbury's Soap. The other required the enclosure of 10 cents with every coupon for a week-end kit.

And the last report, with coupons still coming in, showed that the offer requiring cash with the order had outpulled the free coupon better than 3 to 2!

Chalk up another for Pop-Eye and his pals in The Comic Weekly—another record of success to add to its long list already to their credit! It will pay you, Mr. Manufacturer, to study this list. It can't be dismissed. It's available. Why not take a look at it today?

It isn't claims, it isn't theory—it's results that have jumped advertisers from one page to full schedules in The Comic Weekly—results you're welcome to study.

POP-EYE is a hero with millions. Many a presidential candidate would welcome the friendship of as many people. He packs a greater wallop than Dempsey ever had, but he's kind and gentle to youngsters. And when Pop-Eye tells them to eat spinach he gets more results than all the doctors in America.

A ringside seat in more than 5 million homes is a seat worth having! There Pop-Eye and his pals in The Comic Weekly, distributed through the 17 great Hearst Sunday newspapers, hold more than 15 million spectators breathless with interest.

Who reads The Comic Weekly? Everyone! Because it has an appeal everyone can understand. Children? They eat up every line, every word. And they're the world's best salesmen for any advertiser who knows how to use them to get his product into a home. Grown-ups? An actual survey shows that 72% of all women and 68% of all men regularly read the comics!

To them it's loves, laughs, thrills and tears—the great common denominators of human interest—the fundamentals of all entertainment.

But it's a 100% business proposition to the forty-odd advertisers who regularly use The Comic Weekly. They get their results in good cold cash, or they wouldn't stay.

Get the facts! You're free to look over an impressive mass of evidence any time you say. A call to Columbus 5-2642 in New York, or Superior 6820 in Chicago, will bring you something to think about!

In The Comic Weekly... "Puck"... which is distributed with the 17 great Hearst Sunday newspapers, you meet Tillie the Toiler, Jiggs, Boob McNutt, Barney Google, Felix the Cat, Skippy, Pop-Eye, Toots and Casper, Little Jimmy—yes, and those old favorites, the Katzenjammers!

With these tremendous features—and smaller strips by the same artists in addition—is it any wonder that more than five million families follow The Comic Weekly "Puck" zealously every week?

What an advertising opportunity full pages in The Comic Weekly offer!

BY EDWARD BURNS.
The cyclists performing in the six day affair at the Chicago Stadium followed their art with great zeal yesterday. They even went so far as to steal 38 laps during the usual peaceful afternoon sports and following up with the theft of 74 laps between 9 and 11 o'clock for the education of the evening customers.

The eagerness of the athletes resulted in the lead changing numerous times, but who the 11 o'clock sprinter got under way.

Tony Schaller, of our own beautiful city, and David Lands, a New Jersey boy, who were leading at the close of the matinee endeavor, were back in front, tied in mileage at the end of the 26th hour with Ewald Wissel, Jimmy Walther and Tino Reboul-Giovanni Manera. A matter of five sprint-points separated the top three performers.

Sheehan Takes Spill.
McNamara and Winter, who were allowed to gain a flock of laps during the lull without much of a challenge, and Dempsey and Thomas, who did some nice riding throughout the day and night, composed the second flight. One team, Sheehan and Crossley, formed the third division, despite the fact that Sheehan was the worst spill victim of last night. He fell on the south flat and slid about 50 feet, picking up many spins in the process. Two physicians required more than 15 minutes to dig lumber out of Jackie, the race being suspended in so far as jamming was concerned while the plucking was done.

These flights included some of the very best riders in the six day profession, were grouped four laps back of the leaders.

This flight included the team of Al Letourner and Torchy Peden, and Norman Hill and Gene Debaets, generally considered the class of the field. These teams didn't seem to mind much when the other teams were leading the jams, but when Al and Torchy tried to lap Norman and Gerard, or vice versa, the best thrills of the evening immediately developed.

Boys Are Scheming.
The surprise of the race was the leading of Frans Dempsey and Bill Grimm in last place, all by themselves, and six laps behind the leaders. Both seem in fine shape and their talents are well known. This led to suspicions that they were laying back, storing up for some very wicked work in the race now many are watching.

At the start of the evening's enterprise Lands and Schaller were in the lead on points, but tied with Dempsey, Thomas in mileage. After the start of the 9 o'clock sprint there was a change in the lead, but at 10 o'clock Lands and Schaller were back in the lead, this time without any mileage associates—in fact, their nearest opponents were two laps behind them.

Jam After Jam.
Jamming continued throughout the evening, and when they ended at 10:52 o'clock Lands and Schaller still were leading by a margin of two laps. There was no letup in the jousting after the sprint had been run, and at 10 o'clock the following were the top flight: Lands-Schaller remained in the lead, but on points only, in a mileage tie with Wissel-Walther and Reboul-Manera. Sheehan-Crossley, holders of the greatest number of sprint points, 67, were in fourth place.

As the race turned into its 26th hour after 10 o'clock, Wissel-Walther and Dempsey-Thomas did some great riding in jams precipitated by unfriendly clashes between Letourner-Peden and Debaets-Hill, and at 10:05 these teams were leading the race.

The biggest and best jam of the first 26 hours of the race had the customers howling continuously from 10:05 till 10:23. At the end of the period Lands-Schaller and Dempsey-Thomas were tied for the lead, and seven minutes later they were reformed by Wissel-Walther.

BROUILLARD IS OUTPOINTED IN 15 ROUND BOUT

Lou's Rushes.

Fight Decisions

At White City—Joey Kleke and Mickey Jay drew (5); Johnny Liston beat Elmer Haskins (5); Gene Salvatore beat Art Demarco (4); Harry Bourne beat Paddy Weller (4); Al Schlaro and Al Capuly drew (4). At Houston, Tex.—Johnny Risko knocked out Big Boy Peterson (1). At La Salle, Ill.—Jackie Sharkey beat Young Gene (1). At Asheville, N. C.—Buck Everett beat Charley Belanger (10). At Saginaw, Mich.—Lou Scossa beat Johnny Vorce (10); Holman Williams beat Joe Dempsey (10). At Jacksonville, Fla.—Lope Tenorio and Cliff Brown drew (10). At Boston—Vince Dundee beat Lou Brouillard (15).

Boston, Mass., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Vince Dundee, Baltimore veteran, tonight stripped Lou Brouillard of his newly won middleweight title by a side stepping move of his savage rushes and driving him back with a light but effective right to the head in their 15 round engagement.

In giving the Dundee family its second title as champions, ship, for Brother Joe was a recent wearer of the welterweight crown. Vince, a former boxer, was moved from his side to escape the Worcester youth's furious lunge he ripped a looping right to Lou's head.

Edge in Eight Rounds.
These blows did not bother Brouillard in the slightest, but they went for points, and when the monotonous contest ended he had enough to give him a slight lead in eight of the rounds. The verdict, handed down by Referee Johnny Martin and Judges Joe O'Connor and Frank Montgomery, was unanimous.

Brouillard started the initial defense of his middleweight honors as a top heavy favorite. He fought in his usual aggressive style, but was so baffled when the canny Italian refused either to take his rushes head-on or backing away, that he failed to land a really effective blow as to drop the second championship of his brief but brilliant career.

Can't Keep Titles.
Brouillard's performance startled him as only a title custodian. Two years ago he beat Jackie Thompson here for the welterweight title but three months later he was beaten by Joe O'Connor in his first championship start. He was whipped by Jackie Fields in Chicago. The Worcester French-Canadian gained the 160 pound crown by belting out Ben Jely in New York only two months ago.

Neither the new nor the old champion was able to thrill the crowd, officially set at 9,830, with a single effective punch. Dundee kept waving a relaxed left arm before Brouillard's face and the latter, although he strained throughout, was only able to put on a body attack that was never long sustained. There was not a knockdown, or a threat of one.

Gate Is $15,021.
Gate receipts were $15,021.50. Brouillard received a customary 17 1/2 per cent and, in addition to the title, Dundee received the challenger's 12 1/2 per cent also.

JOHNNY VORCE

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Lou Scossa, Buffalo light heavyweight, won the decision over Johnny Vorce, of Detroit, tonight by virtue of his showing in the tenth and final round of their fight. Referee George Miller said the fighters were even at the end of the ninth round, but Scossa's showing in the final round decided the issue. Scossa weighed in at 173 pounds and Vorce at 171.

In the 10 round semi-final bout, Egan Williams of Detroit won the decision over Joe Dempsey of Buffalo. Williams and Dempsey both weighed in at 127 pounds.

Everett Gets Decision
Over Charley Belanger

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Buck Everett of Gary, Ind., punched out a ten round decision over Charley Belanger of Winnipeg, Man., heavy weight champion of Canada, tonight. Joe Lipps, 172, Charlotte, N. C., earned a draw in eight rounds of punishment with Johnny Miller, 174, of Detroit, Mich., an Olympic finalist in 1932.

Harold Pierce Appointed
Treasurer of U. S. G. A.

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Harold W. Pierce of Boston, today was appointed treasurer of the United States Golf association to succeed Charles E. Smith who died several days ago.

CHICAGO RACING SEASON COMES TO AN END TODAY

on Thoroughbred Sport.

BY FRENCH LANE.
There seem to be a lot of Chicago racers who are not showing any profit on the season and who are trying desperately to get even as the curtain starts to roll down.

More than 10,000—maybe all of them were not losers—jammed into the Sportman's Park course yesterday afternoon on the next to the last day of the Illinois racing season. The end of the season comes at dusk today, when the Illinois law automatically closes the gates of all the tracks in the state.

The folks who tried to get even on the favorites didn't do very well and went home deeper in the hole than when they started. Neither were the long shot players able to put over a real good one. The horses that were winning were the second, third, and fourth choices. Only an extremely lucky fellow can beat 'em under such conditions.

Joe Still Hopes for Killing.
Joe Allen, the Cincinnati plunger who still is hanging on like a bulldog trying to make the No. 1 horse in the second kick in the No. 1 horse in the third in the daily double, didn't close close. He's been trying to make the combination since all summer and has failed, but he says they'll do it today and that after both of them win and he cashes his tickets he will be all set for the winter.

The Stokely handicap was the best race on yesterday's program and it was arranged to decide the 2 year old championship of the Sportman's Park season. If a championship was at stake, then Coplan, a son of Sun Fal-Eau Di Nu, owned by the St. Louis stable, is entitled to wear the crown. He trailed Galloway and Fire Star until the field hit the head of the stretch.

Then Jockey Tilden gave him a couple of slashes with the leather and three good kicks in the ribs. Coplan bounded on past his rivals, soon was a length in front, and finally beat Fire Star by three lengths. Para Four finished last but the best he could do was third, a length and a half back of Fire Star.

Chicagoans Bet and Lose.
Para Four and Fire Star both are Chicago juveniles and the great majority of those in the crowd had wagered on one or the other. There also was stout support for Burydies and Sunlight, two other Chicago youngsters, but neither figured in the battle at any stage.

Coplan's time was quite remarkable over the fast track as he wheeled around the short turns and reeled off the five furlongs in 1:30.5, less than a second off the track record. He is a good sized chestnut and takes a long stride, but that did not seem to handicap him going around the turns.

The daily double paid quite a healthy price when Fast Move led all the way to win the second race and was second in the third. The double paid off at $76.58. Fast Move was the No. 5 horse and Tennywood lucky No. 7.

CHARITY RACE
CARD AT LAUREL
ATTRACTS $5,500

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 30.—(AP)—With outsiders taking seven of the eight races, Charity was the chief winner at Laurel today, where the Maryland State Fair association held the first of two days of thoroughbred racing for the benefit of the state's needy.

Although no figures were available on today's program, $5,500 fans packed their way into the track to do their part in helping boost the state's fund.

Western Golf Association Re-elects Mrs. H. D. Raymond

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
Mrs. Howard D. Raymond of the Evanston Golf club yesterday was re-elected president of the Women's Western Golf association at its annual meeting.

Other officers for the ensuing year include Mrs. W. W. Hodgson of Oak Park, first vice president; Mrs. J. Lennox Nairn of Summit Ridge, second vice president; Mrs. C. W. Secher of Westwood, Ho., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Don Hamilton of Beverly, recording secretary; and Mrs. C. B. Willard of Exmore, treasurer.

The association's championship tournament for 1934 was awarded to the Los Angeles Country club, Los Angeles, Cal., and the annual open tournament to the Portland Golf club of Portland, Ore.

The Ranier Golf club of Seattle, Wash., will be the scene of the par trophy event, and both the Derby, the association's medal play tournament, and the junior championship, will be decided over Chicago district courses. Dates for these events will be withheld until after the annual meeting of the United States Golf association in January.

The rating of Miss Virginia Van Wie of Beverly, who won her second consecutive national women's championship at Exmore in September was raised to two plus by the association.

Penas City Player Wins
Handicap Golfers' Tourney.
The first annual national championship of the Handicap Golfers' Association of America was decided yesterday with the announcement that John Bass of the Conoco Golf club of Ponca City, Okla., had won the title.

Bass, who has a handicap of three strokes, won in a playoff with nine other golfers throughout the country, finishing the final 36 holes with a card of 149—145, one under par at Conoco.

W. F. Zentler of Beardsdale, N. Y., would be beaten by Carnegie Tech and Pittsburgh.

Southern California, which started like a whirlwind, had difficulty beating St. Mary's, was tied by Oregon State, which it beat last season 10 to 0, and downed California 6 to 3 only when Warburton got loose toward the end. In 1932 the Golden Bears lost 30 to 7.

So far as The Wake is concerned it is a happy to have our forecasting percentage suffer if that result is because eleven are better balanced and it is more difficult to pick them. To assure we are not overwrought on the subject and really like present conditions, our average of winners to losers, ties eliminated, to date is .770. Last year at a similar time it was .775.

Football Retrospect.

HESTON REJOINS WOLVERINES FOR GAME WITH ILLINI

Squad Works on Defense to Stop Passes.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Full advantage of Indian summer weather was taken by Michigan's coaching staff today when it gave the squad its first look at some of Illinois' plays. The workout was chiefly of a defensive nature, against the passes that Scout Wally Weber has seen Jack Beynon throw.

With a few exceptions the entire squad was out for work today. Westcott was careful of the cut over his left eye, Borgmann was nursing a bruised arm and a few other reported bruises, but serious injuries were lacking.

It was said Jack Heston would be able to play again Saturday and the East Tennessean, senior quarter back who suffered a broken collarbone in the Cornell game, would report for practice a week hence and be ready for game duty by Nov. 15, the date of the Minnesota game.

ILLINI SUBS GET CHANCE.
Champaign, Ill., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The Illinois regulars drove hard to day in scrimmages for the Michigan game here Saturday. The first stringers showed the mental and physical benefits of their rest last week and needed little urging as they rehearsed the attack that Zupke has designed for the Wolverines.

Zupke gave much time to several substitutes whose fighting qualities have impressed him. Chuck Galbreath, 170 pound sophomore, was used as tackle. Galbreath is light for the position, but his quickness and drive makes it certain he will figure in the Wolverine game.

Capt. Herm Walser, one of the best defensive players on the squad, continued to center and will serve as understudy to Ben.

Crain Fortman, who scored on the freshmen Saturday, is coming rapidly and may even threaten Frank Froeschauer's berth at left half back. Fortman is fast in a broken field but has been held back two years by injuries. Frank Leonette, sophomore quarter back, who ran 70 yards through the freshmen, is another speedster who is coming to the front.

IOWA TEAM BATTERED.
Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Preparations for the neighborhood scrap between the University of Iowa and Iowa State college football squads were halted in the Hawkeye camp today, after Coach Omerie Solem looked over his squad.

All of the Iowa first string players were stiff and sore from the Minnesota game, and Rudolf Meyer, sophomore tackle, was in the hospital with a groin infection. The infection developed from a knee injury sustained in an early practice. Joe Laws and Russ Fisher had bad shoulder bruises, and Fred Radloff had several teeth missing.

Solem substituted a long chalk talk in place of the regular drill but planned to hold a blocking and tackling session tomorrow.

Saturday's game will mark the resumption of football relations between the two schools after a lapse of 13 years. The series was discontinued in 1920 because the rivalry became too intense. Fieghts among the players and spectators marked the final games.

JOE SAVOLDI IS
BUTTING DEAN

New York, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football star, was disqualified for butting in his scheduled 30 minute wrestling match with Man Mountain Dean, a burly 300 pound giant, at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Referee Arthur Donovan gave Dean the match, when he went down writhing in agony under a flying tackle. The disqualification came as a surprise in view of the fact the flying tackle has become one of the favorite weapons of attack in the modern catch as catch can revival.

Ever See a Ghost Dash for Touchdown? An Author Can

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Copyright 1933 by The Chicago Tribune.
New York, Oct. 30.—If my breathing, moving document about the Army-Yale game last Saturday p. m. seemed to miss some of the highlights of the contest, may I be allowed to explain, please, that it was due to the fact that between glances at the players who were performing down there on the carpet in the actual, living meat, I was straining my eyes in an effort to catch a few squints of those ghosts of yesterday who are always tearing up and down those hallowed grounds on autumn afternoons?

Now, me, personally, I had never laid eyes on any of those spooks, and I had always intended to make a special point of looking them up some time because I am a sport writer with eyes to see and space next to pure reading matter in which to tell the circulation all about it, and it was made me sore to be scooped year after year on such things. But never yet had I caught me so much as a fleeting fancy word, meaning fast! peek at the ghost of Win Lovejoy, or the ghost of Lefty Flynn, or the ghost of—nope, wait a minute. I was going to say the ghost of Charlie Brickley, but Brickley's ghost runs up and down the field at Harvard.

A Ghost? No, Just Fog.
Anyway, at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, or wherever, I never saw me any of those ghosts, although I do remember one time up at Yale when a cloud of mist came up off the turf, which is filled in land on an old salt water bog, and I asked a fellow if that was the ghost of the team of destiny. He told me no, this mist was just coming in, and anyway, the team of destiny was a Princeton team. I should have remembered that myself, but you know how you will slip up sometimes. Carpenter was the orchid man, Michigan's team was the point a minute team. Red Grange was the galloping phantom. Dempsey was the of Manassas mauler, and Babe Ruth was, and is, the of Bambino. Am I right?

Well, so last Saturday I settled down and said to myself, to hell with the football game, and I am going to search around and around from now till dark, and if any of those steam clouds start galloping up and down the field they aren't going to scoop me this time I was looking for steam clouds, because my only idea of the appearance of a ghost is just what I learned when I was starting out to be a newspaper comic artist away back in yesterday.

When you draw a ghost in a picture you make a sort of swirling spiral of vapor, something like a conventional Kansas twister, with a fuzzy cloud on top and a face drawn into the cloud. Then you label the cloud "Furde Jim," or "over-confidence" or "Pop Warner."

Nobody Sees One.
But I was alert to spot any spooks in whatever guise they might show up and I will say that for once, though I didn't see any myself, I got at least a draw, because nobody scooped me on any.

In fact, during the intermission, I turned to Mr. Robert Harron, who knows pretty much of what it is all about in football and said, "Up to now have you happened to see the ghost of Hinky Haines out there rallying and inspiring the Bulldog breed to the heights and storm the ramparts of glory?"

"Hinky Haines?" Mr. Harron said. "What for would the ghost of Hinky Haines be rallying and exhorting the Bulldog breed?"

"Hinky Haines?" Mr. Harron said. "What for would the ghost of Hinky Haines be rallying and exhorting the Bulldog breed?"

"I mean Hinky Dink," I said hastily. "I mean the immortal Hinky Dink who weighed only 85 pounds and fought his way to the heights of undying fame among the giants of yesterday."

"Hinky Dink," said Mr. Harron, "is a politician who used to run a dump in Chicago. What in the hell is the matter with you, anyway?"

"He means Frank Hinky," said Mr. Paul Barnett, the Yale press agent. "No, Frank Hinky's ghost isn't out there today. Hinky's ghost has got [Continued on page 21, column 4.]

N. U. Roused
for Encounter with Gophers

Still possessing confidence in their own prowess, despite the Ohio State setback, Northwestern's football players will prepare this week to face the twelfth but undefeated Minnesota eleven which invades Dwyce stadium Saturday.

The Wildcats vision an opportunity of regaining a lot of lost prestige by turning back the Gophers, who are not out of the title race, in spite of their tie games with Indiana and Purdue. The Gophers' position in which the Northwestern and back Iowa last Saturday indicates that they have hit a scoring stride which was absent in their earlier games.

Wildcats Take Rest.
Coach Dick Hanley gave his Wildcats a day of rest yesterday, not even the reserves being called out for practice. Starting today, however, intensive drills will get under way for Saturday's engagement.

The main objective in the Wildcat camp this week will be to drill the safety men on handling punts. Weakness in this department has been noticeable in most of Northwestern's games all season, and it reached a new high again when the team was out of its own half in the game with Ohio. Over 5,000 Minnesota followers will be in the stands Saturday. The Minnesota band of 100 pieces will also make the trip, according to Director McCormick.

CHALK TALK FOR GOPHERS.
Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—A chalk talk, with Assistant Coach Red Dawson in charge, was the latest of the University of Minnesota football squad's practice today. Otherwise, the players drew a day of complete rest as reward for their 19 to 7 victory over Iowa Saturday.

Dawson, who scouted Northwestern, declared it was an improved team. He found that Northwestern outplayed Ohio State through most of Saturday's game.

Tomorrow the Gophers will go back to work. They will leave Thursday night for Evanston. All of the players are in good condition.

Everhardus Keeps
Scoring 49 Points

Booting two extra points and scoring one touchdown against Chicago, Herman Everhardus, fleet Michigan half back, continued to lead the Big Ten individual scorers with 49 points.

Although he or his team failed to score in the last two games, Jay Berwanger of Chicago, held second place with 35 points. Johnny Laws of Iowa, didn't score against Minnesota, but he remained in a tie for third place with 24 points.

The leaders:

All sophomores. These three new men, Seidel, quarter back; Alfonso, half back, and Belsie, full back, all beat out veterans for their positions.

Interest in the Gopher eleven is running high in Minneapolis and a large crowd of rooters will follow the team on its Evanston invasion. Tug Wilson, Northwestern athletic director, received a telephone call from Frank McCormick, the Gopher athletic head, requesting more tickets for the game. Over 5,000 Minnesota followers will be in the stands Saturday. The Minnesota band of 100 pieces will also make the trip, according to Director McCormick.

CARNEGIE TECH PERILS' PURDUE SCORING STRING

Boilermakers Tally in 44
Straight Games.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Purdue's record for touchdowns in consecutive games may come to an abrupt end here Saturday when the Boilermakers tackle the undefeated and unscathed Carnegie Tech eleven that boasts a veteran forward wall.

Scoring one or more touchdowns in 44 straight games, the Boilermakers have set something of a modern record for touchdown efficiency. The Carnegie eleven, coached by Howard Harpster, has demonstrated defensive strength in trimming Notre Dame and Pop Warner's Temple eleven. So Purdue's prospects for extending its record another game have anything but a rosy hue.

Unbeaten in 18 Games.

The tricky Carnegie eleven will not only endanger the Boilermakers' string of touchdowns, which was started in the 1928 season, but is granted a good chance of snapping the string of games without defeat. When Purdue trimmed Wisconsin Saturday, it marked the eighteenth straight game without defeat, although there have been two ties in the string.

Under the guiding hand of Howard Harpster, the Tartans have made an impressive showing against major foes so far this season and their record of three victories and one tie matches the Boilermakers standing to date.

Carnegie Is Powerful.

Against the well balanced Boilermaker back field that has been gaining ground in great strides all season, Carnegie will throw an equally well balanced group of ball carriers that features Angelo Bevevino, quarter back, whose passing beat Notre Dame, and Joe Milham, a hard hitting full back.

Branchau Available

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Last week's shakeup having brought out the best football of which Notre Dame's seniors are capable, Coach Harty Anderson announced today that he probably will start his veterans against Navy at Baltimore Saturday.

He ordered a light drill, which consisted mainly of touch football and informal passing practice.

Ray Branchau, right half back who was injured in Saturday's game, will be able to play against the Middle, Anderson said. Branchau was named captain for that game today. First examination indicated that Branchau had suffered two broken ribs, but X-ray pictures show only that the cartilage between the two ribs had been torn. Although the injury is painful, it is not particularly serious.

Branchau Good Ball Carrier.

Branchau is a senior from Monroe, Mich. He has played the best ball of his career this season, paving the way for long runs by Nick Lukate, Andy Pliney, and Don Eber. He is also a good ball carrier and pass receiver.

The Irish lineup Saturday will probably find Rayman Bonar at quarter back but Anderson said he plans to use Tony Mazzotti and perhaps Frank Gaul, both sophomores, after he finds out what plays will probably work best.

The records show that Notre Dame lost the first three games of its football history, but has not lost three in a row since then. They also show that the Notre Dame teams have never been held scoreless three games running. Carnegie Tech won, 7 to 0, a week ago and Pitt won, 14 to 0 Saturday.

Navy Regulars Rest.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Navy players who took part in the Pennsylvania game Saturday were excused from field work today as preparations began for the Notre Dame game, to be played in Baltimore Saturday.

Navy supporters see the best chance they have ever had of winning from Notre Dame after defeats in six successive seasons, but the coaches realize that much must be done this week in strengthening weak spots, notably passing and defense against passes.

The team emerged from the Pennsylvania game much encouraged and without serious injuries. Jimmy Fulp, Murray's first substitute, injured an ankle, but should be back in practice by the middle of the week. Red Baumbarger, half back, received a badly skinned nose and blackened eye, but is ready to go.

PLAN LARGEST STATE BASKET MEET IN WINTER

Basketball teams of all descriptions, church, clubs, fraternities, industrials and free lance, both boys and girls, will compete for state honors this winter. It will be the largest of its kind ever held. It will be sponsored by the Illinois State Basketball association.

R. G. Umbright, basketball coach of Lane Technical High school and chairman of the Chicago High School Basketball league, heads the executive board.

Teams entering this tournament are assured of a full season of games as convenient geographical brackets will be formed, each playing out its own schedule of games, to determine sectional champions.

Red Wings Get Vail

from Providence Club

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—The Detroit Red Wings, National Hockey League club, today announced that they had acquired Vail, formerly of the New York Rangers, from Providence of the Canadian-American league, in exchange for Frank Peters. Peters has been the property of the Detroit club for two years and was with Springfield last year. Vail, a defense man, has been used at both left wing and center by Providence.

MOON MULLINS—UNCLE WILLIE'S SENSITIVE STOMACH

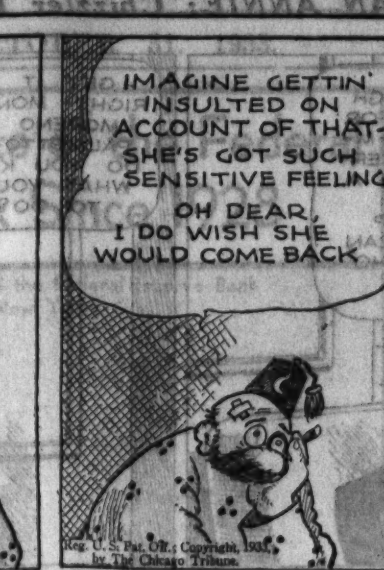

HOLY H. SMOKE! DID THEM GORILLAS WHICH WAS LOOKIN' FOR US FIND YOU, UNCLE WILLIE?

NO, MY DEAR MOONSHINE. THIS IS SOME OF YOUR AUNT MAMIE'S WORK.

JUST BECAUSE I ASKED HER TO GET OUT OF BED AND RUN DOWN TO THE DUTCHMANS AND GET ME A COUPLE OF BOTTLES OF BEER SHE WENT AND GOT MUFFY AND LEFT ME

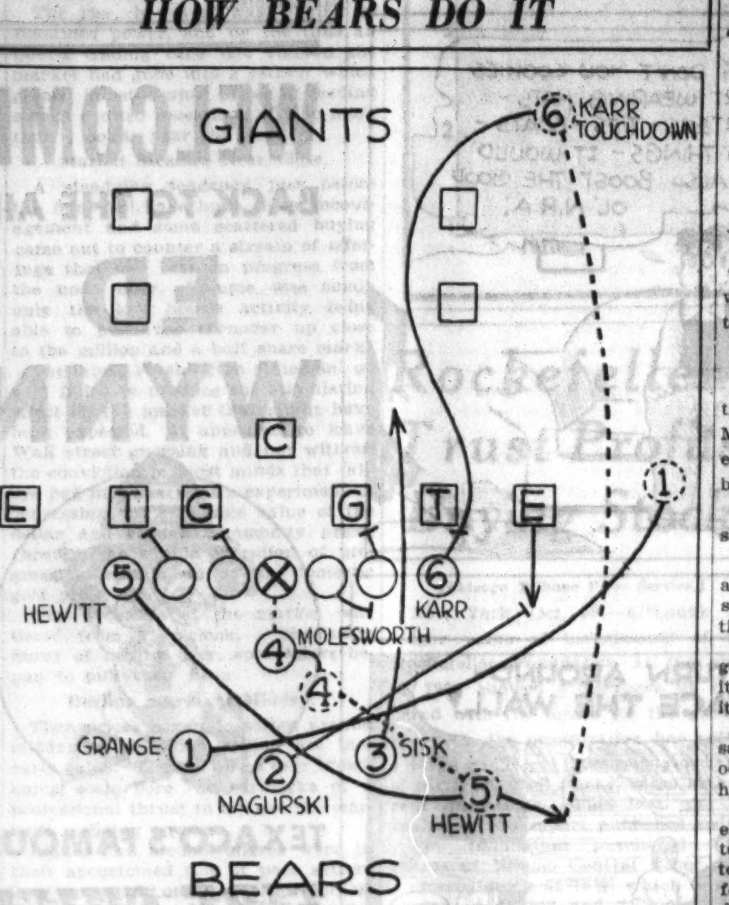

IMAGINE GETTIN' INSULTED ON ACCOUNT OF THAT SHE'S GOT SUCH SENSITIVE FEELINGS. OH DEAR, I DO WISH SHE WOULD COME BACK

YOU SORRY BECAUSE SHE GOT HER FEELINGS HURT?

NO! DOGGONE IT! I'M THIRSTY!!

The diagram shows the Chicago Bears' favorite method of scoring touchdowns on their opponents. The play is described in the accompanying story.

Bears Ready to Show East That Fourth Quarter Rush

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Chicago Bears, undefeated leaders of the National Professional Football league, leave this week for their second eastern trip with excellent prospects of winning at least two of their three games. But considering the starting fourth quarter rally that the Bears have employed in five of their six victories, they may come home on Nov. 26, when they play Portsmouth, with a clear record. You can't predict what the Bears will do or when they will do it.

The Bears open next Sunday with the Boston Redskins, whom they defeated, 7 to 0, at Soldiers' field. John Sisk's off tackle sprint in the final period was the deciding run, but Boston had threatened to score three times in the first quarter. Consequently Boston is highly regarded, notwithstanding its defeat last Sunday by Pittsburgh.

Then the Bears play Philadelphia and finish the tour with the New York Giants. The Bears also will play at least two exhibition games, one this week in Detroit.

Johns On for Season.

George Corbett, who shares left half back with Red Grange, will be able to play next Sunday. Corbett's left leg was injured in the game with the Giants and an X-ray yesterday showed a fracture of the outer bone of the right ankle. Karr and the indefatigable Bill Hewitt may have help from some other linemen. Joe Zeller, for instance, has had experience at end, playing that position when Indiana upset Purdue, 7 to 6, several years ago. Paul Franklin is another possibility.

The Bears have had extraordinary success this year blocking kicks. Hewitt blocked a kick at Green Bay to win the game. Musso blocked a Cardinal kick for the safety which tied the score and Manders later won the game with a place kick. A blocked kick Sunday started the Bears on their drive to victory over New York. Manders' kicks, after touchdowns and from the field, have been most valuable.

Pass for Touchdowns.

Forward passes for touchdowns have been the Bears' forte. Defense against passes, however, has been the Bears' greatest weakness. Four touchdowns have been scored against the Bears and three of these have been made on passes. The other, by Joe Lillard of the Cardinals, was made on a run back of a punt.

Hewitt has thrown three touchdown passes for the Bears, all from the same play. Johnson caught the tying pass at Green Bay and the winning pass against the Cardinals. Sunday Karr, substituting for Johnson, caught Hewitt's pass for the winning touchdown. The play is as follows:

From a balanced formation Cokie Miller passed the ball back to Keith Molesworth. Molesworth faked to block the Giants' left end. Grange, left half, ran wide into the flat zone, eligible for a short pass. Hewitt came back around and took a lateral from Molesworth.

Karr Goes Into End Zone.

Karr blocked the Giants' left tackle momentarily and then went down and into the end zone. He caught Hewitt's pass a step before he reached water on the knee and may be out for the season.

How Do They Look?

"What kind of a looking kind of thing is a ghost, anyway?" I asked Mr. Barnett, who is an authority on everything connected with Yale football.

"Are you kidding me?" Mr. Barnett said.

"No, I ain't kidding," I said. "I am just sick and tired of getting scooped every Saturday in football time."

"Well," Mr. Barnett said, "it has got curly horns and when it gets wet it smells like an old police station and it doesn't say anything but 'ba-a-a.'"

"Ghost?" I said. "A ghost doesn't say 'ba-a-a.' A ghost says 'wooooo.' And it rallies and inspires and hovers over."

"Oh, I thought you said something else," Mr. Barnett said. Then he said to Mr. Harrow, "What do they want to be sending that screwball up on football games for, anyway? What does a ghost look like? And Hinky Dink Haines scaling the heights for the Bulldogs breed going 'woooooo.'"

Mr. Barnett said. Then he said to Mr. Harrow, "What do they want to be sending that screwball up on football games for, anyway? What does a ghost look like? And Hinky Dink Haines scaling the heights for the Bulldogs breed going 'woooooo.'"

Since the pass succeeded, it was great strategy, but it had failed the second guessers would have had their innings. McBride, of the Giants, tried a second down pass in the third period which landed incomplete over the Bears' goal line and lost possession of the ball.

Giants Err on Punt.

The Giants were guilty of a more serious error, however. When Strong punted on the Bears' 35 yard line [fourth down], the play called for the ends to remain on the line of scrimmage and help block. The Giants were trying to kick out of bounds, and if that failed, it probably would have resulted in a touch back. They were too close to the Bears' goal to require instant coverage by the ends.

But the Giants' right end went down the field and weakened the defense. The blocked kick and Hewitt's run to the New York 18 yard line started the march to the winning touchdown.

De Paul has three quarter backs of almost equal ability in Vin Flood, senior, John Cella, junior, and Ray Durkin, sophomore.

GOING SOUTH

A TELEGRAPHER GETS THIN; WINS AFTER 41 HOLES

Joe Vinicky, 222 pound telegrapher for the Associated Press, has been copying dispatches of overtime golf matches for years. Last week, he got into one of them himself and came out 15 pounds lighter and the winner.

Vinicky and Frank Jerk were the finalists in the battle for the president's trophy at the Hickory Hills Golf club, a match scheduled for 18 holes. They played until darkness stopped them Wednesday and were still tied. They met again Sunday and Joe finally won out on the 41st hole. It was dark when they quit as Joe rammed out two neat wood shots.

"It's a whole lot easier copying down reports of these overtime matches," said Joe in an oration to the club members.

CLEVELAND TO CONTINUE IN HOCKEY LEAGUE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—The Cleveland club of the International Hockey league has been readmitted and will compete for the title this year. It was announced today by Charles S. King, league president, following the announcement last week that financial difficulties would force the Indians to drop out for the season.

Harry Holmes, manager and owner of the Cleveland franchise, notified President King that arrangements with the owners of the Elyseum, home of the Indians, will enable the Cleveland club to continue in the circuit this year.

O'Brien to Lead Nebraska Eleven Against Missouri

O'Brien, a former Omaha South High school athlete, is playing his third year with the Huskers and is one of the leading linemen of the central states.

Proviso Off Tomorrow to Play Atlanta

Proviso High school's football squad will leave tomorrow night for Atlanta, Ga., where Friday night it will meet Atlanta Technical High school in a return game. Atlanta won from Proviso in their first meeting last fall in Maywood.

Coaches Louis Slimmer, O. H. Mate, and L. W. Ramsey will lead 22 players to the southern city. They will arrive there Friday morning. Short workouts are planned on stopovers en route to Atlanta. Walter [Sleeper] Pearson, star half back, who became ineligible for prep athletic competition because of the age limit, will travel with the team as an assistant coach.

The players who will make the trip are:

Ends—Johnson, Gillett, Mize, Schaefer, Tucker, Gray, Tinkler, Trebeck, Lawler, Orville, Gower, Stambel, Budd, Guards—Gendler, Gendler, Crook, Backs—Saidemore, Thulin, Walters, Lalonde, Miller, Maa, Padilla, Brady.

Morgan Park, defending Chicago Public High school league champion, will meet Proviso in its final sectional game Saturday at Shawbridge field. Victory would give Morgan Park its second consecutive section championship and the right to compete in the semi-finals next month.

Harrison Tech, West section leader, will seek its third victory Saturday when it meets Austin at Mills stadium. The victory will be part of a double header. In the other contest Marshall will oppose McKinley.

Rivalry between the south side and the west side promises to make the annual Sisters of Mercy charity football battle at Soldiers' field Sunday, one of the most important prep games of the year.

Mount Carmel and St. Philip will be the rival teams. Twice Mount Carmel has been Catholic High school league champion, winning the last two years. This is the first battle of the two teams for the Sisters of Mercy.

St. Mary's Eleven Works Out Here En Route to East

St. Mary's college eleven, one of the leaders in Pacific coast football, arrived in Chicago yesterday for two day workouts en route to New York to play Fordham on Saturday.

The Gaels practiced at Wrigley field under the direction of Coach Slip Madigan yesterday morning and will continue their drill on the north side this afternoon. The squad is making quarters at the Morrison Hotel.

Fordham this year will give New York its first chance to see the Notre Dame system opposed here. Madigan is a former Notre Dame center and guard, and Jim Crowley, coach of Fordham, was the left half back on the Four Horsemen eleven.

Madigan describes Wilson as "the nearest thing to Gipp I have ever seen." The St. Mary's coach played with George Gipp at Notre Dame. Nichelini is said to be the fastest back on the Pacific coast despite his 210 pounds.

St. Mary's will be seeking its third victory in five starts Saturday in the Fordham game. It won its opening contest, 7 to 0, from San Francisco, later held Stanford, 20 to 13. The following week California defeated St. Mary's, 14 to 13, when the Bears swarmed over a substitute guard in the final minutes of the game and broke through to kick a punt.

In the annual game with Southern California the next week, St. Mary's scored with a 50 yard pass, but was defeated, 14 to 7. Its last start was against Nevada. St. Mary's won, 61 to 0. In its four games on the coast St. Mary's has played to more than 200,000 persons.

MAAROONS TRY TO MASTER A B C'S FOR WISCONSIN

Reputation Saturday.

A bitter struggle, at the second division level, is in prospect at Stagg field Saturday, when two teams without a conference victory, Chicago and Wisconsin, seek to salvage at each other's expense their early promise and their Big Ten reputations. Both have been defeated by Purdue by the same score, 14 to 0, which insures a fairly even match.

The Maroons, disappointing against Michigan not so much because of defeat as because of apparent weakness on fundamentals, survived the Wolverine affair without physical mishap, and yesterday began to rebuild with a long session of blocking, tackling, and kicking for the first team. The second team scrimmaged yesterday. The varsity faces a heavy contact workout today to test whether it learned anything new.

Wisconsin made more yardage against the Boilermakers than did Chicago, but also it yielded more to the Purdue attack than did the Maroons. To date the Maroon ball carriers have been smothered at the line of scrimmage and have been unable to demonstrate any of the elusiveness which made them seem promising. Against Wisconsin they may be able to break away, while the Badgers will certainly find a hole or two in Chicago's wall. Prospects therefore indicate a scoring game.

BADGERS ARE CRIPPLED

Madison, Wis., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—A crippled Wisconsin varsity today watched the second and third team scrimmage freshmen who have been coached since Friday at Chicago formations. Wisconsin meets Chicago at Stagg field Saturday. Two regulars were injured Saturday in the game with Purdue. Capt. Hal Smith, who was carried unconscious from the field, is recuperating from a bruised head and neck, while George Denanovich, end, is resting a sprained ankle.

MYSTERY AT OHIO

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Coach Sweeney, who had ordered secret practice today as Ohio State's football team started working for the game with Indiana next Saturday. It was the second time this year the Buckeye coach has barred all onlookers, even the sport correspondents, who generally are admitted to all closed sessions. The other time was three days before the Michigan game.

None of the Buckeye players was injured in the game with Northwestern and William indicated he will make few changes, if any, in the lineup.

INDIANA RESPECTS O. S. U.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Coach E. C. Hayes, impressed by the power he saw Ohio State show against Northwestern, today put the Indiana players to work on plays designed especially for the game with the Buckeyes Saturday at Columbus. While Bob Jones practiced punts, linemen and backs were drilled on protecting him until the ball was on its way down the field. After a long blocking drill, the varsity scrimmaged freshmen, who used Ohio State plays.

PACKERS FIRM IN REFUSING TO ABSORB HOG TAX

Insist Consumer or Grower Must Pay.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—In candid terms spokesmen for the meat packing industry today told officials of the farm adjustment administration that the federal processing tax on hogs will have to come out of the pocket of the consumer or the farmer. The packers, they declared, are unable to absorb the levy at this time, and will be forced either to jack up consumers' prices for pork and hog products or to pay the farmers less for their produce.

At a public hearing on proposed "compensatory taxes" on products competing with pork, Norman Draper, representing the Institute of American Meat Packers, reminded federal officials that the processors of hogs are "not in business for the fun of it."

Would Pay Less to Producer. The packers, he declared, are in business to get just as much as they can for their products and are obtaining what they believe are the highest possible prices from the consumers. Imposition of the tax under these circumstances, Mr. Draper stated, would force the packers to pay less to hog farmers.

He asserted the packers lost 15 million dollars last year—"an actual out of pocket loss"—and are striving in every way possible to make up this loss or realize a profit. Under present conditions, he said, they cannot absorb the proposed federal tax.

Mr. Draper pointed out that increased costs to the consumer, the alternative to decreased farm prices for hogs, would tend to decrease consumption of pork products and bring a further problem to the meat packing industry.

Firm on Statement. Frew S. A. A. A. legal expert, who presided at the hearing, interrupted Mr. Draper's testimony to ask if he intended to state that the packers will not absorb the tax and are planning on passing it on to the producer and the consumer.

"That is correct," Draper replied. The hearing was marked by wide differences between representatives of the hog processing industry and spokesmen for industries whose products compete with pork and are subject, therefore, to the government's "penalty" tax. Oscar Helme and John E. Wilson, representing the National Corn-Hog Committee of 25, demanded compensatory taxes on beef, veal, poultry, eggs, lamb, and fish.

Cattlemen Oppose Big Tax. A. M. Loomis, representing the National Cattle Raisers' Association, said he was "amazed" at the field of products competing with pork.

Speaking in behalf of the cattle industry, F. E. Mollin of the American National Live Stock association, declared that no sales feature the carrier applied on beef until the normal price relationship between hogs and cattle has been restored. Hog prices are normally $2 above cattle prices, he declared, whereas the difference at present is only approximately 47 cents. In any event, Mr. Mollin asserted, the maximum compensatory tax applied to beef should not exceed 25 cents per hundredweight.

The administration's 500 million dollar corn-hog production control program will be set up at four meetings to be held in the corn areas in the next two weeks.

State extension workers and others will open preliminary educational campaigns among farmers who will be asked to sign contracts agreeing to reduce their corn output 20 per cent and hog production 25 per cent in return for government cash.

The first meeting will be held at Indianapolis on Nov. 2 and 3, the second at Kansas City Nov. 6 and 7, the third at University Park, Pa., Nov. 8 and 9, and the last at Chicago Nov. 10 and 11.

NEW FAST TRAIN AVERAGES MILE A MINUTE IN TEST

In a speed trial the new motor train of the Texas and Pacific, traveling at a top speed of seventy-five miles an hour, made the thirty-eight mile run between Aurora and Chicago yesterday in thirty-eight minutes, or twelve minutes faster than the nonstop through train.

Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington, over whose tracks the run was made, was host to a group of engineers and railroad and manufacturing officials. Among others on the train were E. J. Budd, president of the Budd Manufacturing company of Philadelphia, builder of the train, and Britton L. Budd of the Rapid Transit lines.

The train is to leave on another test run at 2 p. m. today.

Stocks Drop; Traders Wary of Gold Plan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] New York, Oct. 30.—Again under the influence of developments in President Roosevelt's monetary program, the stock market went through a confusing seesaw performance today. At the opening prices were worked upward under another wave of speculative buying generated by the overnight announcement of the administration's decision to enter the world gold market as the next step in the drive to boost domestic price levels.

The rise, however, was lacking in sustained power, and by the time an hour's trading time had elapsed the market had gone into a retreat which gained impetus until prices of leading stocks showed recessions of 1 to more than 4 points near the close. A steady tendency just before the final bell gave bulls some encouragement and some scattered buying came out to counter a stream of offerings which had been in progress since the noon hour. Volume was small, only the last hour's activity being able to push the turnover up close to the million and a half share mark.

The latest Washington statement on gold failed to produce the market effect that had been expected. It appeared to leave Wall street guessing and not without the conviction in most minds that failure had met last week's experiment in depressing the exchange value of the dollar. The market, however, was through the simple operation of progressive jacking up of the domestic gold price.

The backslide of the market was timed from 11 o'clock. The early flurry of buying over, speculators began to pull their lines. Decline Starts at Midday. Then prices began to soften around midday as dribbling selling ate into early gains. The sell on an ever broadening scale bore the earmarks of a professional thrust to try out the market's resisting powers.

Liquor and alcohol shares were in the vanguard of the sell-off, followed in a movement one way or the other. Metals, chiefly gold and silver shares, were easily the best of the lot in the early advance on the assumption they would be direct beneficiaries of the government's gold policy. But these new born speculative favorites were caught in the subsequent selling wave with the rest of the list, yielding all of their early advances and some more besides.

Big Steel Weakens. Elsewhere the pressure was well distributed, although pivotal industrial stocks seemed to come in for more than their share. United States Steel from more than 40 dropped to around 36 on the first impact, and the stock appeared too tired for a rally.

American Can tumbled 4 points net in a thin market, while recessions of 1 to more than 2 were recorded for other shares of the class of Chrysler, Du Pont, General Electric, General Motors, Western Union, and Westinghouse. Radio was off a large fraction.

J. E. Case reflected a wavering what market with a loss of more than 4 points on the day; other farm machinery shares were soft, together with the affiliated mail order division.

A loss of 5 points for Union Pacific on a few sales featured the carrier stock, which was heavy all around. Selling also undermined utilities, oils, foods and other groups without exception.

U. S. ECONOMIZES IN HANDLING OF DEAD LETTERS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Joseph C. O'Mahoney, acting postmaster general, announced today that all the country's 966 first class post offices will also be dead letter offices, effective Dec. 1.

He estimated an annual saving of $100,000 will be made under the new plan, in which dead letters will be on their way back to the senders or will be destroyed within 48 hours of reaching a dead letter branch. The time is now seven days.

Under the present system, there are dead letter branch offices in New York, Chicago, Boston, and San Francisco. The service is operated at a cost of $125,000.

Second, third and fourth class post offices, under the new arrangement, will forward dead letters to one of five central accounting offices for handling.

Treasury Sells New Bills to Yield 22-100ths of 1 Pct.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Achilles of the treasury announced tonight that the offering of approximately $60,000,000 91 day treasury bills brought subscriptions to the amount of $22,713,000, of which $60,180,000 was accepted. The average price of the bills to be issued is 99.45, equivalent to 0.22 per cent annual interest on a discount basis.

Changes in the Rediscount Rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York Since 1928

Rockefeller Trust Profits Buying Stocks

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] New York, Oct. 30.—Although the ledger value of investments of the Rockefeller Foundation at the close of 1932 showed a decrease as compared with the figure for the preceding year, the organization has netted a large profit on increased purchases of oil and oil stocks, based on current quotations. This fact was revealed in the report published today. The foundation purchased 2,857 shares of Illinois Central 5 per cent preferred stock at 15 1/2, which is now quoted at 32 bid and 39 asked, and 4,070 shares of Illinois Central common at 9 1/2, compared with a close of 23 1/2 today.

The organization bought 52,635 shares of New York Central railroad stock at 19 1/2, which closed at 28 1/2. An acquisition of 60,967 shares of Standard Oil of California stock at 17 1/2 compared with a close of 39 1/2 today.

The increase in prices indicates a paper profit of nearly 1 million dollars on the three common stock purchases. The oil shares contributed close to 1 1/2 millions of this total. The ledger value of investments at the end of 1932 was $26,272,183, against $191,293,207 a year previously. Stocks were carried at $110,541,593, against $109,252,003 and bonds at $72,330,190, against $82,541,204. The reduction in bond investment resulted from retirements and the calling of issues, such as Standard of New Jersey 5s. Bonds comprised 39 per cent of holdings at the end of 1932, compared with 43 per cent at the end of 1931.

Frisco Now in Bankruptcy. The foundation bought $250,000 of St. Louis-San Francisco consolidated series A 4 1/2 per cent bonds, due in 1978, at 14 last year. The railroad is in bankruptcy.

The foundation held $997,000 of Baltimore and Ohio 4 1/2 per cent convertible bonds, which matured on March 1, which it deposited with the trustee. It also deposited $3,837,000 of St. Louis Southwestern first consolidated 4 per cent bonds under a plan for meeting their maturity on June 1, 1932, and certificates of deposit for $500,000 of Chicago Railway first mortgage 5 per cent bonds under an adjustment.

GENERAL FOODS QUARTER PROFIT OVER YEAR AGO

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The General Foods corporation today reported third quarter net profit of $3,236,296, equal to 42 cents a share, compared with $2,450,047, or 47 cents a share, in the corresponding period of 1932. For the first nine months of this year net profit was $9,578,858, or $1.92 a share, against $10,339,147, or $1.87 a share.

"Case sales of General Foods products," said President C. M. Chester, "showed gains in each quarter of 1933 over each succeeding period of 1932. For the nine months the gain was 14 per cent."

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The following awards of contracts under the public works program were announced today by the quartermaster general: Joseph A. Holupch company, Chicago, for the construction of battalion barracks at Fort Knox, Ky., $644,015.

CHAPIN & GORE TO REOPEN STORE AT OLD LOCATION

Noted Firm Is Revived After 15 Years.

BY AL CHASE. Chapin & Gore are to reenter the wine and liquor business with the end of the eighteenth amendment era. Charles H. Herman, who has continued as president of the firm despite its retirement from active business in 1918, has returned from California to resume active control.

On or about Dec. 7 Chapin & Gore will resume business, after their fifteen year inactivity, in the identical quarters occupied from 1905 to 1918, at 63 East Adams street.

Officers of Company. Mr. Herman, who started with Chapin & Gore in their wholesale cigar department at 112 a week in 1889, will have the following officers: Louis W. Pearson, who has been with the firm for sixty consecutive years, cashier; Otto Werner, manager of Grommes & Ulrich, which has long since gone out of business, vice president; Lawrence O'Toole, formerly of Herman's, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Herman stated that the interests in control of the American liquor trade brought pressure on him to return to active business to help stabilize the market.

"I didn't figure on ever going back to the liquor business," he said. "I've been living in California for the last fifteen years. But there are so many fly-by-night liquor concerns entering the field that the big interests urged me to get back into harness."

Predicted Bootlegging and Crime. Mr. Herman, who in 1918 predicted the failure of prohibition and also foretold an era of bootlegging and crime, yesterday declared that high prices and high taxes on liquor will help the bootlegger and assist speakers.

"The great difficulty lies in the fact that there is but a scant supply of straight goods properly matured in the warehouses," said Mr. Herman. "That means high prices, and high prices will hold an umbrella over the bootlegger so as to make it possible for him again to operate."

Mr. Herman said that his firm has a fair supply of properly matured goods and intends to stabilize the market by supplying it at prices low enough to discourage bootlegging.

CHIEF RESERVE MEMBER BANKS REDUCE CREDIT

Bank credit showed a contraction of 125 millions throughout the country last week, according to the report released last night on the position of reserve member banks in 90 leading clearing house cities.

The report covers the week ended last Wednesday. Most of the shrinkage in outstanding credit was due to a reduction of 100 millions in collateral loans. Fully one-half of the loans, classified as "all other loans," were down only 11 millions. Investments were reduced by 25 millions, all of which represented sale of government bonds. Meanwhile the banks piled up 47 millions of additional balances at the federal reserve. Reserve borrowings increased 2 millions. There was an indicated contraction in gross deposits of around 106 millions.

A New Setup in Setting Down the Depression

A La Salle street commission house has gone the Washington brain trust one better in propounding ways and means of correcting the business depression, saying:

"The only fair and economical way is to set the prices where they are wanted; then set the dollar where the prices are; then set the gold where the dollar is; then set the debts where the gold is; then set the wages where the debts are; then set the tariff where the dividends are; then set them up in the other alley and start the game over again. Buy on breaks until this is accomplished."

"Gold mining is the depression turned upside down. No other industry can parallel these unusual conditions—a decreasing cost of production, a steady and unlimited demand for the product, and a rise in sales price of approximately 50 per cent."—Page Coleman, vice president, Ford, Bacon & Davis, engineers.

"It does not seem to be generally known that Illinois insurance laws have been so well regarded during the last twenty-five years that other states have often used them as a pattern."—Franklin Life Insurance company, Springfield, Ill.

Complaints of excessive taxation affecting speculative operations in grains are increasing and every trader is said to be contributing more to the government than they secure in the way of profits. One small trader reports that he paid $4,700 in taxes during July. The taxes paid by the larger operators are said to be in excess of the brokerage they pay on their speculative operation.

SEES U. S. SHORT 40 BILLIONS OF CAPITAL GOODS

The United States will have fallen more than 40 billion dollars behind its capital goods requirements by the end of this year, according to John W. O'Leary, president of the Machinery and Allied Products Institute, writing in the latest issue of Commerce, official magazine of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

"In August, 1932, it was estimated that there was an accumulated deficiency in industrial equipment and machinery purchases of 30 billion dollars, made up of 23 billion, 700 millions required to replace equipment which was obsolete at the end of 1932, and 6 billion 300 millions required to make up deficiencies in purchases during 1930-32 as compared with the 1919-32 average," Mr. O'Leary writes.

"This average yearly purchase of industrial machinery and equipment was 4 billion $53 million dollars, whereas the 1930-32 average was only 2 billion 721 millions.

"Assuming that the 1933 purchases will equal the 1930-32 average (which they will double as much lower), the 6 billion 300 millions will have grown to 9 billions. This figure takes no account of new purchases which are required to replace equipment that will be obsolete at the end of this year. It is safe to assume that there will be a total deficiency at the end of this year of 40 billions or more."

NATIONAL BANK CONDITION CALL EXPECTED SOON

A national bank call is expected to be made in the next few days by the controller of currency. The quarterly call for condition was not given to national banks when the state auditor made his call as of Sept. 29.

The call was delayed in order to facilitate the work of qualifying banks for the latest money insurance plan. Under the law two more calls must be made this year.

CHICAGO BANKS O. K. STOCK SALE IN PRINCIPLE

Final Action Left to Individual Units.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The Chicago Clearing House association yesterday adopted a resolution approving in principle the program of the national administration for the strengthening of the banking structure through the issuance of preferred stocks or debentures.

In its action, however, the clearing house left discretion in the matter in the hands of individual banks. No specific reference is made in the resolution to the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company has already sold $50,000,000 of preferred stock to the RFC, and several New York banks have approved plans for the issuance of preferred shares or debentures to be taken by the government agency.

First National to Act. Directors of the First National Bank of Chicago are expected to consider the question this week. Melvin A. Train, president, said yesterday that the matter would be taken up, but gave no indication as to what action will be decided upon.

"We are not contemplating the issuance of preferred stock or debentures," Fred A. Cusaden, vice president of the Northern Trust company, said when asked about the clearing house stand. The Harris Trust and Savings bank made no statement on its plans.

Clearing House Resolution. The resolution of the Clearing House association, whose members represent the leading banks in the city, is as follows:

"Whereas, the present national administration desires to strengthen the banking resources of the country, and

"Whereas, the Chicago Clearing House committee is in sympathy with such measures, and

"Be it resolved, That the Chicago Clearing House association approves the administration's policy of strengthening the banking resources of the country by having banks issue preferred stock or debentures, and recommends to its members and affiliated banks that each bank examine its own position and issue such preferred stock or debentures as may be determined by it, if any, as may be determined by it."

The administration's bank program had been under consideration by clearing house members for several weeks. Last week the association's executive committee, headed by Mr. Train, met and drew up the resolution which was adopted yesterday by the members.

Leaves Action to Banks. Bankers pointed out that the wording of the resolution was significant. It puts the whole question of action on the laps of the individual banks and commits the association to the program in principle only.

The association also approved yesterday a change in the rules lowering the service charge made to customers by member banks for placing call loans. Heretofore, members have been required to charge a flat rate of 1/4 of 1 per cent for placing such loans. Under the revised rule the rate will be 1/4 of 1 per cent when the interest on the loan placed is 2 per cent or less. The action is calculated to attract more money to Chicago from out of town customers. With present low money rates the service charge ate up a good measure of the interest received on such loans.

NATIONAL BANK CONDITION CALL EXPECTED SOON

A national bank call is expected to be made in the next few days by the controller of currency. The quarterly call for condition was not given to national banks when the state auditor made his call as of Sept. 29.

The call was delayed in order to facilitate the work of qualifying banks for the latest money insurance plan. Under the law two more calls must be made this year.

Dollar Lower on Plan to Buy World Gold

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The American dollar encountered complications in foreign exchange markets today following announcement that the government would enter the European lists as a buyer of gold.

The immediate response was a sharp upward spurt in leading currencies as traders interpreted the gold buying plan as a further step toward dollar devaluation for the purpose of raising domestic commodity prices. Later reports that the move might force France off the gold standard, however, caused the franc to yield most of its advance and other European exchanges reacted sympathetically.

The French currency, up 13 1/2 of a cent at one time, finished at 5.86 cents for a net gain of 0.02 1/2 of a cent. The British pound sterling gained nearly 10 cents to $4.82 in the morning and closed 2 1/2 cents higher at $4.75.

U. S. England Raise Gold. The London bullion dealers set the price of gold there at 131 shillings 2 1/2 pence an ounce, or 1 shilling 4 1/2 pence higher than Saturday. This was equivalent to $31.42 when figured at the rate of $4.79 to the pound, compared with $30.55 Saturday.

Washington set the price of gold today at $31.98, up 14 cents from its price there Saturday and 54 cents above the London price today. This would make the dollar worth 14.97 to the pound, compared with $4.85 Saturday. It was 1.21 cents lower than the indicated gold value of the dollar computed from French francs, which was 66.85 cents compared with 67.14 cents on Saturday.

DOLLAR WOBBLES IN LONDON. [Chicago Tribune Press Service.] LONDON, Oct. 30.—The dollar wobbled all around today on the announcement that a billion dollars would be used to buy foreign gold if necessary but finished substantially weaker with predictions that the British government would not allow the United States to conduct a currency war single handed.

At first the dollar fell sharply from yesterday's closing price of $4.71 1/4 to the pound to $4.61 1/4, or nearly 10 cents. Later it rallied and hovered around $4.74 1/4.

The London financial district was a little puzzled over what effect President Roosevelt's measures will have on the international gold market. It carried far enough, it is predicted here, that the government might step in and depreciate sterling to an equivalent amount.

It is still assumed that London has the war-time right of first refusal on gold produced in South Africa. The London market is doubtful whether the American government as jobbers in gold is apt to appear to any great extent on the foreign market. Nevertheless gold charges rose sharply and the price of gold itself rose.

RECEIVER PLANS SPEEDY REPORT ON NATIONAL LIFE

Examination of the assets of the National Life Insurance company of the U. S. A., which was placed in receivership on Oct. 17, is being carried out as fast as possible and it may be possible to make some report by the end of this week or the beginning of next week, Patrick J. Lucey, receiver for the company, stated yesterday.

Mr. Lucey asserted that a number of offers have been received for re-financing, reorganization and reinsurance, but it will be some time before he can take action on them until the value of the assets has been determined.

National Life is the largest Illinois life insurance company to go into receivership. It has 110,000 policyholders and $197,000,000 in insurance in force.

2 CLOSED BANKS ASK TO SUE RFC FOR COLLATERAL

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Superior court was asked to rule today on whether the Reconstruction Finance corporation can be made to return to a closed bank assets pledged for loans.

The petition for permission to institute litigation against the RFC was filed by George S. Eastman, receiver for the American Bank and Trust company and the Commercial Bank and Trust company, both of Bridgeport. Foster said the two banks had pledged $45,000 for loans of approximately $2,650,000 from the RFC.

Credit Needed First. "Before industry can hire workers it must first hire credit, and capital goods production requires long term credit. Hence to employ long term credit in order that industry may employ more workers, industry must seek the courses of investment funds from individual and institutional investors who ordinarily supply such credit. In the present situation no obstacle should be placed in the path of properly supplying this credit."

Mr. Gordon brought the delegates to their feet when he asserted that the investment banking community had become the convenient scapegoat for everybody who had made bad investments. All business has suffered during the course of investment funds. Just passed, he said, but no group has faced the storm of abuse and slander as has the investment bankers. He pointed out that the investment banker was a peculiarly easy victim on whom to place blame.

CHICAGO TRADING (See Service)

New York, Oct. 30.—Bond prices sagged fractions to a point or more today, owing to uneasiness over the government's program for buying gold in the world market.

The slump in government securities was aggravated by the reduced rate of buying on the part of federal reserve banks, which last week reduced their commitments to 25 million dollars, compared with the customary 35 million dollars.

Trading in federal bonds was the heaviest of the month, the volume of $1,869,000, compared with $1,574,500 on Friday. Treasury 3s were 15-32 lower on the day, while 4 1/4s and 4s declined 1/8 point each. Other series showed smaller declines.

Total transactions amounted to $12,426,500, against $10,837,500 on Friday.

Corporation Issues Easier

Corporation bonds, both high grade and speculative, were easier, reflecting caution on the part of traders following announcement by President Roosevelt of plans to extend RFC gold purchases into 1934, though inflationary in its import, failed to achieve any beneficial results in the bond market. High grades sagged, while speculatives reacted with stocks.

Foreign bonds were stronger, however, the average advancing 3/16 points on the day. Principal activity centered in French 7 1/2s, Sweden 5 1/2s, Swiss 5 1/2s, and United Kingdom 4s, which advanced, and in Italy 7 1/2s, which declined. German 5 1/2s and Australian 5s were active and moderately lower. Marked gains were scored by French cities, Polish, Irish Free State, Nuremberg, and Dutch West Indies issues.

High Grade Bonds Sag

High grade domestic bonds, which have shown uneasiness since the domestic gold purchase plan was begun last week, again lost ground. Santa Fe general 4s, Consolidated Gas of New York 4s, Reading-Jersey Central 4s, and Union Pacific 4s dropped fractions to make a point.

Domestic speculative bonds to 8 1/2 included Great Northern 7 1/2, Interborough Rapid Transit refunding 5s, Nickel Plate 4 1/2s, Southern Pacific 4 1/2s, and Allegheny Corporation 5s.

Otis Elevator

Investors' Guide: I am writing for information on Otis Elevator stock.

O. T. N.

Answer: In its thirty-five years of existence Otis Elevator company has grown to be the largest domestic manufacturer of elevators, accounting for about 70 per cent of the business in this country. It is the only manufacturer of elevators.

Ordinarily the bulk of its business is the manufacture and installation of elevators, with servicing playing a minor role. Inactivity in the building field has reduced original installations to a small total. In 1932 revenues from servicing elevators exceeded revenues from installations for the first time. This condition continued into 1933.

Reflecting such a status, loss for the first half of 1933 was $1,028,000, against net income of $566,000, or 19 cents per common share, for the first half of 1932. Net income in the full 1932 year was $350,000, which was to be covered preferred dividends of $445,000, or $2.01 per common share, for 1932. Net for 1930 was $725,000, against $3,371,000 for 1930.

Current position at the close of 1932 was impressive. Cash assets of more than $11,000,000 compared with total current liabilities of $1,666,000.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 65,000 shares of cumulative $100 par 6 per cent preferred and 2,000,000 shares of no par common. The common pays 15 cents a quarter.

Current surplus of commercial buildings in the United States, especially with reference to office buildings or the more elaborate type, indicate that pickup in the elevator business will probably lag behind general improvement. The company is well equipped financially, however, to withstand a long siege of poor business.

Union Gas

Investors' Guide: I have bonds of the Union Gas Corporation. A receiver was appointed for the corporation in December, 1931, and the court ordered the property sold, which transaction took place last August. I did not deal with the bondholder's protective committee. Can you inform me where I must apply to receive my pro rata share of the proceeds of the sale?

Miss D. M. M.

Answer: If you will forward your bond with Oct. 1, 1931, and subsequent coupons attached to Commerce Trust company, Kansas City, Mo., you should receive your pro rata share of the proceeds of the sale of the mortgaged properties of Union Gas Corporation.

This, I understand, amounts to about 14 1/2 cents on the dollar.

CHICAGO TRADING (See Service)

New York, Oct. 30.—Bond prices sagged fractions to a point or more today, owing to uneasiness over the government's program for buying gold in the world market.

The slump in government securities was aggravated by the reduced rate of buying on the part of federal reserve banks, which last week reduced their commitments to 25 million dollars, compared with the customary 35 million dollars.

Trading in federal bonds was the heaviest of the month, the volume of $1,869,000, compared with $1,574,500 on Friday. Treasury 3s were 15-32 lower on the day, while 4 1/4s and 4s declined 1/8 point each. Other series showed smaller declines.

Total transactions amounted to $12,426,500, against $10,837,500 on Friday.

Corporation Issues Easier

Corporation bonds, both high grade and speculative, were easier, reflecting caution on the part of traders following announcement by President Roosevelt of plans to extend RFC gold purchases into 1934, though inflationary in its import, failed to achieve any beneficial results in the bond market. High grades sagged, while speculatives reacted with stocks.

Foreign bonds were stronger, however, the average advancing 3/16 points on the day. Principal activity centered in French 7 1/2s, Sweden 5 1/2s, Swiss 5 1/2s, and United Kingdom 4s, which advanced, and in Italy 7 1/2s, which declined. German 5 1/2s and Australian 5s were active and moderately lower. Marked gains were scored by French cities, Polish, Irish Free State, Nuremberg, and Dutch West Indies issues.

High Grade Bonds Sag

High grade domestic bonds, which have shown uneasiness since the domestic gold purchase plan was begun last week, again lost ground. Santa Fe general 4s, Consolidated Gas of New York 4s, Reading-Jersey Central 4s, and Union Pacific 4s dropped fractions to make a point.

Domestic speculative bonds to 8 1/2 included Great Northern 7 1/2, Interborough Rapid Transit refunding 5s, Nickel Plate 4 1/2s, Southern Pacific 4 1/2s, and Allegheny Corporation 5s.

Otis Elevator

Investors' Guide: I am writing for information on Otis Elevator stock.

O. T. N.

Answer: In its thirty-five years of existence Otis Elevator company has grown to be the largest domestic manufacturer of elevators, accounting for about 70 per cent of the business in this country. It is the only manufacturer of elevators.

Ordinarily the bulk of its business is the manufacture and installation of elevators, with servicing playing a minor role. Inactivity in the building field has reduced original installations to a small total. In 1932 revenues from servicing elevators exceeded revenues from installations for the first time. This condition continued into 1933.

Reflecting such a status, loss for the first half of 1933 was $1,028,000, against net income of $566,000, or 19 cents per common share, for the first half of 1932. Net income in the full 1932 year was $350,000, which was to be covered preferred dividends of $445,000, or $2.01 per common share, for 1932. Net for 1930 was $725,000, against $3,371,000 for 1930.

Current position at the close of 1932 was impressive. Cash assets of more than $11,000,000 compared with total current liabilities of $1,666,000.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 65,000 shares of cumulative $100 par 6 per cent preferred and 2,000,000 shares of no par common. The common pays 15 cents a quarter.

Union Gas

Investors' Guide: I have bonds of the Union Gas Corporation. A receiver was appointed for the corporation in December, 1931, and the court ordered the property sold, which transaction took place last August. I did not deal with the bondholder's protective committee. Can you inform me where I must apply to receive my pro rata share of the proceeds of the sale?

Miss D. M. M.

Answer: If you will forward your bond with Oct. 1, 1931, and subsequent coupons attached to Commerce Trust company, Kansas City, Mo., you should receive your pro rata share of the proceeds of the sale of the mortgaged properties of Union Gas Corporation.

This, I understand, amounts to about 14 1/2 cents on the dollar.
